Police bare revolutionary gun safety device

FOSTER CITY (AP) — A magnetic device to prevent crooks from shooting policemen with their own guns is being installed in all revolvers used by the Foster City police department.

"We are the first police agency in the world to equip our men with this device," Police Chief John Norton told a news conference Wednesday.

The mechanism works by means of a metal insert in the grip of the pistol. It has a moving part that blocks trigger operation unless the shooter wears a special magnetic ring on his finger. When the ring comes within an inch of the trigger-block, the gun can fire.

Norton quoted Los Angeles Police Chief Ed Davis as saying that "half the Los Angeles officers who have been killed were shot with their own guns."

The invention is the work of Sunnyvale man Joseph E. Smith. He calls it the "Magna-Trigger Safety."

Smith said he expects the device will save lives unrelated to police work.

"A child living in a house where a gun is kept could not shoot himself or a playmate," he said, noting also that gun owners cleaning "unloaded" guns could not shoot themselves.

Installation of the device costs $75 and Norton is having all 35 department-owned .38 caliber specials so fitted.

Smith said the magnetic safety would also work on rifles, shotguns "and all other guns."

Congress overrides Ford veto, OKs public jobs bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, with an attack on unemployment as a major goal this election year, today overrode President Ford's veto of a $3.95-billion public works jobs bill, enacting it into law.

Final action came in the House, which overrode Ford's veto by a vote of 310 to 96, or 39 more than the required two thirds.

It was the ninth time Congress has overridden Ford. The President has been sustained 14 times.

The Democratic-controlled Congress and the Democratic candidates for president and vice president have made an assault on joblessness a major election-year issue.

The Senate voted 73 to 24 Wednesday to override Ford's veto of the public works bill.

House Majority Leader Thomas O'Neill and other Democratic leaders had predicted they would have no difficulty winning the jobs bill override.

But O'Neill was not so confident about overriding Ford's veto of another bill: a $3.3-billion military construction authorization. A vote was expected later in the day.

In today's debate, Speaker Carl Albert cited a 1932 message by President Herbert Hoover vetoing an emergency relief and construction bill during the great depression.

"These words are very familiar," Albert told the House, "exactly the thoughts of President Ford in vetoing the Public Works Employment Act."

"I could only wonder at how totally the conservative Republican leadership has failed to learn the lessons of the last 50 years ..." Albert said.

Sons of wealthy families may be link to busnaping

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — A heavily armed force of deputies swooped down on a lavish 100-acre estate near here early today, searching for evidence in the Chowchilla school bus hijacking.

The estate, six miles south of here, is owned by Frederick N. Woods III, who also owns the rock quarry in Livermore where 26 schoolchildren and their bus driver were buried in a makeshift, underground prison for 18 hours before digging their way out.

Alameda County Sheriff Tom Houchins said officials also wanted to talk to Woods's son, 24-year-old Frederick N. Woods IV.

The elder Woods had told one interviewer on Wednesday that he didn't know the whereabouts of his son.

"I was told by the sheriff's office not to say whether I have one son or 10 sons," Woods said.

Houchins said he also was interested in talking to two of young Woods' friends — Richard Schoenfeld, 22, and James Schoenfeld, 24, sons of J. B. Schoenfeld, a podiatrist in nearby Atherton.

A highly placed source in the Alameda County sheriff's office told The Associated Press Wednesday that one young man being sought in connection with the kidnaping was connected to the rock quarry. The source said the other two were sons of a prominent San Francisco area physician.

Houchins emphasized at a news conference late Wednesday night that the younger Woods and the Schoenfeld brothers had not been named in any arrest warrant.

Officials also emphasized early today that no arrest warrants had been issued in the case.

"The three are subjects of the investigation" into the kidnaping, Houchins said. "I would be interested in talking to them. I would not arrest them."

Alameda County sheriff's officials had said earlier Wednesday that Woods "and his boy are being investigated routinely."

Houchins said more than 100 vehicles were found on the estate, including one which he said authorities were interested in, a tractor usually used to pull trailer trucks. The children and the driver were imprisoned in a moving van.

Under the command of sheriffs from Alameda, San Mateo and Madera counties, the caravan of sheriff's deputies, left the San Mateo sheriff's office Wednesday night and was accompanied to the Woods estate by Charles Bates, FBI agent in charge of the San Francisco office.

The elder Woods was served with a search warrant signed by a San Mateo County judge.

His house was searched and he and his wife were the only people at home, Houchins said.

Some 60 law enforcement officers then scattered about the property on a fine-comb search of 15 buildings on the estate in Portola Valley on the San Francisco Peninsula.

Standing by as backup team was a Special Weapons and Tactics team from San Mateo County.

Published reports said Wednesday that the kidnaping last Thursday, which authorities said was carried out by three armed, masked men, may have been the work of a "drug and gun cult" involving members of wealthy families.

"It is a cult situation, a thrill thing involving drugs," said a source quoted in the Oakland Tribune.

A source told The AP that the families of all three men sought in the case have residences on the San Francisco Peninsula, of which San Mateo County is a part.

Meanwhile, the Sacramento Bee reported Wednesday, "The arrests of at least seven sons of wealthy San Francisco Peninsula families are imminent."

The investigation shifted here after clothing and other articles taken from the bus driver by the kidnapers were found alongside a Saratoga area road, about 20 miles south of Redwood City.

Investigators also learned that the buried moving van used as a prison was purchased from the Palo Alto Transfer and Storage Co. and that two vans used in the abduction were registered with the state Department of Motor Vehicles office in Los Gatos.

All three areas are on the San Francisco Peninsula, ranging from 35 to 55 miles south of San Francisco.

The Fresno and Modesto Bees quoted a source as saying:

"We are looking very closely to an individual named Fred because the moving van was sold ... to him personally." The source contended that only someone with easy access to the quarry could have buried the van, six feet underground. The van was purchased last Nov. 20.

New Pomona police chief under attack; mayor to probe reports

By ED PRATHER
PB Staff Writer

The appointment of Jim Richards as the new police chief in Pomona has come under attack by members of the Pomona Police Department, prompting Pomona Mayor Ray Lepire to fly to Arvada, Colo. today to investigate allegations against Richards.

Although no one has publicly made a charge against Richards or even criticized his professional record, the allegations made against the new chief by three Pomona officers in executive session with the City Council Monday apparently involve a controversy within the Arvada Police Department last year.

Pomona Police Officer Richard Tefank, president of the Pomona Police Officers Association and one of the three officers to meet with the council in the closed door session, would not comment Wednesday on the substance of the information delivered to the council.

"At this time I would like to make no comment," said Tefank when asked about the inquiry into Richard's record.

He did acknowledge that the information contained no hint of legal improprieties against Richards.

Councilman Adrian Wright, the only member of the council to vote against Richards' appointment, said Wednesday that he had no information and had no knowledge of any black marks on Richards' personal record as police chief in Arvada or as a member of the Ventura County Sheriff's Department for 14 years.

The allegations presented by Tefank and Officers Larry Kidney and John Miller apparently stem from a controversy within the Arvada Police Department late last year.

Arvada City Manager Capp Shanks told the Progress Bulletin today he was at a loss to explain why that controversy, which he said was settled months ago, would spark charges against Richards.

"Jim Richards is leaving Arvada under the best of circumstances. We're extremely sorry to see him leave," said Shanks.

When asked if Richards was under any type of pressure to resign in Arvada or under threat of any type of investigation or other type of duress, Shanks said:

"Absolutely not. He's as honest as the day is long. He has never been asked by me or the City Council to resign. In fact, it's just the opposite. I wish he were staying to accomplish some of the goals we set for the remainder of the year."

Shanks said the controversy last year in the Arvada Police Department was due, in part, to his strong position as city manager.

"I consider the police chief to be one of my department heads and I have the right to tell him what to do. A lot of officers didn't like that," said Shanks.

He said that other charges raised during the controversy included lack of communication within the department and lack of equipment, such as shotguns, desired by the officers.

"There was some truth to some of the charges," admitted Shanks.

"There were some organization weaknesses, but I blame myself for those, not Jim Richards."

Shanks said that an independent consulting firm was brought in to Arvada to study the problems in the department and recommend changes.

He said the changes recommended by the consultant, the Menninger Foundation of Topeka, Kan., had been implemented by Richards, including Richards' assumption of a more independent role as chief and an upgrading of the officer corps beneath Richards.

"Since the report was put into practice, there has been a good cooperative attitude in the department," he said.

In addition to Shanks, Richards; record in Arvada was praised by Harold L. Rust, a resident of the city who served on a special citizens' committee during the height of last year's controversy.

"He was above reproach, cooperating to the fullest, standing firm when he needed to be firm. In talking with the police personnel since then I have confirmed that the morale of the Police Department has increased tremendously," said Rust in a letter to Pomona officials.

Richards was appointed the new police chief by the Pomona City Council earlier this month, replacing F. P. Wallick, who retired in March.

The Pomona Police Officers Association took an official position endorsing Pomona Police Lt. Denver L. Liming for the position before Richards' appointment.

Man arrested after three wounded in shooting at store

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Police have arrested a 19-year-old man in connection with the shooting of three persons at an all-night grocery store.

Police said Ronald Mitchell allegedly drove into the store's parking lot about late Wednesday and began firing wildly with a shotgun.

All three persons hit by gunfire were listed in stable condition this morning at Sacramento Medical Center. Police identified the victims as Joseph Toro, George Thompson and Mary Zinkin.

Handicapped biker realizes a dream

Crosses country in 39 days

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Bruce Jennings made a dream come true here Wednesday when he pushed his bicycle into the Atlantic Ocean after pedaling across the continent.

Jennings lost his right leg five years ago.

"Oh, this feels good," he said as the surf rushed up around his ankle. "You don't know how good."

Jennings, 24, a college student from Fullerton, Calif., lost his leg in a motorcycle accident in 1971. Two years ago a truck hit him while he was bicycling and broke his remaining ankle. Then, when he had just recovered, a car hit him and broke his thigh bone.

It was then he decided he wanted to pedal across the nation.

"I said to myself 'What am I going to do? Am I going to quit or am I going to come back strong?' I had to come back," he said.

Leaving Newport Beach, Calif., with his rear tire in the Pacific Ocean, Jennings took only 39 days to bring his front tire to the Atlantic.

His journey was not without trouble. The Rocky Mountains were easy on his leg, he said, but he almost gave up trying to cross the Appalachians. "I was really hurting," he said.

A pickup truck in Indiana almost ended it all. The truck knocked him over, Jennings said, but didn't hurt him. "That shook me up pretty bad," he recalled. "I'm a little gun shy you know."

Jennings stayed in motels and with Rotary Clubs during his trek. He also camped out.

Jennings refused help as he hopped and pushed his 75-pound bicycle across the fine sand here. "I've made it this far by myself. I can't take help now," he said. "This is the hardest part of this trip."

But he soon made it to the water and accepted congratulations from a curious lifeguard.

Jennings said he would junk his bicycle and fly home this weekend.

Mars weather report: 122 below, pink skies

PASADENA (AP) — The first Martian weather report has revealed nippy morning temperatures of 122 degrees below zero on the Red Planet, under skies not blue but pink.

Dust particles floating in the thin atmosphere scatter sunlight to paint the sky pink, scientists explained Wednesday, even though it looked an earthly blue in Viking 1's first color picture.

"It is red, but not as red as the surface," said Dr. Carl Sagan.

The false color in the first picture was due to the fact that Viking's cameras have not yet been adjusted to reproduce colors on Mars with perfect accuracy, said project officials.

A more serious problem was also revealed late Wednesday. The seismometer designed to detect marsquakes did not turn on properly after Tuesday's landing.

Unless it can be fixed by radio commands from earth, said Deputy Mission Director Lou Kingsland, the instrument will not be able to carry out its work of recording quakes and probing the interior of the planet.

Scientists had hoped to have the use of seismometers aboard both Viking 1 and its twin, Viking 2, due for a landing later this summer, in order to determine the location of any Marsquakes. If only one seismometer works properly, only the number, not the direction of the quakes can be registered.

Dr. Seymour Hess, meteorology investigation team leader, said the weather station aboard the robot lander recorded temperatures ranging from 122 below zero Farenheit to 22 below, although the latter was not the highest temperature of the day.

He said there were light winds shifting from the east to the southwest during Viking's first Martian night. The highest wind speed was 15 miles per hour, far gentler than the winds of several hundred miles per hour known to blow on the planet.

Sagan, a member of Viking's lander photography team, said another scientist, Dr. James Pollack, had determined the pinkish hue of the Martian sky. It had appeared much brighter than expected in Viking's first black-and-white photos, and had appeared blue in the color picture until further analysis revealed the sky's true color.

Sagan said that Pollack believes the dust particles, swept aloft from the planet's surface, would be too small to see or feel.

Meanwhile, with one Viking experiment station on Mars working well, officials have decided to be bolder with the second Viking and aim it for a northerly site riskier but more likely to harbor Martian life.

The northern site, on a vast rolling plain called Cydonia after a town on the Greek island Crete, is of great interest to scientists.

For one thing, there is believed to be at least five times more water vapor in the air than there is near the equator.

And because it is not far from where the north polar icecap extends in the winter, some residual water or flush might remain at times to nurture life on the otherwise dry planet.

Scientists studying Martian weather were also enthusiastic about the northern territory because the changes in weather conditions from summer to winter could be observed.

But the catch was that a landing in Cydonia is almost certain to be more fraught with possible dangers. Because of the relationship between Earth and Mars as they are oriented in space, Earth-bound radar cannot be used to detect rough terrain in the north.

Chino allows church to erect fence

A six-foot-high chain link fence to enclose the yard of a Chino church where a man and woman were gunned down on May 17 has been approved by the city's Planning Commission.

The planners approved a variance to allow construction of the fence, requested by Nick Medina on behalf of Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church.

Church parish council members asked for approval of the variance "to protect and provide security for the church and its members."

Manuela Cortez and Ignacio Padilla, both church leaders, were slain on the church doorstep while participating in an anti-vandalism patrol.

The six-foot fence would be built in the side yard at the northeast corner of Third and D streets. A variance was needed because the city prohibits solid fences exceeding three feet in height in required side yards.

City officials noted that to allow a variance for security reasons is "justifiable. In addition, the recent violence and security problems in the area have created a unique situation."

Commissioners approved the variance on a 6-1 vote, with Michael Brightman dissenting. Brightman, an architect, objected for aesthetic reasons. He felt the fence would be inconsistent with other uses in the area.

Hearst heirs lose plea to keep estate information secret

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Attorneys for the Hearst family have 60 days to appeal a ruling by a Superior Court probate judge who refused to block public access to court documents relating to the William Randolph Hearst estate.

The ruling Wednesday by Superior Court Neil A. Lake denied a request by several Hearst heirs to have the records sealed because of threats made against family members and bombings at a family retreat in Northern California and at San Simeon.

The ruling, however, was hailed by a lawyer for the American Civil Liberties Union.

Attorney Fred Okrand of the ACLU said, "We are, of course, pleased with the court's decision. It protects the right of freedom of speech, in which is incumbent the public right to know.

"The significance of the case goes beyond merely the particular issue that was before the court," he added. "The decision extends and furthers what to us is a very important concept, and that is the public right to know what is in all probate files and other matters of public record."

In denying the motion, Lake said, "The denial of public access to probate files would be tantamount to denying the public the right to know what is done in their probate court, as the vast majority of probate matters are decided on the basis of what is contained in the verified pleadings found in the court file and not upon the testimony of witnesses or oral argument in open court."

Papers relating to the estate of the newspaper magnate could not be sealed without statutory authority, and no such authority presently exists, Lake said.

Attorney Philip H. Battaglia had sought to have the file sealed, telling the court that the court records, which name several Hearst heirs and lists their addresses, was "a punch list for terrorists."

Lake not only refused to seal the Hearst file, but also dissolved a June 5, 1975 order of Superior Court Judge David N. Eagleson that partially restricted access to the file. That order, which was issued after the kidnaping of Patricia Hearst, granddaughter of William Randolph Hearst, but before her arrest, required persons other than case attorneys to obtain court permission to view the documents.

Miss Hearst is undergoing psychiatric testing in San Diego pending final sentencing for her conviction on bank robbery charges.

Lake ordered Acting Clerk John J. Corcoran to draw up a plan for public viewing of the Hearst probate files.

Eagleson's order, however, will remain in effect for 60 days during which time Hearst attorneys will decide whether to appeal Lake's decision.

REFORMED HORSE

U.S. Customs Officer Lloyd Lacewell checks along the Mexican-Arizona border for smugglers. His horse was formerly used by smugglers and now works for the U.S. Customs Service.

Drug traffic along the border: more smuggling, more arrests

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In airplanes, on horseback, by car and on foot, drugs are being smuggled across the Mexican border into the United States in ever-growing numbers, but more smugglers are being caught, U. S. Customs agents say.

Heroin especially is pouring across the frontier. Los Angeles Region Customs Commissioner Albert G. Bergesen said that nationwide heroin seizures during fiscal 1975-76 soared 220 per cent and in the region, which encompasses California and Arizona, the amount of confiscated heroin nearly doubled from 45.5 pounds seized last year to 86.8 pounds this year.

Most of the incoming drugs arrive by car, Bergesen said, although the use of planes and other transportation is also becoming more common.

There were 2,530 cars seized at border points from San Ysidro, Calif., to Nogales, Ariz., compared with 1,503 last year, he added.

"They put 100 or 200 kilos in the trunk and they take a chance they won't be asked to open the back end," said Customs spokesman Jerome Hollander, adding sometimes smuggling operators use whole "task forces" of automobiles, "calculating what percentage may get caught."

Bergesen said 35 aircraft were seized during the year ending June 30, compared with 28 that flew drugs in from Mexico the year before and there were 19 boats taken last year compared to 13 the year before.

"Whatever method you can think of they use for smuggling dope," Hollander said, noting that in Arizona, Customs agents even have a mounted posse patroling rugged areas where narcotics have been moving on horseback, on mules or in the backpacks of hiking groups.

"These are reformed marijuana horses," he said. The horses once had been used for smuggling but they were confiscated and now are employed on the other side of the law, he explained.

The wide range of interdiction methods helps account for the fact that the Los Angeles regional drug flow has actually decreased in all categories except heroin, while the rest of the nation saw increases in all categories, Bergesen said.

Even dogs get into the act. In one case last year, he said, a dog sniffed out 6,000 pounds of marijuana buried beneath a truckload of onions.

"The dog views it as a game," he said. "He finds it and gets a pat on the back." But he stressed the dogs never are addicted, despite the popular rumor.

"Our dogs abstain from all alcohol and narcotics," he grinned.

Nationwide, the amount of cocaine seized increased 41 per cent, hashish 295 per cent and marijuana 62 per cent, he said.

But in the Los Angeles Region, he said, only 75.5 pounds of cocaine was seized, compared with 101 the previous year; and marijuana weighed in at 282,229 pounds compared with 323,131 the year before.

Bergesen said the street value of all drugs seized during the fiscal year in the region amounted to nearly $95 million. Nationwide the figure was $685.5 million, he said.

Reagan, Rocky top choice for No. 2 spot

If Ford delegates called the shot...

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's delegates to the Republican National Convention who are expressing their preference name Ronald Reagan and Nelson Rockefeller most often for the No. 2 spot on the GOP ticket.

But both men have said — with varying degrees of firmness — that they would not take the vice presidential nomination at the convention opening in Kansas City in three and half weeks.

Reagan is going all out for the right to recommend the party's vice presidential candidate himself. He lags slightly behind Ford in the tight delegate race for the GOP presidential nomination.

The first choice for vice president of the Reagan delegates with a preference was former Texas governor and Nixon adminstration official John Connally. On the strength of this Reagan support alone, Connally was the most often named contender for the second spot.

Ford meets today with Rockefeller, and later with the New York GOP convention delegation, which includes a large number of uncommitted delegates who may be a key to Ford's chances to beat Reagan.

The Associated Press delegate survey found only about 40 per cent of the 1,982 delegates interviewed gave a preference for the No. 2 spot.

Of those Ford delegates who said they had a choice, Reagan was at the top of the list. Of the 97 delegates naming the former California governor for the second spot, 78 were Ford backers. Most of the rest were uncommitted delegates.

Just about a week ago, however, Reagan made as strong a statement as anyone could want about the vice presidency.

"Under no circumstances whatsoever will I accept the vice presidential nomination," Reagan said in response to a question in Newark, N.J.

Ford has said he has not ruled anyone out of the vice presidential race if he is nominated, including Reagan and Rockefeller.

Continuing the current line-up with Rockefeller as vice president was the next ranking choice of the Ford delegates with a preference. Rockefeller was named by 66 Ford delegates for vice president, most of the 75 delegates who named him.

But Rockefeller took himself out of consideration for the vice presidency last year, after some Ford supporters said he was a liability in Ford's race with Reagan.

Reagan has ruled Rockefeller out of any position in his administation because of "philosophical differences."

Traditionally, the convention has approved the choice of the presidential candidate for his running mate.

Ford, after refusing for weeks to say he would not throw the choice of a running mate open to the convention, said at a news conference Monday that he would make the choice.

"I would certainly expect the convention to follow my recommendation," he told reporters.

Reagan has indicated a willingness to allow the convention to pick the vice presidential nominee if he is nominated.

Connally was ranked No. 1 among the delegates, the vice presidential choice of 224 delegates. Most of Connally's support — 71 per cent — came from delegates committed to support Reagan for president.

Only 29 of Ford's delegates said they would like to see Connally as vice president, putting him in fifth place among the President's backers, in contrast to the first place he ranked with Reagan backers.

A Reagan-Ford ticket has far less support than a Ford-Reagan team that is supported by some Ford backers.

Only 25 delegates — all Reagan supporters — named Ford for vice president. That is about a third of the delegates who said they would like to see a Ford-Reagan ticket.

Reagan has not included Ford on his list of possible vice presidential contenders. Ford has not given any indication he would even consider the second spot.

Following Connally and Reagan in the AP survey results were Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee with 93 delegate mentions and Rockefeller with 75. Secretary of Commerce Elliot Richardson was named by 60 delegates. Ford and Sen. William Brock III of Tennessee were each named by 25 delegates.

Sen. Charles Percy and Rep. Philip Crane, both of Illinois, were picked by 23 delegates apiece for the second spot. Rounding out the top 10 of delegate choices was James Buckley, the Republican-Conservative senator from New York, who was named by 16 delegates.

Forty-three politicians and other public figures were mentioned at least once by the GOP delegates for the second spot.

The only woman to receive any mention was Anne Armstrong, currently ambassador to Great Britain. She was picked by eight delegates.

Other prominent figures who received several mentions included: Sen. Edward Brooke, Massachusetts, 13 delegates; Sen. Jesse Helms, North Carolina, 12; Treasury Secretary William Simon, 11; Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld, 7.

At various times this year, both Ford and Reagan have named people who would be acceptable to them as running mates.

Ford's list included Richardson, Brooke, Baker, Brock, Percy and Govs. Dan Evans of Washington, Robert Ray of Iowa and Chistopher Bond of Missouri. Connally's name has also been mentioned.

On Monday, Ford would not name any possible running mates.

"I'm not going to get into a numbers game. We have a fine, fine array of talent in the Republicn party and maybe elsewhere," he said.

Reagan has emphasized that his running mate must be of a conservative philosphy that is close to his own. His list included Connally, Baker, Simon and "any of a number of fine, well-qualified congressmen and other party leaders."

13 jailed in killing of envoy

Irish officials say killers got wrong man

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Irish police said today they have arrested 13 suspected Irish Republican Army men in the biggest manhunt in Irish history, mounted for the killers of British Ambassador Christopher Ewart-Biggs.

The ambassador was killed by a bomb detonated under his car just after it left his home on the southern outskirts of Dublin Wednesday. The blast seriously injured British diplomat Brian Cubbon, killed Cubbon's secretary, 26-year-old Judith Cooke, and wounded the ambassador's Irish chauffeur, Brian O'Driscoll.

At Londonderry in Northern Ireland, the British army arrested Rory O'Brady, president of Sinn Fein, the IRA's political wing, and Sean Keenan, a battalion commander of IRA Provisionals. Police said the army had handed the pair over and the men were being questioned.

Dozens of IRA sympathisers dropped out of sight.

The assassination was expected to prompt British pressure on the Dublin government for a major crackdown on the Provisionals, who use the republic as a base for their operations in Northern Ireland. British Prime Minister James Callaghan told the House of Commons the killers were the "common enemy" of both the British and Irish governments and must be destroyed.

Police arrested David O'Connell, 39, reputedly a past commander of the IRA Provisional wing, and Joe O'Neill, a political organizer, in a Dublin suburb a few hours after the ambush.

Nobody has claimed responsibility for the bombing, but police blamed the IRA's Provisional wing or a splinter group linked to it. The Provisionals are waging a guerrilla war to end British rule in Northern Ireland.

The IRA Provisional wing attacked the homes of a number of British civil officials in Northern Ireland earlier this year. It said they "share as much responsibility for the oppression in our country as the warlords of the British army."

Several thousand Irish troops and police searched for the assassins. Police manned roadblocks outside Dublin 24 hours after the bombing. A reward of $36,000 was offered for the killers.

A police spokesman said they were hunting for three men seen running from the ambush scene. It was not known if any of the men were among the 13 arrested.

Police said the bomb was planted in a drain under the road and was detonated by remote control by at least three men hidden in a thicket about 200 yards away.

Police officials said they suspected the terrorists were after Cubbon and not the ambassador. Cubbon, permanent undersecretary of state in Northern Ireland and the top British civil servant there, was on a visit to the Irish republic from his post in Belfast.

A senior police officer said, "The ambassador had been here for less than two weeks. It's entirely likely the people responsible for his death were after someone else in the car."

"We feel there was no real reason for the IRA to murder the ambassador, even though he was Britain's representative here," another police official said. "We believe there are strong grounds for suspecting he was not the real target of this outrage."

AIRING GRIEVANCES

Prisoners free 14 hostages

WAUPUN, Wis. (AP) — Inmates at Wisconsin State Prison held 14 hostages for more than 12 hours, then released them when they won permission to voice their grievances at a news conference.

Except for a prison employe who inmates said struck his head when he fainted, there were no reports of injury in the Wednesday incident. The man was hospitalized in fair condition.

Sheriff Edwin Nehls of Dodge County said 89 of the 1,700 inmates held the hostages in the prison's three-story industrial building they had seized shortly before lunch.

Shortly before midnight, the inmates were granted immunity from prosecution in exchange for the release of hostages.

Authorities said the building contained paint, print-shop ink and other chemicals which posed a fire threat to the hostages as well as their captors.

Demonstrators, using chemicals from the building's paint shop, had spilled flaming materials from the building's windows onto a concrete courtyard, and flames damaged some auxiliary structures.

After the release, spokesmen for the inmates voiced their grievances to newsmen in a visitors' lounge.

Clayton Cook, 33, of Milwaukee, serving a term for armed robbery, said a chief gripe is crowding.

The prison, which has a rated capacity of about 786, has 848 beds, excluding dormitory facilities outside the main walls.

Cock said prisons are "warehouses for human beings." He accused penal bureaucrats of encourging crowding so that legislators would be more willing to approve funds for expansion.

A State Building Commission subcommittee had approved funds Wednesday for developing a 150-bed dormitory in the building occupied by the protesters.

Officials said conditions elsewhere in the prison were normal.

Authorities said none of the inmates had conventional weapons. Cook said two 22-caliber zipguns were used to herd hostages into a room.

They included two construction workers who happened to be in the building.

No leaking of secrets with Captain Kidd in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Captain Kidd kept the whereabouts of his treasure a secret by killing everybody who helped him bury it. So the only leaks he had to worry about were the ones in the bottom of his ship.

The ways of keeping secrets in the House of Representatives are somewhat more civilized, but certainly not so effective. After all, Captain Kidd's map didn't appear in the Village Voice.

Great chunks of the House intelligence committee report did. And the report contained secrets about sometimes shady operations by trenchcoat types such as the CIA.

Who leaked these secrets to Daniel Schorr so he could put them in the New York weekly has become a $150,000 question.

For months, investigators have been trying to identify the leaker. Four hundred interviews and $150,000 later, they've concluded:

1. It was somebody in the government.

2. They don't know who.

Actually, there are those who say Schorr, a CBS newsman, could have picked up a copy almost anywhere.

There are those who swear one copy was found lining the bottom of a parrot cage at the National Zoo. Others say a downtown restaurant was handing out fish and chips wrapped in pages marked "Top Secret."

There are those who say if the legendary Captain Kidd were running things he'd have to bury half the government to keep its secrets.

He'd have no help from Rep. Les Aspin, of course. Aspin loaned his copy of the intelligence committee report to, of all people, the CIA.

And to Reuters News Agency.

In testimony before the House ethics committee this week, it became clear that the secret report had attracted only slightly fewer viewers than "Gone with the Wind."

Aspin's copy, which brought the CIA in from the cold, became a mother, spawning 40 more copies fathered by a CIA duplicating machine.

The Wisconsin Democrat shrugged off the news that his copy had a family. "Well, I guess I'm not surprised," he said.

Other congressmen, some of them adamant about finding out how Schorr got his copy, weren't too concerned about the one that went to the CIA or the "several pages" Aspin aides supplied to Reuters.

But the House ethics committee is asking each of the 16 members of the intelligence panel to say under oath whether he was the leaker.

So far, nobody is taking responsibility.

Meanwhile, former FBI investigators hired by the committee to find the culprit have spared no effort to round up the copies of the report, to trace their paths through the marbled hallways of the Capitol, to examine the owner of each set of hands that touched them.

The investigators found plenty of hands and plenty of copies — but some of the copies weren't where they were supposed to be.

For example, Rep. William Lehman, D-Fla., said he wasn't even on Capitol Hill during final deliberations on the report back in February. So his copy kept shuttling back and forth between his office and the intelligence committee.

He said it finally got lost.

Man held in stolen credit card purchases

A 44-year-old Banning man was arrested by West End sheriff's deputies in connection with the theft of a bank credit card used to purchase more than $2,000 in liquor and other items from liquor stores Wednesday.

Paul Lawrence Jordon of Banning was arrested by deputies at the Red Hill Liquor Store at Vineyard Avenue and Foothill Boulevard in Cucamonga after allegedly purchasing several bottles of liquor on a credit card made out to an Avis Bagley of Banning. Jordon was booked on charges of five counts of forgery and burglary.

Deputies said the suspect had been stopping at various liquor stores in the area, including one in Montclair, and purchasing liquor on the credit card. Meanwhile deputies learned that a credit card sent to Avis Bagley, Jordon's neighbor, by the Bank of America had not been received by Bagley. The card had been used in Palm Springs to rent a car for 24 hours, unknown to Bagley. When the car was not returned after 24 hours Bagley was called.

Bagley called the sheriff's department. Deputies said Jordon had allegedly taken the credit card from Bagley's mailbox several days ago.

A circular was issued to all West End liquor stores describing the stolen card and Jordon as a possible suspect in the theft. Several liquor stores in the area Wednesday called police and sheriff's deputies to report selling liquor to a man using the card. A clerk at the Red Hill liquor store rang a silent robbery alarm to tip deputies when the suspect entered his store and attempted to purchase a bottle of liquor.

Found innocent in picket slaying

BAKERSFIELD (AP) — A Delano man has been found innocent of murder in the shooting death of a United Farm Workers picket during the 1973 grape strike.

Farm worker Bayani Advincula, 23, was acquitted Wednesday by a Kern County Superior Court jury following a two-week trial.

Advincula was charged with murder in the shooting death of Juan De La Cruz, 60, while riding in a pickup past a UFW picket line near Arvin on Aug. 16, 1973.

That shooting and the death of a union member in a tavern incident the same week caused UFW President Cesar Chavez to end the 1973 strike against growers who had switched to the Teamsters Union after their UFW pacts expired.

The trial was delayed almost three years because of an appeal followed by the illness of a defense attorney.

Ford's forces apply pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's campaign forces are stepping up the political presssure on Mississippi's uncommitted Republican convention delegation, state politicians say. Ford strategists say the delegation may swing to Ford this week, delivering a psychological shock to challenger Ronald Reagan.

Made her bed, now she can lie in it

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nancy Donnelly, who left the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy after allegedly being caught in bed with her fiance, is being reinstated, and her lawyer says the 20-year-old cadet is "anxious to go back and be a regular midshipperson."

A spokesman for Maritime Administration, which runs the Kings Point, N.Y., academy, said Wednesday the Oxon Hill, Md., woman still must face normal disciplinary action for the incident that took place last March.

The decision to reinstate her came after prodding from Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., and the American Civil Liberties Union, which was preparing a sex discrimination suit in her behalf.

Miss Donnelly, one of 25 female cadets at the 1,000-student academy, said last month that she resigned quietly on May 17 so that her fiance would be allowed to graduate, as he later did. She called herself the "scapegoat" for the incident.

The academy said last month that the man was not disciplined because he was not positively identified after allegedly being spotted by another cadet in Miss Donnelly's room.

Miss Donnelly, whose father is an academy graduate, was on vacation and unavailable for comment Wednesday.

But her lawyer, Kathleen Peratis of the ACLU's women's rights project, said, "She's delighted."

"The academy behaved very badly in this. They ought to be ashamed of themselves. She's a very sweet girl, and a good cadet," she added.

Ms. Peratis, who prefers that designation, said she had been ready to file a suit Friday charging coercion and sex discrimination. She noted that Miss Donnelly "never has admitted the incident, and it has never been proven."

Beall commented, "The original decision, I feel, was a poor one. It indicated a degree of sex discrimination on the part of the academy."

He said the case "must serve as a guideline for the necessity for fair and equal discipline ... in all instances without regard to a student's sex."

The academy admitted its first women two years ago. Miss Donnelly was a plebe with a high B average. She is due to report to the academy Sunday and will resume classes Aug.

Pat Nixon may go home soon

LONG BEACH (AP) — Doctors should know late today when former First Lady Pat Nixon can leave the hospital and take up her stroke rehabilitation at home, according to a spokesman at Long Beach Memorial Hospital.

Her release could come this week, officials added.

Spokesman Jeff Gerew said Wednesday doctors treating Mrs. Nixon had met to review her progress and found it satisfactory. Her doctors were developing a long range rehabilitation program that she can practice at home, he said.

The wife of former President Richard Nixon was admitted to the hospital July 8 after she suffered a stroke at the Nixon home in San Clemente the day before. Her left leg, arm and side of face were partially paralized.

Her doctors have said they believe she can recover fully with three to four months of therapy.

L.A. denies claims over gas blast

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The city attorney's office says it has denied 14 claims asking for more than $17 million in damages stemming from a gasoline pipeline explosion June 16.

Asst. City Atty. Lorenz Lechner said Wednesday the claims were referred to the owner of the pipeline, Standard Oil Co.; CalTrans and two contractors involved in street work at the explosion site. The city attorney's office said the city was not liable because the city doesn't own or maintain the pipeline or right of way.

Six persons were killed and 16 others injures in the explosion.

Sen. Cranston will attend valley rally for Baldonado

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., will appear July 31 in Claremont at a fundraiser for SANDY BALDONADO, Democratic nominee for the 62nd Assembly District seat.

The event will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wiener, 508 W. 11th St. A donation of $25 per couple is being requested.

"Alan Cranston's support is very important to us. He is a popular public official in this area and his presence on my behalf is a boost for my efforts," said Mrs. Baldonado.

Reservations for the event may be made by phoning the Baldonado campaign office at 599-7760.

REP. JIM LLOYD, D-35th Dist., has opened his main campaign headquarters at 219 S. Citrus St., Covina, and appointed Kay Strevell of Covina as office manager.

The office will be open daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The telphone number is (213) 332-1976.

Lloyd also appointed Kathy Kinley, a teacher in the Ontario-Montclair School District, as honorary chairman of his re-election campaign. She was recently elected to her first full term on the San Bernardino County Democratic State Central Committee and is vice president of the West End Democratic Club.

LOUIS BRUTOCAO, Republican nominee in the 35th Congressional District, has criticized Lloyd for spending tax dollars in postage for postcards sent to valley residents announcing that Lloyd would be at the Pomona City Hall to get constituent reactions to his work in Congress.

"While I recognize that it is a congresman's duty to make himself accessible to the public, I am certain there are cheaper and more effective ways to service the people of the 35th district," he added.

"Surely as long as Lloyd was sending a card into thousands of households, Lloyd could at least have expressed his position on a critical national issue rather than announcing his name in capital letters in nearly every sentence on the card."

Legislation introduced by ASSEMBLYMAN BILL McVITTIE, D-65th Dist., which could lead to the revision of laws regarding property located in the paths of proposed freeways has passed the state Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee.

The measure calls for the state Board of Equalization to review county assessor procedures used to set the value of property earmarked for future freeway development.

"Many of the people who own land along the proposed Foothill Freeway extension through Upland have had to suffer unnecessary agony," he said.

"The planning stage has lasted 20 years but the state still has not acquired all the designated property. As a result, residents have their land tied up because of future condemnation proceedings and until some final decisions are made, the actual land can be used for little else but agriculture."

McVittie believes this is unfair and said a look into assessment procedures would produce tax equity to these property owners and others in California who may find themselves in the same unnecessary situation.

Richard Mason, president of the National Association of Professional Educators, will be speaker at the Gen. George S. Patton REPUBLICAN ASSEMBLY CLUB program Monday in West Covina.

He will discuss "The Critical National Crisis in Education." A potluck dinner will be served at 6:45 p.m., followed by the program at 8. The meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Emerson, 2045 E. Rio Verde Drive, West Covina.

For more information, persons may phone Doris Emerson, (213) 966-7624 or Marlene Calvert, (213) 966-2475.

"The E.I.R. courses will be open to adults as well as students because increases in reading speed, comprehension and study habits can benefit everyone," said Rosenwasser.

The course includes a special study-habits kit, which covers such areas as writing term papers, taking exams and notes, and other valuable information for increases study skills and comprehension.

Czech shoplifters

PRAGUE (AP) — Within the span of one year, 700 shoplifters were caught in the act in Prague's largest department store, Kotva.

The majority of the shoplifters were 30 or younger and each took an average of three items. Most of the people caught were carrying relatively large sums of money.

Hurt Fullerton man quits Chino hospital

A 21-year-old Fullerton man, injured in a two-car traffic collision at Pipeline and Schaefer avenues in Chino Monday night, was released from Chino General Hospital Wednesday following treatment.

Douglas William Norfolk was admitted to the hospital shortly after the accident. Dennis Lee Whitlock, 20, of 1052 Mission Blvd., Pomona also was treated for injuries at the Chino hospital and released.

Police said the Fullerton man's westbound car collided broadside with Norfolk's northbound vehicle.

JOHN A. WESSELY

Retiring police chief to be feted

Retiring Upland Police Chief John A. Wessely will be honored at a dinner July 30 at 7 p.m. at the Ontario Elks Lodge.

Coy Estes, who officially replaces Wessely as police chief on Aug. 1, is chairman of the retirement party. The dinner is open to the public and reservations are to be made with Estes at 982-1331 by Monday.

Wessely joined the Upland Police Department on Aug. 1, 1946 and served as head of the department since April 1, 1957.

In a resolution passed Monday by the Upland City Council, Wessely was cited for his leadership. The resolution said:

"Under his leadership the Police Department of the City of Upland coped in an admirable fashion with all the pressures of rapid growth and changes in attitudes towards authority by segments of society.

"Under his supervision the Police Department of Upland maintained and enhanced its reputation for fine and fair protection of citizens."

Bill Hill, San Bernardino County coroner, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Kaiser expects strong steel sales in West

The 1976 market for steel in the western United States is expected to show solid recovery from the low level of 1975, according to a report issued by Kaiser Steel Corp., Oakland.

The business recession and accompanying drop in steel consumption reduced 1975 western steel receipts to 7,412,000 tons. This level was in contrast with the record high in 1974 of 11,021,000 tons.

Lines of activity promising good gains include residential-related steel products, automotive parts, tubing, pails and drums, cold finished bars, appliances and metal furniture. Large gains are expected for sheet products and hot rolled bars.

The report expects homebuilding to be up substantially in 1976. New dwelling-unit authorizations in the West are forecast to total 300,000 this year, an increase of 31 per cent over 1975. This increased activity will stimulate a number of residential-related steel consuming areas.

Much other economic data is included in the annual Western Steel Market report, published by Kaiser Steel's Commercial Research Department. It is the only regional report of its kind in the steel industry.

The report details the components of the 1975 market in the seven western states. That market dropped as steel consumers worked off the unusually large inventories they had built up in 1974. The end of these inventory reductions will be the major factor in the western steel market's recovery this year.

In 1975, western suppliers regained dominance as the steel source for the western market, according to the report. Western steel producers supplied 53 per cent of the market, up six percentage points from 1974. The gain was taken from the reduced imported steel share for the year. Eastern U.S. steel producers supplied 16 per cent of the market, the same share as in 1974.

Murder charge dropped

The murder charge against a young Chino man accused of running down and killing Simeon Lee on a Pomona parking lot more than a year ago was dismissed in Pomona Municipal Court but he still faces manslaughter and felonious hit-run charges.

The defendant, Robert Charles Stone, 19, won dismissal of the charge by Judge Thomas F. Nuss after Stone's attorney, Raymond Youngquist, argued at the preliminary hearing that there was no evidence to sustain it.

But Nuss bound Stone over to Pomona Superior Court on the other charges and scheduled his arraignment Aug. 3. The young man has been free without having had to post bail.

The incident occurred April 21, 1975, on the Pep Boys parking lot at 336 E. Holt Ave. Investigators charged that Stone was the driver who pursued and eventually ran down the victim shortly after midnight.

Ontario mayor urges study

Future housing: a noisy issue

Ontario Mayor Paul Treadway has given notice he will frown on any single family residential development in a southwest study area until the noise of airplanes departing from Ontario International Airport can be measured.

He discussed his concern Tuesday night when the City Council was asked to accept a memorandum regarding a study made by the planning staff of an area bounded by Mission Boulevard, Phillips Street and San Antonio and Mountain avenues.

The council had earlier requested the study after it overruled a Planning Commission decision and approved a residential development in that area.

Treadway identified the study area as being on the fringe of a noise contour line and urged no single family development be approved until the noise level could be checked.

In a separate item, members approved the purchse of noise monitoring equipment at a cost of $29,961. Treadway said the equipment may be available within 60 days and urged the study area be the first location checked.

"Before any development takes place, I want to be sure this area falls within the safe noise level," he stressed.

Similar opinions had earlier been expressed by councilmen Homer Briggs and Robert Abel.

In its report to the council, the planning staff recommended the study area's general plan designation remain; no new single family homes be permitted north of the Ralston Street alignment or inside the 65 decibel line; the area north of Ralston Street be developed only with soundproofed multiple uses and existing commercial zoning along Mission Boulevard remain; and existing agricultural pursuits remain.

The report noted that "no matter what is planned for the future not much will happen with the existing inadequate water and sewer lines for the study area."

The council accepted the report as part of its consent calendar but did not adopt the recommendations.

Should any proposals for residential development be submitted for the area, the City Council would look at them as individual applications, said Treadway.

Van used in kidnapping a mystery

LIVERMORE (AP) — One of the biggest question marks in the bizarre Chowchilla busnaping is how the abductors managed to secretly bury the truck trailer where the 26 children and their bus driver were entombed for 18 hours.

Investigators have learned:

—The trailer had been buried less than a year. That was determined by analysis of soil samples from the scene.

—It would have taken heavy equipment to bury the 25-foot-long moving van. It took authorities a full day of digging with heavy equipment Tuesday to pull the well-entrenched moving van out of the ground.

—Careful preparations were made when it was buried, including the installation of battery-operated ventilators and the placing of extra camouflage.

What investigators are trying to figure out is how all the work could have been done without the kidnapers being detected, and what equipment they used.

The trailer was purchased from a Palo Alto moving firm Nov. 20, four days prior to the purchase of the three Navy surplus Dodge vans, of which two were believed used to haul the children to the hide-out.

The Fresno Bee reported Tuesday that a source close to the investigation said the man who purchased the moving trailer has a "close connection" with the gravel company where it was hidden.

"One of the abdutors was someone who had access to the quarry and who could use the equipment to dig the hole without his presence being questioned," the newspaper quoted the unnamed source as saying. "It was someone who could carry out the operation with impunity."

Alameda County Lt. Gene Saper conceded that it would have been difficult for heavy equipment necessary to dig the large hole to be brought in without being detected.

David A. Rezendes of the Secruity Eye Patrol, the firm which provides protection for the quarry on weekend nights only, said the quarry is usually vacant on week nights.

"If they worked between 10 p.m. and 5 a.m., they probably would have had free hand," Rezendes said. "They easily could have done their work during these hours."

CHOWCHILLA VAN

Workman prepare the van in which Chowchilla school children were held captive in a Livermore, Calif. quarry, so it could be moved from the place where it was buried in the quarry. A sheriff's department cab was hooked onto the van and a tractor pulled the cab and van free, so the van could be hauled to Santa Rita Rehabilitation center for study.

First tuxedo shocks crowd

NEW YORK (AP) — When Griswold Lorillard, a New York socialite of the late 19th century, appeared at a formal dance in a suit of his own design, he startled the crowd because the coat had no tails.

According to the American Formalwear Association, "the garment was immediately nicknamed after the town of its first appearance—which was exclusive Tuxedo, N.Y."

Ethics committee investigating leak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Les Aspin says he loaned his copy of the secret House intelligence committee report to the CIA and his staff gave several pages to Reuters News Agency, but the identity of the person who leaked the report to CBS reporter Daniel Schorr remains unknown.

The Wisconsin Democrat said he cooperated with the CIA in an effort to win a compromise on material the agency wanted kept from the public. He said the intelligence committee staff refused to provide the CIA with a copy so he loaned his to the spy agency.

The House ethics committee, which is investigating the leak to Schorr, has heard testimony from five of the 13 members of the now-disbanded committee. Aspin told the ethics panel what he did with his copy of the report, and Rep. William Lehman, D-Fla., said he lost his copy.

Other intelligence committee members will be questioned today.

Schorr arranged for the suppressed report to be published in a New York City weekly, the Village Voice. He has declined to say who gave him his copy, and ethics committee investigators say they have been unable to find out, despite hundreds of interviews.

During testimony Monday and Tuesday, five members of the intelligence panel denied being Schorr's source or knowing who was.

Testifying Monday or Tuesday were Aspin, Lehman, Chairman Otis Pike, D-N.Y., and Reps. Dale Milford, D-Tex., and Philip Hayes, D-Ind.

Aspin said Tuesday his staff gave two pages of the report to Reuters after an excerpt from the report was published alleging the CIA used the news agency and other news sources in its intelligence work.

The CIA later said it had mentioned Reuters hypothetically, and never intended to claim manipulation of the London-based news service.

Reuters officials were unavailable for comment Tuesday night.

Aspin confirmed that he gave his copy of the final report to CIA counsel Mitchell Rogovin after Rogovin was refused a copy by the committee's staff director, A. Searle Field.

Aspin said he didn't think he violated committee procedures in giving Rogovin the report. Aspin said he had no reason to think Rogovin, the Ford administration's liaison with the intelligence committee, would not be in line to get the final report.

Asked why Field turned Rogovin down, Aspin said, "By that time relations had been so completely strained between the staff of the committee and Mr. Rogovin, it could have been any number of things ... the whole atmosphere was very bitter."

He said he had worked closely with Rogovin for weeks to try and get more information declassified for the final report and the CIA had dropped many of its reservations.

In giving Rogovin the final report, he said, he hoped the CIA would agree to let the committee majority publish even more secret information contained in the report.

"Substantively, there was no reason why this couldn't have been done," Aspin said. "Politically, it couldn't have been done.

ALONG THE RIVER — Capt. Harry Louden guides the new Mississippi Queen, the first everynight riverboat to be built in 50 years, is on its shakedown cruise near Louisville this week on the Ohio before it heads to home port in Cincinnati.

Mississippi Queen excites old-timers

ABOARD THE MISSISSIPPI QUEEN (AP) — It has a paddle wheel and a calliope, but gone are the branch water and bourbon-drinking gamblers of riverboats of old.

The Mississippi Queen, the first overnight steamboat built in America in 50 years, is gliding through its first passenger cruise along the Ohio River.

"She's like a Holiday Inn on a raft," smiled 75-year-old Fred Way, who began his career cleaning cuspidors on a towboat in 1919. "I never imagined there would be such a thing on the river. Who would have dreamed it?"

The Mississippi Queen, 379 feet long, is nearly twice the length of the Betsie Ann, which Way piloted from 1925 to 1930.

Built entirely of steel, the Mississippi Queen lacks the classic look of her predecessors, but she has been seen as a new found friend by the rivermen, many of whom admit they never thought they would see her like again.

"I'm just happy to be alive and able to sail on her," said Capt. Art Zimmer, who at 71 is helping to pilot the boat on its first trip with a full compliment of nearly 400 passengers. "Until four years ago, I thought we'd seen the end of the steamboat.

"I guess that shows that if you can live long enough, every idea will come back."

3,000 male prostitutes booked

VAN NUYS (AP) — City statistics show Los Angeles police have arrested more than 3,000 men on prostitution charges over a 30-month period.

The statistics were filed in Van Nuys Municipal Court Tuesday in response to sex discrimination charges. A defense attorney representing a woman arrested on prostitution charges claimed the law was being discriminatorily applied against women.

California's prostitution law has been interpreted to apply equally to men and women, whether they are buying or selling sexual favors.

The statistics showed Los Angeles police arrested 5,541 women and 3,630 men from January, 1974, through this June.

However, it was not clear how many of those arrested were prostitutes and how many were customers. One police official estimated that most of the men arrested were homosexual prostitutes.

Valley cyclist starting out on 9,000-mile trip

Jaw surgery effects linger on but he can't wait

CROSSING THE COUNTRY

David Harwich, 20, of Upland leaves today on a 9,000-mile trip across the United States by bicycle. He hopes to make the trip in 100 days at a cost of about $600.

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

A firm determination which has sustained him through 19 major surgeries may help David Harwich, 20, to the successful completion of the major challenge he starts today.

David, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Harwich, 1714 N. Vallejo Way, Upland, is starting alone on a 9,000-mile bicycle trip across the United States although he is still recovering from surgery to reconstruct his jaw last year.

"I think I can make the trip on about $600 for the 100 days I plan to be gone," said David. "I don't eat too much and plan to survive on orange juice and hamburgers."

The youth, who studied film-making at Chaffey College last year, plans to photograph his trip in detail. He is flying to Portland, ore., today, taking along his 10-speed bike and a minimum of gear.

From Oregon, the trip will follow northern routes across the country to Washington, D.C., then on to Massachusetts where he will visit three towns bearing his family name.

"There's a North Harwich, a South Harwich and a Port Harwich, which is named for an ancestor," David said. "The name is not that common in this country and we have very few relatives."

David says becoming lonely has never been a problem with him.

"My bike is really a part of me. I've already traveled alone in British Columbia and the northwestern states. Even just a few days after a recent surgery, I was outside on my bike, it's where I feel most comfortable.

"Others don't understand why I do this. But I don't understand how people can stay cooped up in a house or at a dull job.

"My only regret is that I'll miss my 21st birthday at home."

David will be 21 on Sept. 21.

He plans to send his family frequent postcards along the way but will call home only in an emergency. He explained that during a previous trip, the family tried to set up prearranged phone calls and it was difficult.

Mrs. Harwich admits that she "says a lot of special rosaries" while her son is traveling, but adds "David has already proved that he's capable of doing anything to which he sets his mind."

San Dimas officials will undertake a massive city-wide mailing in September to begin the lengthy — possibly controversial — process of making the zoning map conform with the General Plan.

The progrlam was among the decisions at a joint meeting Wednesday night of the City Council and the Planning Commision.

Planning Director Mark Goldberg detailed the long report on the process required by state law to make the zoning map and General Plan consistent. He divided the city into four areas "to give it some logic before proceeding."

The sections included Gladstone Street north; Gladstone south and east of the 210 Freeway; west of the 210 Freeway and north of Walnut Creek; and Via Verde.

Goldberg pointed out that the zone changes range from "mundane to drastic" and the "staff anticipates the most controversial areas to be those zones that are being changed from commercial to residential and industrial to residential."

He suggested that in order to make the procedure easier to handle, the staff should meet with the residents of each area. Queried by Councilman Philip Wax about the time involved in accomplishing this, the planner said "staff time depends upon the effects of the drastic changes. It could take from several months to several years."

Goldberg offered councilmen and commissioners the options of taking the controversial changes — many of which dealt with changes from light manufacturing and commercial to multiple residential — in separate, single hearings; holding the controversial ones until a later date; or considering all the zone changes within an area at the same time.

Councilman Jim Lough felt that to separate the hearings would "confuse the people and get mix-ups on dates. How do we reallly know what things will be tough?"

Councilman James McLean said "the more time you take, the more trouble you cause."

Commissioner Dave Brode commented that the "controversial issues could act as a catalyst to get the input we need from the public."

Commission chairman Don Haefer suggested that public hearings be held on consecutive nights for each area in order to reach the largest possible number of residents. Brode emphasized the need to saturate the community with specific information on what the city is attempting to do with the hearings on General Plan-zoning map consistency.

Mayor Marvin Ersher said that flyers explaining this purpose be mailed to each property owner, starting in mid-September and ending Nov. 15. This should be followed by meetings between staff and the community to further explain the procedure, he added. No hearings would be held between Nov. 15 and Jan 1 in order for each area to have time to meet with staff.

Goldberg could not tie down any definite time to be spent in each area, saying that the "time within each area is difficult to assess."

The council and commission agreed to complete each individual area before proceeding with the next.

McVittie opposed to milk-pricing proposal

Assemblyman Bill McVittie, D-65th Dist., told members of the Montclair business community Wednesday he opposes a milk pricing bill and favors a measure to save time adjudicating traffic violations.

He spoke to some 40 persons at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the Islander Restaurant under the topic "Pending Legislation and How It Affects You."

As a member of the Assembly agricultural committee, McVittie is opposing a bill by Central Valley legislators to change the basis of pricing on milk throughout the state.

McVittie, whose district includes the Chino Valley that is highly concentrated with dairymen opposing the bill, said he "will fight against it because it hurts my district. It would cause economic chaos in that prices go up and the consumer gets it in the neck."

On the other hand, he supports a bill that calls for the immediate adjudication of traffic violations in one hearing. This is initially designed to save both the working public and courts time and money.

McVittie eventually hopes to take traffic violations out of the courts completely and put them in the hands of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

"Traffic violations could be handled administratively and give the judges and court more time for trials. This could stimulate less plea bargaining and better justice," he said.

Besides saving thousands of dollars for the salaries of judges, bailiffs, court reporters and testifying police officers, it would "get the smaller cases out of the courts and improve the standards of justices so we can get more for our bucks," McVittie said.

The bill is presently in the Senate judicial committee.

McVittie also spoke of his recent appointment to the National Conference of Uniform State Laws and said he hopes to introduce all or portions of a bill for this within the next session of the state legislation.

He reported that an attempt in the last session to get lay persons and nonpoliticans appointed to the state judicial committee had failed. He said there was a need to "get noninstitutionalized thinking with lay persons on the judicial council," and he will reintroduce the bill in the upcoming session.

The assemblyman voiced concern about Assembly Bill 15, authored by Charles Warren, which would allow the state to control agricultural land and freeze land for agricultural purposes.

He questioned this "idealistic" bill and said that the "greatest resource in terms of capitalism is our land. This bill would restrict private development. It is taking away potential development rights which amounts to condemnation by the state."

This sets a possibly bad precedent, he added. Land use controls should be implemented at the local level, he said, because local cities and planning commissioners are "closer to and more responsive to the people."

Three in hospital after collision

An automobile traveling south on the Corona Freeway in Pomona struck a parked car near Holt Avenue Wednesday night, sending three persons to the hospital.

Marcos Berrera, 18, 9830 Camulos St., Montclair, was driving on the freeway when another car cut in front of him, causing Berrera to swerve to the right and hit the parked vehicle, said highway patrolmen.

Berrera and his two passengers, Crucita Alires, 21, 977 W. 17th St., Pomona and Rosemarie Rangel, 23, 1330 W. 11th St., Pomona, were taken to San Dimas Community Hospital for treatment, said officers.

Woman injured when car is hit

An Alta Loma woman was injured Wednesday when her car was struck as she slowed on Riverside Drive near Ontario to turn into a parking lot.

Sharon Jensen, 22, 5590 Vin Mar St., was admitted to Chino General Hospital where her condition today is reported as stable.

The woman had been driving west on Riverside Drive and was starting to make a turn west of Campus Avenue when her car was struck from behind by an auto operated by Morris Bean, 24, Mira Loma, said highway patrolmen.

Bean said he was behind the other car and glanced to the side of the roadway. When he looked back, he observed the car slowing in front of him.

Child, 7, hurt in collision

A 7-year-old child was injured slightly Wednesday afternoon when the car she was in was involved in a collision with another car at Towne and Bonita avenues in Pomona.

The child, Shelly Darlene Smith, was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital where she was treated for a head injury and released.

The little girl was a passenger within a car driven by Patty Lou Smith, 29, of Pomona. The other driver involved was Steven A. Sutra, 19, of Pasadena.

A traffic signal at the southwest corner of the intersection was knocked down in the accident. Neither driver was hurt.

Juveniles may have set fire

Juveniles may have set a fire that caused $500 damage to a car owned by Bobby Williams, 2260 Gambier Drive, Pomona, early Wednesdy said Fire Chief John M. Fowlkes.

Angela Seymour of the same address and a neighbor put out the fire with a garden hose, but firemen found a two-quart bottle which smelled of gasoline and a match book near the right rear tire of the car which was parked on the driveway.

Williams told firemen and the police he had been harrassed by some 11 male juveniles as he drove home at 3:30 a.m. who called, "There he is. Let's get him."

Desegregation action ordered against Pomona School District

Saying federal officials have "failed in their duties" to monitor desegregation, U.S. District Court Judge John Sirica Wednesday ordered the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to take action against 46 school districts, including the Pomona Unified School District.

Sirica told HEW officials to move against the school districts in the next 60 to 120 days, saying there had been enough delays. The order could lead to withholding of federal funds from school districts that are not in compliance with federal desegregation laws.

Pomona's Acting Schools Supt. Sidney G. Moses said the district had received no orders from the court or from HEW, "nothing at all." Funding on the 1976-77 Emergency School Aid Act (ESAA) $1.8 million application was held up by HEW, "but all charges, we think have been cleared up.

"Two years ago we were ordered to balance our teaching staff to qualify for our ESAA grant, which we did , but we have not been ordered to start busing or change our boundaries to balance enrollment."

Enrollment in the district in 1975-76 was 20,560 of which 55.95 per cent represented ethnic minorities. The district follows the neighborhood school concept and has one elementary school that is 87.63 per cent white, another that is 95.40 per cent black and another that is 63.69 per cent Spanish surnamed.

Pomona is one of the 46 districts for which HEW was given 60 days to conclude investigations and issue conclusions and 120 days to begin compliance hearings in cases where violations are found.

Plaintiffs in the case had argued that HEW officials failed to enforce the desegregation regulations throughout the country with as much enthusiasm as in the South.

None of the school districts listed by Sirica was in the South. A similar court order involving schools only in the South was directed at HEW officials several years ago, and a government study released last month said fewer students attend "intensely segregated" schools in the South than in any other section of the country.

In response to Sirica's order, Martin H. Gerry, director of HEW's Office of Civil Rights, said the government has already taken proper actions against the 46 school districts. He contended the districts are voluntarily desegregating "in virtually all instances."

Sirica cited "substantial delays of from 1½ to 8 years" in completion of HEW investigations of compliance by the 46 school districts, "during which time the school districts involved have continued to receive federal financial assistance."

But Gerry said Sirica was ruling on the basis of old information.

"I regret that the judge felt it appropriate to take this action, particularly in light of his open acknowledgement that the record in the case before him was stale," Gerry said. "The record before the judge was indeed stale."

Gerry said 21 of the school districts cited by Sirica have voluntarily agreed to compliance plans, four others are involved in enforcement procedings, one is before a federal court and HEW is preparing to take formal enforcement action against 10 others.

He said three other districts "have submitted or will soon submit voluntary compliance plans which most likely will be accepted." The investigation of New York City schools is incomplete and the "voluntary compliance process" has not been completed in the remaining districts, Gerry said.

In his order, Sirica broke the 46 districts into three categories. He ordered HEW to begin investigations of 14 districts within 60 days and initiate compliance hearings against them within 120 days if they are found to be in violation of civil rights laws. Sirica ordered hearings to be scheduled in another 26 cases.

How silly can HEW get?

That ruling by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), which would have banned father-son and mother-daughter events in public schools as violations of sex discrimination laws had it not been squelched by President Ford, is not the only — or worst — example of bureaucratic silliness emanating from this particular bureau. At least two others have come to our attention lately.

In the Perry school system near Massilon, Ohio, girls who grow moustaches or beards are henceforth barred from classrooms. The school board took this drastic action in an attempt to bring its dress code into compliance with an HEW directive. The department had said that the code discriminated against boys by limiting the length of hair and prohibiting moustaches or beards without applying similar restrictions to girls.

"To be equal, we'll have to do something about the length of boys' skirts," said school board member George Anderson during debate on the code. That step was not taken, however, so the school may still be in trouble when the HEW watchdogs find out about it.

Meanwhile, down in Shreveport, La., the Caddo Parish school system has been threatened by HEW with a cut-off of almost $700,000 in federal aid because there are more black children than white children in special education classes. The fact that there are 1,300 black children and only 900 white children enrolled in the parish's programs for the mentally retarded amounts to racial discrimination, the department alleges.

"That's the most preposterous thing I've ever heard of," says school board president Joe Garner. "What are we supposed to do, recruit? What will the federal government think of next?"

That's a question whose answer we tremble to speculate upon.

Ultimate TV lawyer

Human nature being what it is, not much can probably be done about "the law's delay" of which Shakespeare complained. Thanks to the computer, however, lawyers are being relieved of the delay and tedium involved in preparing cases.

An outstanding example of computerized legal research is a system called LEXIS, developed and marketed by Mead Data Central, Inc. Law firms, law schools, government agencies and others subscribing to the system have central computer.

In a typical example, a lawyer, using a typewriterlike keyboard, asks the computer what cases it has in its memory on a broad subject, such as civil disobedience in opposition to school busing. There are, say, 15 of these.

On command from the lawyer, the computer next displays the titles of each of the 15 references and if one looks promising, the lawyer asks it to display part of the text. If that seems appropriate for his case, he directs the computer to display the full text. Finally, he can press a key and a high-speed printer will type out the complete text for his use.

LEXIS contains every decision of the U.S. Supreme Court since 1938, all federal courts of appeals since 1959 and all district courts since 1970. It also has comprehensive collections of tax, securities and trade regulation law, as well as corporate annual reports. In addition, it currently has the state court decisions of California, Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas.

Just to keep the service up to date, 850 new decisions are added to the memory bank every week, and the job of adding earlier federal cases and the law of additional states is proceeding as fast as possible.

"No longer must legal research consume hours of a lawyer's time," says Mead president Jerome S. Rubin. The computer, he says, may even result in smaller fees for lawyers' services by making them more efficient.

If so, that would be the most startling development of all.

Writer's Day gunned down

Dear Editor:

Penny-wise and pound-foolish might sum up MSAC's decision to withdraw funding from its innovative, well-attended and inspirational Writers' Day program. This annual activity has provided community writers — high schoolers, MSAC students and other local participants — with an outlet for literary aspirations. The contests held for each of these groups covered a wide range — poetry, criticism, articles, sci fi, articles, etc. — and the recognition (and cash prizes) served as a heartening opportunity for would-be pros to be encouraged, read and rewarded.

The lectures, given by working writers of all genres (Bradbury, Jack Smith, Joseph Wambaugh, for example) sparkled with enthusiasm, making roomsful of eager listeners feel like "members of the club," hopeful of contributing somehow to our literary heritage. Even the box lunch has been a successful undertaking, featuring a decent pastrami sandwich, pastry and a fruit drink. (If the modest fee covers the cost of food and the Writers' Day magazine, I'm sure participants wouldn't mind shelling out another dollar toward other costs.)

However immodest it might seem, I myself may be one of the best reasons for the continuance of MSAC's program. In 1973, I was a student at MSAC (one of the not-unusual housewife types), delighted to win first prize in the poetry competition. Because my poems were printed in that premiere year's magazine and read by one of the guest speakers, Marian Barnett of the Center Theatre Group, I was contacted a few months later by one of the Music Center's stage directors and asked to write a play. The resulting work was well received and praised (though it hasn't yet been produced) and a television play was requested as a result of this beginning effort. I am now working on a stage musical (again, I was recruited) and have every expectation of eventual production. The exposure I received as a Writers' Day winner led to an opportunity I would not have otherwise encountered.

Not all contest winners, of course, can expect such a parlay. However, the existence of Writers' Day means the continuance of such exciting possibilities. Writers' Day has generated enthusiasm, know-how (Sterling Siliphant's advice on how to peddle a script, for example), a feeling of community and the opportunity for two-way exposure between professionals and those not yet professionals.

It's a shame that the Writers' Day "Godfathers" (as President Eldon Pearce and the Board of Trustees were gratefully designated in this year's magazine) have gunned down a successful enterprise that served the community so brilliantly. Effective, positive, service-oriented programs that are overwhelmingly well-attended are hard to come by and should be nurtured.

I hope the reports of the death of Writers' Day are highly exaggerated. If the program remains unfunded, however, the dedicated faculty members responsible for Writers' Day and its lively success over the past four years should be given thanks and credit. I recognize hard work and integrity. The community recognizes hard work and integrity. It remains to be seen if the MSAC Board of Trustees intends to encourage and sustain such qualities in the MSAC faculty.

The Not-So-White Knight

WASHINGTON — Commerce Secretary Elliot Richardson, the White Knight of the Republican Party, has fallen off his charger.

Richardson is the former attorney general who assumed heroic status two years ago when he refused a White House order to dismiss Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox and got himself fired for his courage.

This earned Richardson a reputation for integrity that has now made him a vice presidential prospect. His presence on the ticket, his supporters contend, would help to defuse the Watergate issue.

But his shining reputation has now lost some of its luster. He heads a White House task force which is reviewing U.S. corporate bribery of foreign officials. The bribes were uncovered by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The scandal has rocked the world, embarrassing governments from Italy to Japan. It has also produced some red faces in corporate board rooms.

The Commerce Dept., which Richardson now heads, usually has shown great sympathy and understanding for the corporate moguls with whom it deals. Swayed perhaps by his new environment, Richardson has written a letter to Sen. William Proxmire, D.-Wis., attacking the SEC.

The SEC was operating on "tenuous legal grounds," he charged during the bribery investigation. Therefore, he opposed legislation that would give the SEC a major role in probing corporate payoffs.

The original drafts of Richardson's letter, we have learned, contained even stronger criticism of the SEC. But cooler heads on the task force staff persuaded him to edit out the harsher language.

Richardson's attack upon the SEC appalled his task force colleagues. Another Cabinet member, who serves with Richardson on the task force, lambasted the letter as "disgraceful" and "dangerous." Other colleagues whom we polled called it a "mistake" and "ill-advised." Not a single member of the task force defended Richardson.

In the backrooms of the SEC, meanwhile, the Richardson letter has had a demoralizing effect. The SEC happens to be one of the few federal agencies that has resisted political pressure and has investigated powerful corporations fearlessly. Over 100 corporations have been investigated on bribery charges.

SEC Chairman Roderick Hills returned Richardson's fire with a sizzling letter calling Richardson's remarks "unfounded, inappropriate and ill-timed." This carried extra impact because the two men have been close frineds. Indeed, Richardson was responsible for bringing Hills and his wife, Carla, to Washington.

When Richardson was attorney general, he offered Carla a job at the Justice Dept. When he was defense secretary, he offered a Pentagon position to Roderick. Richardson also supported Carla Hills for the Cabinet. She is now secretary of housing and urban development.

Richardson has apologized for the strong language he used against the SEC. But he still wants to exclude the SEC from a major role in curbing foreign bribery.

Footnote: Richardson told us his criticism of the SEC was intended strictly as a legal argument. As for the criticism by his colleagues, he said: "I wish they would tell me those things to my face."

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Senate Democratic leaders are quietly preparing to block President Ford's key appointments until next January, hoping Jimmy Carter will then become President and will fill the vacancies with deserving Democrats . . . California's charismatic Gov. Jerry Brown has quietly prepared a master list of key Democrats, coast to coast, who have shown an interest in him for President.

We need good followers

This is going to sound dreadfully old-fashioned — because it is. I still address any superior officer, military or civil, as "sir." When we began to call our governors and legislators "Billy" and "Johnny" the leaders who used to try to measure up — started measuring down.

One of the Democrat presidential hopefuls who got left at the post this race is one of D.C.'s most articulate senators, always the epitome of sartorial propriety. It was embarrassing to see him stumping his home state tieless and in shirt-sleeves and trying so hard to sound cornball.

"We've known him from a boy," some constituents say, "of course we call him 'Frank.' "

Granted, some politicians have encouraged first name, even nickname, familiarity. Yet when our leaders are nothing above or beyond what we are, what claim have they to leadership?

Even on the golf course I address the pastor of our church as pastor because I want and expect him to be somebody special. His position as a leader imposes an obligation to be a proper example and that obligation works both ways.

I'm convinced that the secular and religious people we put on a pedestal deserve to be looked up to. And if we don't they'll climb down to our level and that is not really what we want.

Billy Graham is an exception but then he is one of a kind. Of course we called President Eisenhower "Ike" as a term of endearment — but face to face he was never anything less than "General Ike" to those who really respected him.

And whether Gerry Ford or Ronnie Reagan or Jimmy Carter is the next President, I would hope that we of the media might set an example, might seek to redignify the office with a more formal salutation.

It can be argued that to address a jurist as "Judge" or "Your Honor" does not endow him with honor he does not otherwise have, but I'm not so sure.

Common men can be motivated to conduct themselves uncommonly. And yes that goes also for doctors, professors and policemen.

Whichever is the chicken or the egg — Whether our giants shrank before or after we withdrew our deference does not really matter. Our nation was never intended to be a political democracy. Ours is a representative republic — wherein it was intended that we would elect our "best men" to make decisions in our behalf.

Instead what we have tended to do in recent years is to elect men our own size, treat them like peers, yet expect them to behave like something more than that. In a government of the people it takes good followers to make good leaders!

It might be a most appropriate Bicentennial resolution for us Indians to re-endow our Chiefs with their formal titles, then to demand that they measure up.

Just in jest

Pope was right when he wrote, "A little learning is a dangerous thing." Take a college graduate as a classic example of that statement. He has a little learning — not enough, of course, to get him too far down the road to the academic heights, but a little way. And that's where the danger starts with a little learning. From that point on out, year after year for the rest of his natural life, that graduate is going to be dunned for an Alumni Fund contribution.

Veteran groups in a turmoil

By EARL G. WATERS

Two statewide veteran groups have called for the firing of both the director and deputy director of the State Veterans Department. The demands were presented by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the association of Veteran Program Administrators for California colleges.

The board, already embroiled in a "shooting war" with Department Director Virginia Mae Days, held a special meeting in Sacramento to bare its grievances. It was so ired at the department management that it held its meeting in the borrowed supervisors' chambers rather than use its own meeting room at the Veterans Building.

Its furor stems from the elimination of funds to pay the board's executive secretary, an exempt position authorized by the constitution for all boards appointed by the governor.

According to board members the issue arose when its present aide resigned. Before the board got around to selecting a replacement, pressure was brought by Days to name a non-veteran woman. When the board balked she engineered the deletion of the funds from the budget via the governor's blue pencil.

Pointing out its legal responsibility to establish policy for the operation of the department, the board charged the elimination of the positions was an "emasculation of its powers because this responsibility cannot be accomplished without the complete and independent assistance of a full time executive".

The board is reluctant to being made completely dependent upon department personnel for decision making information. And it wants its own staff to see that its policies are carried out.

While the differences might have been worked out at the meeting neither Days nor her deputy Willie S. Ellingson, attended. This unprecedented snub of the board by the department head was further aggravated by the information that Days had banned all department personnel from the meeting. So provoked was the board that it amended its prepared statement. Initially it had called only for reinstatement of the funds. As altered it added a request for a full board meeting with the governor "to discuss the serious problems in the department" including the conveying of demands for the firing of Mays and Ellingson and the failure "of the department to carry out the policies" of the board.

The veteran groups have been unhappy with the department for many months complaining that "hard earned veteran benefits are being eroded" and "the department has not acted in the best interests of veterans."

The VFW, which adopted a resolution at its convention for the firing of Days and Ellingson, also charged the governor "has failed to meet the critical needs" of the nearly 4.0 million veterans in California.

The delay by Governor Brown in making major appointments after taking office was unusual but apparently the Veteran's Department had such low priority with him he did not fill the position for almost a year. When he did make the appointments he chose persons with little experience with veteran groups and apparently no great interest in them. Days stated at the time of her appointment that her major interest was in the reform of criminal justice. Ellingson formerly worked for the Office of Criminal Justice and Planning.

Even before their appointments the department had come under fire from legislative committees and had been the subject of critical reports issued by both the Legislative Analyst and the Auditor General.

So dissatisfied are the VFW members that they adopted a resolution calling for the establishment of standing committees in both houses of the Legislature to watchdog veteran interests and have employed a former department director, Joseph Farber, to lobby for them.

Domestic just mad at herself

Dear Ann: I read with great interest and mounting blood pressure the letter from the person who employs a "dumbbell" to do her ironing, although she did say that she was a nice person. Wasn't that sweet of her?

I have worked as a domestic in a household for several years, and if asked what qualifications you need to be able to do this type of work, I would say — a degree in practically everything from psychology to nursing. Also you should have your own teeth, because you will be grinding them a lot.

You will be working for women and men who don't have one ounce of common sense, but are authorities on absolutely everything. They consider themselves BPs (Beautiful People). But the abbreviation really stands for Bitchy Phonies because that's what most of them are. P.S. If you think this letter is rough, you should see the ones I tore up. — Another Dumbbell

Dear Friend: Willie Washington is a wonderful woman who has done housework for me for 20 years. I read her your letter and asked for a comment. Willie said, "That woman is not going to like anybody she works for because she is mad at the whole world, including herself."

Dear Ann Landers: Please reassure "Newcomer From the Old Country" that not all Americans are so crude and inquisitive about funerals as her friends and relatives. Questions asked: "Was it big?" "Did anyone faint?"

My husband and I agreed six years ago that our funerals would be simple, and even a little joyous.

When he died unexpectedly three months ago, I kept my word. I asked the funeral director to bury my darling in the red golf shirt he loved so much. Friends and relatives on both sides thought it was just lovely. These days, when the funeral industry is under attack, my advice is to find a funeral director who will let you do exactly as you please. — A Recent Widow

Dear Widow: I second the motion. And may I add, most funeral directors are extremely cooperative. If you encounter one who is not, go elsewhere.

Dear Ann Landers: I am an 18-year-old girl who knows from reading your column that you believe nothing is so destructive to a woman's skin as the sun. But I have a very white complexion and am embarrassed when I'm around girls who have gorgeous tans.

I've tried getting a little color by sunning just a little. It doesn't work. I get splotchy and look like a freak.

Is there anything I can do to get a tan so I won't feel ashamed and look so sickly? — Snow White.

Dear Snow: Use sun-tan makeup. Skillfully applied, it looks like the real thing. When summer is over take some makeup lessons and learn how to enhance your fair complexion — which many women would give their eye teeth for.

Dear Ann Landers: As a person who must diet for the rest of my life, I'd like to comment on the hostess who was mad because most of her guests ate very little and passed up her dessert.

Dieters should explain the situation to the hostess and ask her to keep their problem in mind when she cooks. Or they should bring their own food. I do the latter and no one is ever offended. Pass it along, will you, Ann? — Former Fatty

Dear F.F.: Suggestion number two is O.K. if you tell the hostess in advance. But to expect her to prepare a seaparte meal is, in my opinion, inconsiderate.

A no-nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage — What to Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Suicide uses two bullets

What kept this old boy from committing suicide was the knowledge that, if he were to do so, the insurance company wouldn't pay his wife's claim on his life policy. He thought about if for quite a spell, then came up with what he was certain would be a winner. He took the lead from a .32 calibre bullet and put it into the middle of the barrel of his loaded .38 revolver. Then he shot himself in the chest. The autopsy showed two bullets of different calibre and police noted one gun was missing. Murder, obviously. How did the detectives find out what really happened? They didn't. The insurance company was ready to pay, until the lawmen convicted the wife. The foregoing is her story.

LOVE AND WAR

Q "Ask your Love and War man to describe the 'Florentine Kiss.' "

A. He says Napoleon supposedly invented that variation. As the kissers' lips meet, the kissers' fingertips touch, squeeze and pull the partners' earlobes. It's pretty intimate. I don't want to talk about it anymore.

Q. "Which is the oldest type of ball game?"

A. Handball.

Do you know what the coconut crab of the South Pacific likes best to eat? Crab claws. It chases a land crab into a burrow, and when said land crab fortifies itself therein by sticking up one big claw over the entrance, the coconut crab twists off the claw, and dines. That coconut crab has better taste than Charlie the Tuna, what?

GREENLAND

Nobody really knows if Greenland is one island or several.

Once quoted that expert on inventions, Jerome S. Meyer, as saying the four greatest inventions of all time were the wheel, the lever, the wedge and the screw. But a client says the wedge and the screw are one and the same. Is that right?

Argument continues over whether a poisonous snake can bite itself to death. Numerous reports claim the venomous retiles are immune to their own poisons. But if that's the case how do you account for the death with its fangs in its own back.

The old scrolls that were used as official documents were bound with red ribbons. That's where we get the phrase "red tape." Client asks if it were a common expression in Shakespeare's day, this "red tape." Could have been, don't know. It doesn't turn up in his writing. First record of it was in 1696, just 80 years after Shakespeare's death. Later, Washington Irving wrote it. So did Charles Dickens.

Dr. Miller

Parakeet with a sweet tooth

DEAR DR. MILLER: Beagle, our parakeet, has a sweet tooth. Isn't this (a) unusual, (b) bad? — O.F.

DEAR O.F.: Beagle's sweet beak isn't as uncommon as you think Many caged birds are partial to sweet flavors. Bad? Not really. In fact, it can be a big advantage in getting your bird to consume desirables which otherwise it wouldn't. Beagle might belt down a slightly sweetened Tiger's milk cocktail (or some similarly beneficial high-protein beverage) or sip a vitamin syrup in his water, or even, when necessary take medications spiked with sweets. Conversely, his craving could work to his disadvantage if you indulged him in non-nutritious, hard-to-digest (but delicious) desserts and candy.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Prancer, my miniature Pinscher, has a bald spot in front of her ear. I hadn't worried much about it because she doesn't fuss with it and the skin looks OK. Do you think I should put something on it to make the hair grow anyway? — J.A.

DEAR J.A.: If you can find something that makes hair grow, don't bother putting it on your Pinscher. Package it and make a million. Prancer probably doesn't need it, anyway. Probably she doesn't need anything. You might even find that she has a similar area of comparatively thin hair in front of the other ear. The miniature Pinscher and other breeds (small shorthaired ones in particular) have this thin-haired area from just in front of the ear base extending out in a narrowing band toward the eye. (Some shorthaired cats show similar semi-hairless areas.) Should Prancer actually show a definite bald (not merely sparse) area on one side of her head and not the other, then it may indeed be a skin problem which would warrant something more substantial than a hair restorer, say, instead, her doctor's determination as to cause and treatment required, if any.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Do cats get poison ivy? Can they give it to humans? — F.B.

DEAR F.B.: Cats can come down with poison ivy (or poison oak), though less frequently than dogs. But it's far from common in either species. Even if they don't get it themselves, cats can carry the poisonous resin (from oak or ivy) and transmit it to their owners. Again, dogs do this more often since they're more likely than cats to be bounding through brush and, in the process, be picking up the poison on their hair.

Jeans breach Iron Curtain

Of all the styles the United States has to offer, it seems incongruous that "jeans" would capture the imagination of young Russians.

It has been rumored jeans are capitalistic decadence, moralistically hostile to the socialist way of life and make men and women sartorially equal.

If any of that means you can't cough in them, they're right.

A pair of jeans aren't what I would recommend as a friendly hand across the sea. You can't build a relationship for lasting peace on something that shrinks three inches around the waist, two inches in one leg, three inches in the other, fades all over the towels, and has to be washed 287 times before you can sit in them.

It's the only thing in the last 200 years the Russians don't lay claim to having invented. That should tell you something.

Frankly, my sympathy goes out to the Russian mother whose child brings home his first pair of American jeans.

"What are they?" she asks.

"They're dzhinsys, Mama."

"How much did you pay for them?"

"Fifty rubles."

"FIFTY RUBLES! That's 65 American dollars. For a pair of work overalls your father changes out of before he comes into the house!"

"But Mama, all the comrades are wearing them."

"What else do they do besides stand in the corner by themselves?"

"I'll get you a pair, Mama, and you'll see how comfortable they are."

The next afternoon, Mama is so comfortable she can barely breathe. From the crotch to the waistband, the jeans measure six inches. Mama measures twelve inches. Her blouse pops out of the jeans every time she clears her throat. When she walks, her legs sound like the German army marching into Poland.

"Sit down, Mama," suggests her son.

"I am sitting," she says. "And you say everyone in America is wearing them?"

"Yes, it makes them feel independent and free."

As her gripper pops open, Mama frowns. "Maybe we underestimate the Americans. Maybe they're tougher than we think."

Gout: the disease of kings

DEAR DR. LAMB — A couple of weeks ago my husband awakend during the night with severe pain in his big toe. He started to get up but could hardly stand, his toe was so badly swoolen. He stayed home from work on the next day thinking it would go away but it didn't.

He went to the doctor who X-rayed it and gave him a prescription, and told him he had gout and to come back the following week.

I have heard that people with gout have to give up or at least cut down on certain foods and liquids. The prescription he was given did help and he was ok'd for work in about a week.

This doctor asked my husband if any member of his family had gout. I had never heard of it being an hereditary ailment. I have heard it was either too much of something in the system or lack of something. Hope you can enlighten me.

DEAR READER — The popular image of the person with gout is a middle-aged, overweight man sitting in his overstuffed chair with his painful foot on a soft pillow on a stool, while he is eating a leg of lamb with one hand and holding a glass of wine in the other hand. That is a concept of antiquity and deserves to be relegated to the archives of medical folklore.

Gout is caused by an excess production of uric acid. The uric acid is a byproduct of the cell regeneration that goes on constantly in your body. It is literally spun off from nucleic acids that are in the nucleus of the cells. This aberration in formation of excess uric acid does tend to occur in families. The women in the family tend to have high uric acid but less often get gout.

Interestingly, the gout and high uric acid levels are commmon in active, intelligent people. Its tendency to occur in such people led to it being called the king of diseases and the disease of kings.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-3, Gout, Uric Acid, which will give you a more complete resume of what the disease is and how it is treated. Others who want this information can send a long stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Before we had the effective medicines we have today the only thing the doctors could offer the gout patient was a diet and medcine to abort the acute attack. the diets were low purine diets — literally low in those foods with lots of nuclei in them. This meant giving up the organ meats in particular and limiting the meats. However, even the strictest diet will only lower the uric acid level a little bit because the excess does not come from the food but from the excess production by the person's own body cells.

The newer medicines can block the production of excess uric acid by the body cells.That way the blood level or uric acid never gets elevated and the harm caused by the excess uric acid never occurs.

It is important for people with gout to be followed regularly. Most will have to take medicine for life to avoid gouty arthritis, acute attacks as your husband had and more serious problems. The medicines available today, through, make it possible for a person to lead a normal life otherwise.

For Friday, July 23, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't be swayed by one whose methods are not of the same high caliber as yours. Heeding this person's advice will cause your problems.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Know all about persons or firms you contract work with today. An uninformed choice will cause you a pain in the checkbook.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today, someone may not be all she appears to be. Don't tell her too much. She could do you dirt later.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Let sleeping dogs lie today. It's to no one's advantage to rehash an old family problem even though it's on your mind.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You could judge your buddies a little too harshly today. Show that kind, compassionate nature you're noted for.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You may not gain exactly what you hope for today, but don't be discouraged. There are residual benefits to more than adquately compensate.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) The early part of the day your outlook is apt to be a bit too negative. As things progress, you'll realize you were foolish to take things so seriously.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) If you catch anyone in a small deception today, refuse to deal further. Chances are they're trying to cover up something far bigger.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be extremely selective of companions today. Others will judge you by the company you keep. You'll be blamed for your cohorts' shortcomings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Shun types who aren't good team players today. Coworkers could cause some hectic problems if your ideas and methods are not in harmony.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're not too good at disguising your feelings when persons you're not fond of are around. This lack of tack may turn off other friends.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't anticipate defeats today. A negative attitude lessen your ability to face issues squarely.

Your Birthday July 23, 1976

You will form several interesting new associations this year. Just be sure the persons you ally yourself with have your high standards.

Opening lead — K ♠

Here is another hand from the ABTA quarterly. According to Betty Lind, her daughter sitting East opened with a psychic bid of one spade.

Betty bid two spades and West got into the act by trying four spades. For some reason or other North didn't double, but when Betty bid five hearts North raised her to six.

Betty ruffed the spade lead high and counted 11 easy tricks. She decided to try for the 12th by means of a trump coup.

At trick two Betty led a low trump to dummy's eight to guard against a 4-0 trump break which would spoil the potential dummy reversal. Once both opponents followed the rest was easy. She ruffed a second spade high, entered dummy with the king of clubs, ruffed a third spade high, entered dummy with the queen of diamonds, ruffed the last spade, led her last trump to overtake in dummy, discarded one club on dummy's last trump and was held to six when East kept a diamond stopper.

A nice hand but to forestall some of our scientific readers, we will mention that the hand can also be made by letting the defense hold one spade trick and developing a squeeze.

Ask the Jacobys

A Maine reader wants to know what a "Free" double means.

It is a term misapplied to a double of a game bid. The idea is that it doesn't cost you anything if your opponent makes his contract and this is entirely correct. Although it doesn't cost you as much as does an unsuccessful double of a part-score contract of two hearts or higher.

Oil nations' U.N. dues may be upped

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Experts have recommended an increase averaging more than 50 per cent in the United Nations dues paid by the oil-exporting countries that raised their prices more than two years ago.

The 13-member U.N. Committee on Contributions recommended that the 13 nations of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries together pay 2.01 per cent of the total assessed U.N. costs, which this year run to $332,587,378.

The 13 now pay only 1.28 per cent of the total U.N. budget, or about $4.25 million this year. If the budget is not increased, the OPEC nations would be assessed about $6.7 million in 1977.

The United States pays 25 per cent of the budget, or $83.2 million this year. This is the maximum for any country fixed by the 1972 General Assembly, and the committee recommended that it remain unchanged.

It recommended that the assessment of the three Soviet members — the Soviet Union, Byelorussia and the Ukraine — be reduced from 15.14 per cent to 13.33 per cent.

U.N. assessments are based on each country's ability to pay as determined by national income. The Committee on Contributions made public Tuesday a new scale of assessments for 1977-79 and said it tried to take into account the oil exporters' improved income since the current scale was set three years ago.

The new rates will take effect next Jan. 1 if approved by the General Assembly at its fall session.

Iran's dues, now 0.21 per cent, or about $698,000, would more than double to 0.43 per cent. Saudi Arabia's would quadruple from 0.06 per cent ($200,000 this year) to 0.24 per cent.

Dispatcher saves woman's life

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Eunice R. Rigg, 64, collapsed from internal bleeding shortly after picking up a phone and dialing the operator.

Wyandotte County sheriff's dispatcher, listening to the volume of sirens coming through the open phone line, was able to direct the ambulance to her apartment. The action probably saved the woman's life.

The operator had switched the call to the sheriff's office.

"The woman's voice was faint and unsteady, but I thought she said 6815 Parallel," said John G. Holt, 29, the dispatcher. He did not hear any more.

Holt sent an ambulance out Parallel Avenue and listened as the siren became louder and louder, then faded. Holt told rescue workers to turn the ambulance around and when the siren reached full pitch again, he told them to stop.

The only likely place nearby was an apartment house, so the ambulance crew, policemen and firemen started knocking on doors. Holt could hear them on the telephone. He suddenly heard seven or eight loud knocks.

"That's it, that's it," he shouted.

The apartment manager was standing by with a pass key. The ambulance crew found Mrs. Rigg on the floor, semiconscious and unable to talk.

Mrs. Riggs was hospitalized and was reported in fair condition today.

Canada buys 18 planes from Lockheed

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — The Canadian government signed a $1 billion contract today to buy 18 Orion patrol planes from Lockheed Aircraft Corp. It will be the largest single peacetime military purchase in Canadian history.

The contract results from a year of searching for a long-range patrol plane to replace the aging Argus planes that have been patrolling Canadian skies since the 1960s.

Lockheed, which will get $697 million of the $1 billion, says it is the largest international contract ever signed by the corporation. The rest of the contract price will go for ground support and training.

Robert Haack, Lockheed board chairman, said after the signing ceremony that the contract will augment the company's world prestige, show that Lockheed is a firm with technical competence, be a vote of confidence from a major world government and show that the company's reputation is not "completely tarnished."

Lockheed was chosen to supply the planes last November, despite its financial problems and the scandal stemming from millions of dollars in payoffs to promote plane sales in other countries. Haack was named chairman of Lockheed in February after the payoff scandals had broken and made it one of his first jobs to assure Canada of the firm's financial viability.

He said the Canadian military is satisfied that the Orion, with a custom antisubmarine electronics system, will do the job.

New York's tax base threatened

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York City's tax base is threatened by cuts in city services mandated under the austerity budget the city has drawn to meet federal aid requirements, according to a congressional report.

An analysis prepared for a subcommittee of the House Banking Committee says New York is meeting its immediate financial obligations, but that its future is in doubt because its tax base is being jeopardized.

Staff analyst Ruth M. Wallick assured the panel that for the short term "it appears that they (New York city officials) will have the cash to keep operating barring some unforseen occurrence."

She said state and city officials believe three years is too short a period in which to correct New York City's problems. However, "there was no consensus on how much time would do it," she said Tuesday.

After reviewing the city's performance since federal and state aid became available last fall to avert bankruptcy, the subcommittee staff said New York is meeting its responsibilities "under the tight rein of the Treasury Department.

"However, the question remains whether the city can become a viable fiscal entity when many of its essential services are being cut in such a short period of time.

"The required budget cuts, while reducing expenses, are also reducing many of the services which businesses require not only for the servicing of their corporate endeavors, but in their ability to employ and keep their labor supply."

It is imperative, it added, that while the city reduces its deficit it does not curtail essential services so as to eliminate the possibility of maintaining a decent quality of life for New Yorkers.

Citizens with dual nationality causing problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans with dual nationality lately have been giving the State Department a kingsize headache because they have been caught up in the turmoil in Lebanon and other Mediterranean troublespots.

"Our law governing rights of naturalized Americans is extremely complex," a State Department official said Tuesday. "Problems become more tangled still because each country decides who are its own citizens and who are not."

The U.S. government, according to the Immigration and Naturalization Service, does not acknowledge the right of naturalized citizens to possess dual nationality.

"When someone becomes a U.S. citizen he renounces all other nationalities," an INS official explained. "But we also take the view that, in general, such a person returning to the land of his origin may find himself innocently involved in difficult situations over which he has no control. He may, for instance, find himself drafted because authorities in the land of his birth still regard him as one of their own citizens."

This does not mean that the U.S. government would decline to help the person concerned. Laszlo Toth, for instance, is a Yugoslav-born American jailed in Yugoslavia a year ago on charges of spying. The U.S. government sought through diplomatic channels to win his release and announced Tuesday that Toth will be freed Friday.

But snarls have been piling up over an estimated 1,000 naturalized Americans of Lebanese extraction in Lebanon. Some find it hard to quit that torn land because of a variety of local pressures.

There is an uncounted number of American dual nationals and American-born citizens throughout the Mediterranean region — in Israel, in Greece, in Cyprus.

They sometimes seem to have defied, or ignored, or been compelled to overlook rules of conduct expected of them under the 1952 Immigration and Naturalization Act. Among these rules:

—Native-born and naturalized Americans must not by their own actions acquire the nationality of or swear allegiance to a foreign state;

—They cannot serve in the armed forces of a foreign power unless so authorized by the secretary of state or the defense secretary;

—They are barred from voting in foreign elections;

—And they are warned against committing any act of treason or force against the United States and against draftdodging by absenting themselves from American territory in times of war or emergency.

Any or all of these acts would be grounds under the law for the person to be stripped of his citizenship.

That, at least, was the position until 1966 when a Polishborn naturalized American citizen challenged then-secretary of State Dean Rusk. Administration officials identified the man only as Afroyim, who had voted in a 1951 Israeli election.

Because of this, the State Department sought to withhold his passport from him. In the Supreme Court hearing that followed, the judges ruled that grounds for stripping Afroyim of his citizenship did not apply because there was no evidence to show his intention to give up his American nationality.

Authors on blackjack challenged to game with stakes of $200,000

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Mathematics may meet the house in a not-so-simple blackjack game where the stakes are $200,000 and the international gaming prestige of five men.

All five have either written or contributed to books on how to play the elusive game. One of the five makes his living from the cards that fall around the magic number of "21" as well as from his writing.

"I haven't played "21" in Nevada since 1968," said Lawrence Revere, the Nevada blackjack king. "When I go into a casino, they know me. They meet me and say they're glad to see me, would I like to shoot some craps. Then they politely tell me they won't play blackjack with me."

So, he travels around the world playing the game outside the state where he lives.

Revere is one of four men who have verbally accepted a challenge from John Scarne, author, gambling consultant to hotel chains and the man who told Stars and Stripes readers in World War II how to keep from being cheated at gambling.

Scarne issued the challenge to Revere; Dr. Allan Wilson, a mathematician from La Jolla, Calif.; Dr. Edward O. Thorp, a mathematician from the University of California at Irvine and Julian Braun, a computer scientist from Chicago. That is the mathematics team, the systems team, the experts who believe it is possible to beat the house in a friendly game of "21".

Scarne has referred to all four as "windbags". He said last month in the fifth issue of the John Scarne Newsletter, a publication for gaming men in the know, that the four should prove their point for the system in a winner-take-all blackjack game.

Scarne believes that there is no system that works and no way in which to beat the house consistently. Revere, Wilson, Thorp and Braun disagree.

"The way I understand it," said Revere. "Is that Scarne puts up $100,000 and we put up $100,000. At the end of the playing time, those who are ahead take the $200,000."

Revere already has sent a notarized letter of acceptance to the challenge to John Luckman of the Gambler's Book Club here. He said that he had sent copies of that letter to Wilson, Thorp and Braun. He expected to have similar letters from them in Luckman's hands as soon as possible.

No exact date for the blackjack challenge game has been set. But it will be sometime in November at the Caribe Hilton in San Juan, P. R.

By the end of 56 hours of playing time—Luckman believes it will take about a week—the side that is ahead takes the $200,000.

What a contrast— Smith and Baker

Reggie Smith and Dusty Baker, who figured in one of the biggest plays of Wednesday's matinee at Dodger Stadium, are a contrast in performance at the plate.

Smith had four hits including two home runs, batted in two runs and scored three as the Dodgers edged the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-6 in 10 exciting innings.

Baker went hitless in five at-bats, struck out once, and failed in a sacrifice attempt with the winning run at second base in the tenth.

Smith's performance jumped his average 11 points from .230 to .241. Baker lost four points to .253. The muscular Smith has raised his average 23 points, cracked five home runs and batted in 17 runs in 26 games since joining the Dodgers. He has sparkled afield.

Baker, who has batted 54 times more than Smith (320 to 266) has only two home runs and 32 runs batted in for the season (83 games) with the Dodgers.

Baker made a game-saving catch in the ninth when he and Smith collided in right-center field with two out. The Cardinals had the go-ahead run at third base.

Former Dodger Joe Ferguson, who had tripled in the tying run in the seventh, slammed a shot that appeared headed for the gap in right center.

The 6-2, 190-pound Baker and the 6-0, 195-pound Smith got on a collision course as they raced for the ball. It appeared they both started to dive for it, tangled in mid air, then tumbled free.

Somehow Baker miraculously hung on to the baseball for the inning-ending out. Equally miraculously, neither appeared to be seriously hurt.

Down but not out

Baker, face down, held the ball up so the umpire could see it had been caught. Then he got quickly to his feet.

Smith was stretched out flat on his back, arms outstretched for nearly a minute. Then, slowly and laboriously, he got up and stood, head bowed, hands on knees for another minute or two.

"We hit pretty hard," Smith told writers after the game. "Both of us weigh nearly 200 pounds and maybe that's how we were able to come through it okay

"When we hit, it jammed my left shoulder against my head and I was stunned. I was afraid my shoulder was hurt again. But when I realized I was all right, I got up.

Baker complained of a headache, but seemed unhurt otherwise.

Both were obtained for the power and hitting. Both were said to be fine defensive players. Both got off to very slow starts this season.

But Smith seems to be everything he was supposed to be. Meanwhile the jury remains out on Baker. Dusty hit a home run his first time up this season then batted 298 times before he hit another.

And while the switch-hitting Smith looks like a fine defensive outfielder. Baker has displayed a strong but inaccurate arm and has shown an annoying habit to throw to the wrong base.

In the last 10 games, Smith has averaged a scorching .390 (16-for-41) while batting in 11 runs and scoring 10. But it was a hard pull before that.

Smith knew he'd hit

"I never gave up," he said quietly. "I knew I could hit well and now I'm doing it. As for the home runs, I have the power to hit them and when I hit the ball well, it goes."

"I studied the St. Louis pitchers while I played for them," he admitted. "There had been rumors I would be traded and I wanted to be able to hit well against their pitchers.

And so the Dodgers continue their pursuit of the powerful Cincinnati Reds. San Diego comes in for games tonight and tomorrow to close out the home stand.

If the Dodgers are to gain any ground on the Reds, three things must happen. (1) There has to be better run production, (2) Baker has to hit, and (3) Don Sutton and Burt Hooton have to pitch better than they have so far.

The Dodgers leave an awful lot of runners in scoring position, runners that reach second or third base with less than two out.

The total left on base Wednesday was 10. Tuesday night it was seven, Monday night nine. In the seven games played so far on this homestand, the Dodgers have left a total of 52 men on base!

Sutton walked seven in six innings Wednesday and gave up three earned runs. For the season he is lucky to be 10-8 because he has a 4.56 earned run average.

Hooton, after winning 18 and losing only seven with a 2.81 ERA with the Dodgers after being obtained from the Chicago Cubs last year, has been a major disappointment so far.

The husky Texan has a 6-10 record and a 4.00 ERA.

Nadia gets gold, turns 'human'

MONTREAL (AP) — She was the closest thing to perfection the Olympics have ever seen. She was cool and poised beyond her meager 14 years at a massive, jostling international news conference.

But Nadia Comaneci was just a little girl, subject to all the human faults, at the presentation ceremonies.

The gold medal as the Games' all-around gymnast was around her neck, some incredible marks were in the books and some vanquished Russians were at her sides when Nadia turned to watch the Romanian flag being raised.

Just as the first strains of the Romanian national anthem sounded—while a worldwide television audience of a billion people watched, while thousands of newsmen were proclaiming her the queen of the Games—Nadia turned human.

Just once, and just for a moment, this petite package of perfection turned human. At that poignant moment, one for which she had trained through most of her life, she screwed up her face in a grimace—a typical teenage effort to stifle an itching nose.

And America's all-conquering male swimmers turned human, too. But not much. They won all the medals they could in Wednesday's events—they still haven't been beaten—but, for the first time in the Games, they failed to break a world record.

Like Nadia's, it wasn't much of a lapse. It came in the men's 100-meter butterfly. To make up for the failure to break Mark Spitz' 4-year-old record, the Americans turned it into another 1-2-3 sweep, their third of the Games.

The sweep by Matt Vogel, Fort Wayne, Ind., Joe Bottom, Santa Clara, Calif., and Gary Hall, Fayetteville, N.C., along with a winning, world-record time of 7 minutes, 23.22 seconds in the men's 800 freestyle relay, pushed the male swimmers medal accumulation so far to all seven gold medals awarded, five silver and three bronze in four days.

In all, the American team now has 10 gold, eight silver and four bronze. East Germany is second with seven gold, five silver and four bronze while Russia, also the beneficiary of a women's swimming sweep, is third with six, six and one. No other nation has more than one gold medal.

In addition to the swimmers, the United States also got a gold and a silver from its shooting team. Included was the first Olympic medal ever acquired by a woman in that sport.

Margaret Murdock, 33, who's in nursing training at Topeka, Kan., took the silver in a controversy with officials. It may yet turn out to be a gold, or a piece of a gold.

U.S. team manager Joe Berry said he was asking officials to reconsider and award two golds. Miss Murdock was originally named the winner with 1,162 out of a possible 1,200 in the small bore rifle, three positions, with Army Capt. Larry Bassham, Bedford, Tex., one point behind.

After a 3½-hour check, officials discovered a clerical error had been made, giving the two Americans the same score. Under international rules, the last 10 shots from the kneeling position are used to break the tie. And the reluctant Bassham was named the winner.

"This is arbitrary rubbish about ties," Capt. Bassham said. "There should be two Olympic champions this time." At the least, he said, he plans to have Miss Murdock hold the gold medal jointly with him at the presentation ceremony today.

The Americans also survived another scare in basketball, saw one of their boxers move into prime position for a medal after a decisive victory over his chief opponent, a Russian, and had the first and second qualifiers, Capt. Phil Boggs of the U.S. Air Force Academy and Bob Cragg, Maple Glen, Pa., going into tonight's finals in the men's three-meter platform diving.

The basketball team, now 3-0 in the round-robin tournament, trailed tough Yugoslavia by four points at halftime and had all three centers in foul trouble before pulling out a 112-93 decision behind Scott May, with 26 points, and Adrian Dantley, with 27.

Russia also remained unbeaten with a 108-85 rout of Canada. The Americans automatically go to 4-0 tonight when they pick up a forfeit against Egypt, which has withdrawn its team from the Games.

Davey Armstrong, Puyallup, Wash., gave a classic performance of boxing and punching in a unanimous decision over Anatoly Volkov, the Russian who stopped him in two rounds in a bout in Moscow early this year.

The attention of the Games, however, was riveted on little Nadia and her flying exhibitions in the finals of the women's all-around gymnastics. And she didn't disappoint anyone—unless it was her Russian challengers, Nellie Kim and Ludmila Tourischev, for years the queen of the world's gymnasts. Miss Kim eventually finished second, Miss Tourischev third.

Nadia, cool and almost forbidding out of the gymnasium, scored her fourth and fifth perfect 10 scores, this time on the balance beam and uneven parallel bars. Before these Games, no score of 10 had been awarded in Olympic competition. She finished with a total score of 79.275 of a possible 80.

And the sober-faced little girl took it all in stride.

"I feel good, nothing special," she said through an interpreter. "I feel quite normal today, as on other days."

She plans a vacation on the Black Sea, swimming and riding her bike. And she's taking with her a huge doll given by her trainer "because I did so well."

Gary Hall, a medical student at Cincinnati, says he's taking a lifetime vacation from competition after his bronze medal finish in the 100 butterfly.

"I'm delighted with the sweep," he said, "and I'm not disappointed to finish third. But that's it. I won't compete again."

Vogel's winning time was 54.35.

The relay team of Mike Bruner, Stockton, Calif., Bruce Furniss, Santa Clara, Calif., John Naber, Menlo Park, Calif., and Jim Montgomery, Madison, Wis., chopped more than seven seconds off its own record. Russia was second and Great Britian third.

East Germany's domination of the women's swimming events ended when the Russians swept the 200 breaststroke.

JUBILATION

With 'pyramid power'

Sizemore beats Cardinals

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ted Sizemore is a believer in pyramid power.

He has a pyramid hanging in his locker at Dodger Stadium and he reads constantly about the subject.

Still, he is kidded by his Los Angeles Dodger teammates, Or, at least, he used to be kidded.

Sizemore drove in the winning run in the 10th inning Wednesday, giving the Dodgers a 7-6 victory over St. Louis, and afterward said, "Now maybe some of these guys will believe me."

"Pyramid power" has to do with stored-up energy, something Sizemore has plenty of. He had not appeared since before the All-Star break and still he walked up to the plate, the 33rd player to get into the game, and promptly ended it with a base hit.

The victory was the Dodgers' 10th in 12 meetings with St. Louis and it was two former Cardinals, Sizemore and Reggie Smith, who gave their former team the most trouble.

Smith slugged two homers Wednesday and also singled twice. In five games against the his former teammates Smith has five homers, eight runs batted in and is hitting .476 (10-for-21). Sizemore is 10-for-20 against St. Louis.

"I'd be lying if I said it wasn't more satisfaction coming out of my slump against the Cardinals," Smith admitted, "But the main satisfaction is that we won the game."

It was a wild one, with the Cardinals jumping out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning against Don Sutton, then the Dodgers coming right back with three in the bottom of the first against John Denny, one of Dave Lopes' second homer in as many days.

But it was an error by Lopes that led to three St. Louis runs in the sixth inning that momentarily got the Cardinals even at 5-5.

Pinch hitter Lee Lacy doubled home a run in the Dodgers' half of the sixth for a 6-5 lead but Joe Ferguson's triple, that followed a walk to Ted Simmons, got St. Louis even again in the seventh.

It remained tied until the 10th when Simmons' throwing error enabled Bill Russell to reach second with nobody out. He eventually scored on Sizemore's pinch single.

The Dodgers came up with two game-saving plays, one by Ron Cey who made a diving stab of Lou Brock's liner in the eighth with a runner at second, and Dusty Baker's sprawling catch of Joe Ferguson's fly in the ninth with a runner at third. Baker and Smith plowed into one another trying for the catch but Baker came out of it with the ball — and a headache.

"I don't know if it's the best catch I've ever made," Baker said, "but it's the best I've made running into somebody."

DODGER DATA — Tonight will be Pomona Night. Nancy Wahl of Chino will be the honorary "batgirl." Members of the Pomona Junior Chamber of Commerce will throw out the first ball.

Rick Rhoden (9-0) will try to make it 10 in a row tonight. The San Diego Padres are in for the last two games of the homestand and will start Dan Spillner (2-9).

Ted Simmons, whose error set up the winning run Wed., was making his 1976 debut at third base. With former Dodger Joe Ferguson doing most of the catching for St. Louis, Simmons has been moved to the infield playing mostly first base.

The Dodgers wound up season play against the Cardinals with a 10-2 mark, their best against any club.

Sizemore has now hit in the last eight games in which he has appeared.

Stones doesn't like facilities

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Dwight Stones, the United States' outspoken high jumper, is particularly outspoken about what he calls the "unfinished" living quarters for athletes at the Olympic Games in Montreal.

"I think the situation stinks," Stones said Wednesday after returning to Long Beach State to await his event in Montreal Friday of next week.

"I think it's total rudeness to the athletes. I had a single in Munich and I thought it was bad, but I hadn't seen anything yet," he continued.

"I would have thought they would want to be proud of the facilities, do a good job."

Stones, the world record holder in the high jump and considered the United States' best bet for a gold medal in the field events in Montreal, said he roomed with 11 others and was usually last in line for the only bathroom in the Olympic village flat.

"It causes a problem too, because everybody keeps different hours," said Stones. "Some go to bed early, some come in late, and some don't come in at all."

He said, though, there was no problem between late and early risers in the morning.

"There's so little to do, everybody's sleeping really late. That's bad, because it has a tendency to make you sluggish."

Stones, who won a bronze medal in the Munich Olympics, said he plans to fly back to Montreal Monday. The high jump qualifying is scheduled Friday, and rules dictate that a competitor must be on hand 72 hours prior to the competition.

He said his decision to return to California met no opposition from Olympic officials.

"I talked about it, and some of the officials said okay. They told me I was lucky to have the money to do it. But it really didn't matter whether I could afford it or not, I was going to leave.

"I'm an extreme person. I react to things that aren't right violently, particularly when they have an effect on my event."

Stones said another U.S. high jumper, Bill Jankunis, also left the Olympic village, returning to New York to work out and wait.

"I think it will give me a huge advantage," Stones said of his return to Long Beach. "After one workout here, I feel 10 times better."

He said he was aware Montreal had problems with labor strikes while the Olympic facilities were being built, but added, "A little more planning and few less strikes and things could have been okay."

Cards drop Dennis Shaw

ST. LOUIS — Quarterback Dennis Shaw, former Mt. San Antonio College star, cleared waivers Wednesday and became a free agent after being reinstated by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Shaw, whose parents live in Claremont, was stunned when the Cardinals announced his "retirement" two weeks ago. He plans to continue playing and hopes to hook on with another club.

Shaw was a high school star at Pomona Catholic (now Damien) and finished his college career at San Diego State. He was Associated Press Rookie of the Year for Buffalo in 1970.

PERFECT CHARMER

Romania's Nadia Comaneci waves to crowd Wednesday in Montreal after receiving gold medal in women's all-around gymnastics. Thus far, the 14-year-old has earned an unprecedented five perfect scores in competition.

Russia quits water polo

MONTREAL (AP) — The Soviet Union, defending Olympic champion in water polo, announced today it was pulling out of that competition. The president of the sport's governing body said the action was "unsportsmanlike" and recommended disciplinary measures.

The Russians, upset earlier in the week by Holland, forfeited their match scheduled for today against Cuba.

Waves hire Patti Meyers

MALIBU — Patti Meyers, a member of the talented Meyers basketball family, has been named head coach of the Pepperdine women's basketball team, it has been announced by Women's Athletic Director Laurie Billes.

Meyers replaces the departing Marcia Cantrell, who recently was named women's head coach at the University of Southern California.

Meyers, who has been somewhat overshadowed in basketball by brother Dave (Milwaukee Bucks) and sister Ann (UCLA), owns very impressive cage credentials in her own right.

Her college playing career began at Fullerton Junior College in 1965. She soon became the Most Valuable Player on a Fullerton JC team that captured three straight California state championships.

Patti then transferred to Cal State Fullerton, where she engineered another state title in 1969.

All-Stars play Steelers Friday

CHICAGO (AP) — Great running, a strong defensive but a questionable quarterbacking corps is what the College All-Stars will unveil Friday night when they meet the two-time Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers Friday night in Soldier Field.

The midsummer football classic in which the pros hold a 30-9-2 edge will be nationally televised (ABC, 6:30 p.m., PDT).

Down through the years the All-Stars have had the talents of such great name quarterbacks as Sammy Baugh, Cecil Isbell and Otto Graham and recent standouts like Roger Staubach, Steve Bartkowski and Bert Jones.

The No. 1 pro draft pick this year was Richard Todd of Alabama but Todd did not report to camp, leaving the quarterbacking duties to Mike Kruczek of Boston College, Craig Penrose of San Diego State and Jeb Blount of Tulsa.

One of them will get the starting job and all three might get to play because of their various abilities and Coach Ara Parseghian is hoping one of them will get the hot hand which will enable the All-Stars to end an 11-game losing streak to the pros.

The All-Stars have not won a game in the series since 1963 when they upset the late Vince Lombardi's Green Bay Packers 20-17.

"Each excels at a particular type of skill and each maybe has a little shortcoming," said Parseghian, "But there's no perfect football player.

"Significantly, all appear to have tremendous competitive instincts, which is a super asset. Kruczek probably is a little faster, but Penrose and Blount probably can throw the ball better. I think all three are excellent leaders in the huddle and they have the respect of their teammates," said Parseghian.

Kruczek set an all-time pass completion percentage record of .673, hitting on 225 of 337 attempts in three years at Boston College to erase the record of .631 held by Staubach, now one of the National Football League's top passers with Dallas.

Penrose led the nation in passing last season with 198 completions in 349 attempts for a .567 percentage. He threw for 15 touchdowns and 2,660 yards.

Blount completed 356 of 654 passes for 5,123 yards in his career at Tulsa. He threw for 13 touchdowns last season.

Although the Stars have a great array of running backs this time around, it will be impossible for them to even hope for a victory if they are unable to mount a passing attack.

San Dimas exams set

Physical examinations for varsity and junior varsity football players at San Dimas High will be conducted on Thursday, July 29, beginning at 6 p.m. at the boys' locker room.

Cross country runners and freshman football players may take their physical exams on Thursday, Aug. 5, at 6 p.m. in the boys' locker room.

There is a fee of $1 for the exams.

Harris wants job

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — James Harris' statistics include a 17-4 regular season record as the Los Angeles Rams quarterback, and a pass completion average of around 55 per cent for 3,692 yards and 25 touchdowns over the past two years.

Yet he's drawn more boos than any Rams player in memory.

And at Los Angeles' training camp here, Harris is fighting for his job, despite some assurance from Coach Chuck Knox that he's still the starting quarterback.

Had it not been for a shoulder injury he suffered late last season, things might be different for Harris.

He watched Ron Jaworski lead the Rams to victory in the final two games of the regular season, then was still sidelined when Jaworski guided Los Angeles to a playoff-opening triumph over St. Louis.

Harris started the next playoff game, but played only briefly and Jaworski finished up in the Rams' 37-7 loss to Dallas.

Harris, a normally quiet individual, is more silent than usual during training camp. He avoids questions about the competition with Jaworski — and newcomer Pat Haden — for the quarterback job, and answers hesitantly when questioned about the booing last season.

Asked about the boos, Harris, the only black starting quarterback in the league, lowered his eyes and said guardly, "I got bad vibes. I don't see any other quarterbacks with comparable statistics having the problems I have."

The reserved Harris appears conservative in contrast with the flamboyant, talkative Jaworski, but he said he doesn't believe that has anything to do with his "problem."

"There are plenty of other quarterbacks in the league who are quiet types and who aren't booed," he said. "Everyone has his own style."

Harris admitted the boos, particularly loud at the Los Angeles-Dallas playoff game, got to him a little.

"Since I've been with Los Angeles," he said, "I think I've played consistent football and have done the job I was expected to do. When the fans boo me, I think maybe they forget that. But I do my best not to let it get me down.

"It's not the first time. I've been through rough times before," said Harris, who started just three games in as many years with the Buffalo Bills before being released and picked up by the Rams in 1972.

Some of the Ram followers' disenchantment with Harris apparently stems from the fact that, despite fine records in the last two seasons, the team did not make it to the Super Bowl.

He said not making it to the Super Bowl last season was very disappointing, adding that it was nice to have another good shot at it this year.

"But," he said, "sooner or later your next years run out."

Pincay wins 3

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Laffit Pincay Jr. rode three winners Wednesday, including Pisistrato in the feature for an $8, $3.40 and $2.40 payoff, to close within two wins of Sandy Hawley as leading rider for the meeting at Hollywood Park.

Hawley won two races Wednesday to move to 115 wins, while Pincay, with his triple, moved to 113.

In the feature, the $37,750 Marina Del Rey Handicap, Pisistrato entered the stretch in third position but finished strong to outdistance Mark's Place by a nose. Time for the 1 1-16 mile test for three-year-olds and up was 1:41.

Mark's Place paid $3.60 and $2.60. Money Lender and Holding Pattern finished in a dead heat for third with each paying $2.40.

Pincay was in the irons on Victory Shoes for a two-length victory in the second race for a $5, $3.20 and $2.80 payoff.

His second win came in the seventh race aboard Rocket Review. The payoff was $4.80, $2.60 and $2.40.

FIGHTING FOR JOB — James Harris is battling to keep his starting quarterback job with the Rams this season.

Basketball merger looks good again

NEW YORK (AP) — Two more obstacles to the pro basketball merger of the National Basketball Association and four former American Basketball Association teams were eliminated when tentative settlements were reached Wednesday on problems involving the Oscar Robertson antitrust suit and the St. Louis-Utah franchise.

The NBA and its Players Association apparently removed one roadblock when they tentatively settled their differences in the Robertson suit during a meeting with U.S. Dist. Judge Robert Carter, who is in charge of overseeing the suit and the merger between the two leagues.

However, approval of the agreement is still required by the NBA Board of Governors, composed of the 18 NBA team owners. NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien said the Board would be notified of the agreement by telex Thursday. He expected results of the vote by Monday with a three-fourths majority, or 14 yes votes, needed for approval.

No details of the agreement were released, but O'Brien said "I have changed from pessimistic to reasonably optimistic" of approval. He added that the NBA's Advisory Board favored the agreement.

"If it is approved we would expect court approval of the Robertson settlement and the signing of documents with the ABA expansion teams to occur in a matter of days," O'Brien said.

On another front, ABA counsel Bob Carlson said the four ABA teams included in the merger agreement had settled their differences with the St. Louis-Utah franchise relating to the amount of money the franchise will receive for its players in a dispersal draft. Carlson said he expects final papers on the agreement will be signed shortly.

The St. Louis-Utah franchise, along with Kentucky, had not been included in the recent merger agreement and earlier this week tried to get a temporary restraining order to prevent a merger until it had worked out a financial settlement with the other ABA teams.

The NBA and its Players Association had reached a tentative settlement on the Robertson suit last February, but in the past few weeks the players had claimed the spirit of the agreement in respect to the contracts being offered top rookies was being violated by the NBA.

The players claimed they were being forced into unfair multi-year contracts. The owners were saying the agreement said nothing about the length of contracts, only that they offer rookies minimum salaries.

Earlier this week, both sides expressed doubt that the differences could be resolved, particularly before Judge Carter leaves on vacation July 30. In such a case, the Robertson class-action suit, which claims the NBA's common draft and option clause violate antitrust laws, might have been brought to trial in the fall.

Any trial no doubt would have shelved at least for the coming season the merger agreement reached in June.

Kicking around

With Adrian Mercado and Willie Keo

LAST FRIDAY NIGHT we traveled from the Pomona Valley to the San Fernando Valley to join the other 6,123 fans gathered together at Birmingham Stadium to see the match between the L.A. Skyhawks and the Sacramento Spirits. At game time the Skyhawks led the Western Division of the ASL while the Spirits brought up the rear. At games' end the Skyhawks walked away richer by seven points and the visitors had nothing to show for their efforts.

The "yellow birds" tallied for their only goal of the half at the 17th minute when Tony Whelan crossed the ball, from right to left, to Alty McKenzie who quickly put it in the net.

The Skyhawks outshot the Spirits thirteen to one by the time the whistle blew to close the first half, but by that time the contest had deteriorated into sloppy play which ultimately gave way to a fouling contest.

The second goal materialized when Tony Whelan dribbled down the left alley . . . the ball took a bad bounce skipping past fullback Robert Steinberg . . . Whelan recovered the ball and crossed it to Moshe Hoftman who in turn took a running shot that exploded into the net for the final score of the game.

You can see the Skyhawks at home again on Saturday, July 31, when they give the Spirits an opportunity to get even.

WITH SEVEN GAMES remaining in the season the L.A. Aztecs are hot . . . so hot in fact that they bombed the Boston Minutemen 8-0 last Sunday afternoon at El Camino College and have set their sights on first place in the NASL's Southern Division.

The stakes will be high at El Camino College this coming Sunday when the Aztecs host San Jose in a 2:30 kickoff. San Jose currently leads the division with 96 points with L.A. trailing behind by a single point.

Three of the top five scorers in the NASL, as well as the all-time leading scorer of the NASL, Ilija Mitic, will see action on Sunday. Paul Child stands third and Mark Liveric fifth on the scoring chart of the NASL.

George Best led the scoring in the last two victories over San Jose and against Boston and moved to within one point of Pele in the league scoring race.

Both San Jose and Los Angeles play just prior to Sunday's confrontation as the Earthquakes take their five-game winning streak to San Diego Friday nite, and the Aztecs travel to Vancouver seeking a fifth straight victory and their first victory ever in Canada.

Charlie Cooke, completely controlling the Aztecs' midfield, scored two goals and added three assists in the Boston Victory. American midfielder John Mason also tallied twice in the Boston win giving him five goals on the year. George Sorgic scored his first goal as an Aztec.

Goalie Bill Mishalow recorded his first shutout in winning his fourth game in as many starts. Mishalow, an American walk-on, showed no effects of the injury which forced him to leave the San Diego game.

THE OLYMPIC GAMES have taken an unusual turn as three of the soccer finalists have withdrawn from play. Ghana, Nigeria, and Zambia have forfeited all their games.

BRAZIL 0, EAST GERMANY 0: Both teams apparently were overcautious and obviously played for a draw. Neither team showed much interest in scoring with the only save of the first half occurring when Germany's goalie Croy stopped a shot taken by Chico Fraga.

In the second half the South Americans showed more enthusiasm in their offensive plays but made the error of playing the ball high making it easy for the German defense to head the ball away.

The 21,643 fans that saw the game whistled, and booed as both teams constantly played the ball back to their defensemen and finally to their goalie in what seemed a determined effort not to run any risks and play for the tie.

At the post game press conference Claudio Coutinho, the Brazilian coach, said "It turned out just like we wanted. We played to get a tie. In the second half we had to use our fullbacks as forwards because our forwards were being guarded extremely close. The final result was just great and we expect a victory against Spain."

BRAZIL 3, SPAIN 1: Brazil's plan of getting to the quarter-finals by tieing East Germany and defeating Spain obviously worked as the South Americans played a completely different game than against the Germans. Their mission was to score goals which they did and become one of the two teams from their Group A to go on to the next round. Now, East Germany and Spain must do battle today, Thursday, for the remaining slot in this group. Germany need only tie Spain to qualify. Zambia forfeited all games in this group.

FRANCE 4, MEXICO 1: France took the lead in Group B by soundly defeating Mexico in Lansdowne Park. The loss to the Mexicans may be explained by their very poor first half and the unquestionable superiority of the French team. The Mexican's midfield was unable to organize attacks and defensively allowed the French to control the midfield at will.

GUATEMALA 0, ISRAEL 0: From the opening whistle Israel went on the attack but their efforts were equaled by a very strong Guatemalan defense that effectively neutralized every thrust. In the second half, the Central Americans opened up a bit to counter attack but their efforts also produced no goals. The next contest will pit France against Guatemala and Israel against Mexico (the results will become available today). Should France qualify, Guatemala, Israel, and Mexico will have to scramble for the other coveted slot.

IRAN 1, CUBA 0: Iran surprised everyone by becoming the first team in Group C to qualify for the quarter finals. The Iranians earned the right to represent the Asia/Oceania Area by edging out Kuwait, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, and Bahrain, but everyone expected Poland to be the team to qualify first.

POLAND 0, CUBA 0: Uruguay withdrew from their earned slot in these Olympics because they felt their amateur team had no chance to win against the communist "pros" playing as amateurs; Poland's olympic team came out third in the 1974 World Cup competition. Argentina, Colombia, and Bolivia also passed up the offer to take Uruguay's slot. Cuba, who had been eliminated by Mexico and Guatemala, in the CONCACAF area grabbed at the offer and surprised everyone and even more the Poles by playing most of their team on defense to gain a scoreless tie. Today, Iran and Poland vie for the points. All Poland needs is a tie to move to the next round. Nigeria withdrew from this group forfeiting all their games.

RUSSIA 2, CANADA 1: With goals at the eighth and 11th minutes of play the Russians had the game in the bag and began to toy with the Canadiens who refused to roll over and play dead. The cat and mouse game, however, almost turned into Russian roulette for the Soviets when, with two minutes remaining to play, Jim Douglas put the ball in the net for the home team. The Canadiens with the crowd behind them poured it on and one minute later Russia's defenseman Stefan Resko saved his team from disaster when he cleared away a shot by Carl Rose right from the goal mouth. Russia thus qualified for the next round with the winners of the match between North Korea and Canada in a game played yesterday. Ghana withdrew from this group and forfeited all points.

STEVE NERKOWSKI

Chaffey honors go to swimmer

Steve Nerkowski, a record-breaking freshman swimmer from Fontana, has won Chaffey College's Harry D. Wiser trophy as Athlete of the Year for 1975-76.

Named as Outstanding Woman Athlete of the Year in the annual awards ceremonies was Upland's Connie Wilcox.

Nerkowski shattered a ten-year-old school record in the 200 yard breaststroke by nearly three seconds last season, notching a 2:19.3 clocking at the California State (Junior College) Championships in May. The previous mark of 2:22.0 had been established in 1966 by another Fontanan, Tom Smith.

At the same meet Nerkowski was joined by three other Chaffey swimmers to form a record-setting 400 medley relay team that cut four seconds off the old school mark with a time of 3:51.3.

Nerkowski's work last fall led the Panther water polo squad to a fourth-place finish in the conference, as he scored 45 goals and was tabbed as "Most Valuable Player" by the polo group.

According to CC swimming coach Randy Grimm, Steve "Has done more than his share to make aquatics at Chaffey College successful. It was Steve's skill and motivation that made him a unanimous choice for an All Mission Conference team position."

"Last year," added Grimm, "We talked about some end-of-the-season goals that he should shoot for, and he succeeded in realizing every one of them. And the best part of this whole thing is, that Steve will be back with us again next year."

Ms. Wilcox, an Upland High graduate, participated as an outstanding catcher and shortstop in the women's softball program for two seasons.

The physical education major was a guard on the Chaffey women's basketball team last fall, and distinguished herself academically as well as on the playing field.

Miller may not be hungry yet

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Johnny Miller, only two weeks away from his British Open championship, just might not be hungry enough to win his first Canadian Open.

But, perhaps for inspiration, he brought his British Open trophy for display at the Essex Golf and Country club while joining 149 other professional golfers for the 67th Canadian Open which began today.

The 72-hole, $200,000 tourney—which has drawn nearly all the game's top names—runs through Sunday at the par-70, 6,696-yard course located about 10 miles south of Detroit.

"Ideally, I win after a layoff," Miller said, after a practice round Wednesday. "...I'd like to break that pattern. Usually I have to go home and get hungry before I can win again."

Last week, following his British Open triumph, he tied for 17th in the $300,000 Westchester Classic at Harrison, N.Y.

Miller said the Essex course "is so perfect" that "you can play for fun."

"I could see myself shooting a very low round," he said. "But I can see having a mediocre driving round and getting a lot of bogies. It's not too short or easy. It's very representative of a championship course."

"There are not probably 10 courses in the world with greens this good," he added.

Miller said Essex is the best course he's ever played in the Canadian Open and the best this season "since Pebble Beach."

"This guy Ross must have been a genius. The greens are big like they should be on long holes and small like they should be on the shorter ones."

Skyhawks blank Utah

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Skyhawks shut out the Utah Golden Spikers 1-0 Wednesday night on a shot that bounced into the goal off of a Utah player.

Los Angeles got its only goal 40 minutes into the game when Jimmy Rolland took a pass from midfielder Ane Mihailovich. He shot from 15 yards out. The shot hit the cross bar, but it then hit a Utah player and bounced back into the goal.

The Skyhawks had to win to maintain their lead in the American Soccer League. More than 5,400 fans saw Skyhawk goalie Marine Cano record his second straight pro shutout in Birmingham Stadium.

Colt playoff ducats offered

Ontario's John Galvin Park will be hosting the upcoming Colt League regional and divisional playoffs.

The Colt regionals are set for August 4 through August 8 and will include teams from San Diego, Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside counties in addition to host team Ontario.

The divisional playoffs are scheduled for August 11 through August 15 and will include the top Colt teams from the Western States and Hawaii.

The Ontario Colt League Tourney Committee is offering booster passes to the public for each tourney. The passes cost $3 for each tournament and will be good for all games in that tourney.

Passes are available from Ontario Colt League players or league representatives. For further information, call Charles Penigar at (714) 984-8531 or (213) 962-9966.

'A's not same'—Hunter

By The Associated Press

The Oakland A's haven't been the same since Catfish Hunter left—and no one knows it better than Catfish Hunter.

"Oakland doesn't have the defense now," says the New York Yankee pitcher.

On Wednesday night, they didn't have the offense, either— losing a 10-1 decision to their former teammate.

"There are only four guys playing regularly on the A's now," said Hunter. "And there are only 10 players at the most who are still there that I played with in 1974."

Hunter, who came to the Yankees after escaping from Oakland through a legal loophole in his contract, has treated the onetime world champions with utter disdain since 1974. Hunter holds a 5-1 edge over the team he once led to three world titles.

It is only the shell of a team that was once the scourge of the American League, however. Hunter's departure triggered an exodus of good players including outfielder Reggie Jackson and pitcher Ken Holtzman.

Hunter, 12-8, scattered nine hits and got ample batting support from Thurman Munson. The Yankee catcher drove in five runs with a three-run homer and two singles.

Orioles 6, Rangers 4

Paul Blair, hitting only .206 at game time, socked a two-run homer off Joe Hoerner in the top of the 12th inning to lead Baltimore over Texas. Blair's blast, his second of the season, followed a walk to Bobby Grich and gave the victory to reliever Tippy Martinez, 3-0.

Reggie Jackson hit his 14th home run in the first off Texas starter Bert Blyleven and Ken Singleton added a two-run single in the seventh to account for Baltimore's other runs.

Twins 5, Red Sox 1

Bob Randall drove in two runs with a third-inning double to help Dave Goltz and Minnesota defeat Boston.

Goltz, 8-8, stopped a personal five-game losing streak as he pitched the first seven innings. Rick Wise, 7-8, started for the Red Sox, but was lifted after three innings.

White Sox 4-3, Tigers 1-0

Lamar Johnson drove in two runs and pitcher Chris Knapp won his first major league game with a four-hitter as Chicago beat Detroit in the first game of a doubleheader.

Bucky Dent drilled a two-run triple in the fourth inning and Bart Johnson scattered six hits to carry Chicago to a sweep in the second game.

Brewers 5, Royals 0

Von Joshua and Tim Johnson collected two hits apiece as Milwaukee beat Kansas City with the help of six errors by the Royals.

The victory went to Bill Travers, 11-7, who gave up four hits in 6 2-3 innings, walked six, threw two wild pitches and hit two batters. Al Fitzmorris, 11-6, who made one of the Royals' errors, was victimized by the faulty support.

Phillies 5, Padres 1

Jim Kaat won his 10th game with ninth-inning help from Gene Garber while Tommy Hutton hit a three-run homer, his first of the season. Kaat is baseball's winningest active pitcher with a 245-191 mark. Jay Johnstone led the Phils' 11-hit attack with a double and two singles.

Pirates 5-4, Astros 1-1

Spot starter Larry Demery allowed two hits after flirting with a no-hitter for 6 2-3 innings in the nightcap. In the opener, Jerry Reuss scattered nine hits and Bill Robinson socked a two-run homer. Pittsburgh's Frank Taveras stole three bases in the twin bill to take over the NL lead with 32.

Demery, making only his fourth start of the season, had a no-hitter until Jose Cruz singled with two out in the seventh.

Expos 4, Braves 3

Montreal erased a three-run deficit in the sixth on Jose Morales' two-run pinch single and a game-tying hit by pinch hitter Tim Foli. The Expos then pushed across the winner in the seventh on a walk, Mike Jorgensen's third hit, another walk and Larry Parrish's grounder. Reliever Dale Murray notched his first victory of the season after eight losses.

Giants 2, Cubs 1

The Cubs took a 1-0 lead in the top of the ninth on Joe Wallis' homer off John Montefusco, who hurled a three-hitter, but the Giants came back with two in the bottom of the ninth. Marty Perez and Gary Matthews opened the rally with singles and Bobby Murcer punched a bunt into left field for a run-scoring double. Chris Speier's sacrifice fly produced the winning run.

Reds 4, Mets 0

Fred Norman retired 21 of the first 22 batters and extended his career record at Riverfront Stadium to 30-7 with a four-hitter. The 32-year-old lefthander, senior member of the Reds' staff, allowed only a fourth-inning triple by John Milner until the eighth.

The Reds got the only run Norman needed against Jon Matlack in the fourth inning when Ken Griffey singled, stole second and scored on a single by Joe Morgan. Pete Rose delivered a sacrifice fly in the fifth and Morgan led off the sixth with a double, stole his third base of the game and scored on a wild pitch.

New league organized

LOS ANGELES — Southern California, the mecca of sport in the Western World, is about to welcome yet another athletic conference. Five major universities in Southern California have joined to form a new women's athletic conference. The Western Collegiate Athletic Association (WCAA).

The members of the Association are: Cal State U., Fullerton; Cal State Long Beach; San Diego State; UCLA and USC.

All five schools in the WCAA were originally members of the Southern California Women's Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCWIAC), which included over thirty colleges and universities. SCWIAC disbanded earlier this year when it became apparent that the league could no longer provide adequate competition for small and large schools within the same conference.

Spikes sparks Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Suddenly Charlie Spikes and Rick Waits are beginning to look like the players the Cleveland Indians were counting on to help lead them out of the doldrums this year.

Spikes went three for three and drove in three runs and Waits yielded just seven hits Wednesday night in Cleveland's 6-2 victory over the California Angels.

"Charlie is swinging the bat better," said smiling Cleveland Manager Frank Robinson. "But he's still not the Charlie Spikes he used to be, although he is swinging the bat much better than early in the season."

The burly rightfielder singled with one out in the third—the first hit off California starter Nolan Ryan, 6-12—and went on to score Cleveland's first run.

He put the Indians ahead with a two-run, two-out single in the fourth and drove in yet another run with a single in Cleveland's two-run ninth.

Spikes, who now has 20 runs batted in, has gone 12 for 27 (.444) in the eight games since the All-Star break, raising his season average from .226 to .252.

Waits, 4-4, gave up both California runs in the third when the Angels came up with four consecutive singles. The first run was hotly disputed by the Indians, who felt the throw from leftfielder George Hendrick had arrived in plenty of time for catcher Alan Ashby to tag out the runner.

Ashby, enraged over the call by umpire Terry Cooney, was tossed from the game and replacement Ray Fosse wound up with two hits and an RBI.

"I thought the umpire missed the call," Waits said. "I know Alan tagged him, because the runner almost knocked the ball out of the mitt.

"Anyway, after Alan was thrown out, Fosse came in and said 'relax and throw it where I want it and we'll get a double play.' I did," Waits added, "and we got the double play."

Waits, who now has pitched two straight complete victories, didn't allow a hit after Tommy Davis singled with one out in the sixth.

"I had good velocity," Waits said. "I was throwing everything hard and things worked out—I gave the bullpen a little rest."

Angel Manager Dick Williams removed Ryan after the first inning, explaining the fireballing righthander was suffering from "a little muscle strain in his throwing arm. I don't think he'll have to miss a turn. It started to tighten up on him and that's why I took him out."

Ryan, who now has lost three straight decisions and five of his last six, gave up six hits and four runs in six innings, while striking out only three Cleveland batters.

Although Williams said he wasn't concerned about how Waits looked, he said, "He pitched well enough to win. He got some groundball doubleplays (three) when he had to. We had him on the ropes in that third inning and didn't get him."

The same teams meet here tonight, with Frank Tanana, 11-6, slated to go for California against Stan Thomas, 2-1. Thomas started for the first time this season on Sunday at Minnesota and beat the Twins

Marty Feldman

Never thought of himself as the 'leading man' type

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I never thought of myself as a leading man. When I went to the movies as a boy, I identified with Peter Lorre, not Humphrey Bogart. I saw myself as Harpo, not Groucho or Chico."

But now Marty Feldman, the British comic with the large, wandering eyes, finds himself the star of a $4-million movie for Universal Pictures, "The Last Remake of Beau Geste." He also cowrote the script (with C.J. Allen) and will direct it on locations in Ireland and Spain.

Feldman is the latest recruit in Hollywood's return to comedy. As he himself admits, he is an unlikely candidate for a leading man. But he will be up there on the screen as the identical twin (?) of the dashing Beau, played by Ronald Coleman and Gary Cooper in the 1926 and 1939 versions, and Michael York in 1976.

The rest of the cast: Ann-Margret as the twins' oversexed stepmother; James Earl Jones as Oxford-educated sheik who complains that war is dusty; Peter Ustinov as a cruel one-legged sergeant with a phony scar and a sword in his prosthesis; Henry Gibson as a foppish Foreign Legion general.

"The script is funny, but the actors will play it straight," explained Feldman. "That's the best way to go. If a script is bad, then the actors need to give it shtick. But it's much better to have them do crazy things just as though it were the most natural thing in the world. Gene Wilder knows how to do that better than anyone I know. He plays it straight down the middle."

That doesn't mean that the Feldman players might not improvise a comical turn here and there. As he explained: "I view a good script like a Duke Ellington arrangement. If one of the soloists wants to take off with an inspired riff, fine. But the arrangement itself is good enough to stand without it."

Feldman, 42, is a latecomer to acting, though not to comedy. Born in London's East End to Polish-Russian parents, he dropped out of school at 15, played jazz, wrote poetry, found his field as comedy writer in British television, notably for David Frost.

He was 32 when he started delivering his own comedy, scoring with his "Marty" series as well as "The Marty Feldman Comedy Machine." H wild style attracted the ar tic eye of Mel Brooks, who cast him as Igor in "Young Frankenstein" and Marty Eggs in "Silent Movie." For another Brooksian, Gene Wilder, Feldman played a Scotland Yard man in "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes' Smarter Brother."

If Feldman's comedy seems decidedly American, that's natural. As a youth he fell under the influence of such humorists as Thurber, Benchley, Perelman, Lardner, Donald Ogden Stewart and Frank Sullivan. He also became a student of American movie comics.

HARRY CHAPIN, singer and songwriter, will appear Saturday and Sunday at the Greek Theater at 8:30 p.m. Chapin, whose hit singles include "Cats in the Cradle," "Taxi" and "W-O-L-D," has just released his sixth album.

State 'spy club' attacked by ACLU

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union is accusing a state agency of coordinating a nationwide "spy club" that it says may be keeping secret dossiers on politicial activities.

The ACLU filed suit in Superior Court Tuesday seeking to force state Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger to disclose a detailed budget and some of the files of the Organized Crime and Criminal Intelligence Branch (OCCIB) of the state Department of Justice. A hearing was set for Aug. 16.

But the OCCIB's chief of field operations, Herb Hoover, defended the secrecy of some operations and denied keeping political files.

"We're in the criminal intelligence business, a highly sensitive business in which we don't deal with the public at all," Hoover said in an interview.

The director of the OCCIB is Charles Casey, Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s brother-in-law.

A lobbyist for the ACLU, Brent Barnhart, said the OCCIB's 1972 report, the last to be made public, mentioned the Students for a Democratic Society, the Brown Berets and Yippie leader Jerry Rubin as being in its files.

But Hoover, asked about them, said, "I wouldn't think any of them are still there."

He said files are kept on persons "only if they are involved in criminal activities."

The OCCIB has a budget of more than $2 million.

Hoover wouldn't say how many files are kept, but the last state budget said 4,200 names were added last year.

The OCCIB is also the national administrative headquarters for the Law Enforcement Intelligence Unit (LEIU), a private organization that maintains files for police departments.

Barnhart called the LEIU a "country club of spies" who engage in the "trading of gossip about people."

But Barnhart said he had no proof that the LEIU or OCCIB keep political files, although predecessor organizations to the LEIU kept files on political dissidents — and even the ACLU.

Hoover said the files also include persons who, in the judgement of the OCCIB's sources, "may be involved in a crime" without proof that they've committed one.

The ACLU based its suit on what it called its failure to get OCCIB to detail its activities at public legislative budget hearings. The only information provided legislators was at a closed-door briefing, the ACLU said.

Hoover said the briefings are secret "because we name names."

One official who has attended several briefings defended both the process and the agency. He is Kenneth Carter, an aide to Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post.

Carter said Post's office has full access to OCCIB's budget. "I'm in full accord with the need of the public to know, but there are certain kinds of investigations which need security.... I think they (OCCIB) are engaging in legitimate activity," he said.

Nixon's pardon

Mondale to continue to speak out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic vice presidential nominee Walter Mondale says he'll continue to speak out against President Ford's pardon of Richard Nixon, even though both he and Jimmy Carter say they don't plan to make the pardon a campaign issue.

Carter said at a news conference Tuesday that he will not make the Nixon pardon an issue, although he said he personally believes the pardon was "improper and ill-advised."

Mondale said he will not use the pardon as a tactic, but "I plan to answer questions and speak out on it.

"This is not something new to me in this presidential campaign. "I've felt deeply about it from the start."

The Minnesotan said he will speak out on the Nixon pardon because he feels equality before the law "is one of the most fundamental principles of American life.

"It has to be restored, and we intend to restore it."

Mondale made the comment after being told of Carter's statement during a brief airport news conference Tuesday night.

He was arriving back in Washington after a long weekend of fishing and relaxing in northern Minnesota.

He said he will meet with Carter next Saturday and is scheduled to make some campaign appearances in the South, although he said that schedule is tentative.

Meanwhile, Mondale said, he will resume his duties in the Senate and will be on hand to vote on overriding President Ford's veto of a public works jobs bill.

Like Mondale, Carter said Tuesday that he would answer questions on the Nixon pardon if asked.

But Carter said the voters know the circumstance of the pardon and "they don't need to have it raised for political advantage by a candidate. I think they would resent it if it were."

Carter said he honors Ford's right to make the decision he did. But Carter said he would not have pardoned Nixon until after a trial where "all the facts relating to his crimes could be known."

Mondale said his concern was that Nixon was excused from responsibility, without any legal process, for his alleged role in "clearly the worst and most profound political and criminal scandal in American history.

"And it does create this notion which is so subversive to the trust and faith we need in American life, that if you're poor or friendless you pay the full price for violating the law but if you're rich and powerful you don't."

In Plains, Ga., Hamilton Jordan, Carter's campaign manager, said Tuesday that Mondale and Carter will merge their campaigns and that both will operate from Atlanta.

The integration of the staffs is designed to avoid "traditional frictions and problems between presidential and vice presidential candidates," Jordan said.

He told reporters that "we're glad that Sen. Mondale has agreed to run his campaign with ours in Atlanta."

Dick Moe, Mondale's administrative assistant, who met with Jordan and others in the Carter group, said the senator had been given the option to conduct a separate campaign but decided to work with the Carter organization.

"Ham (Jordan) and the rest of the staff have obviously been doing a lot of things right," Moe said. "We're very new at this. We're going to follow their leadership."

The terms "lynch law" and "lynching" were coined in the Revolutionary War as a result of the harsh punishment dealt to Tory "conspirators" in an extralegal court presided over by Charles Lynch, a Virginia justice of the peace. Actually, Lynch's court did not hand down sentences any more severe than whippings. The World Almanac notes that during the 19th century's period, "Lynch Law" came to mean capital punishment.

Immigration

Immigration to the U.S. soared after the Irish potato famine of 1845-1846 and the German revolution of 1848. In two decades, four million people came to this country.

Wild horses multiply, now face starvation

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — A law designed to protect wild horses has been so effective that the federal government is promoting an "Adopt-a-Horse" program to keep wild mustangs from starving.

Overpopulation of the horses is so severe that the Department of the Interior has begun buying television advertisements to encourage people to adopt one.

However, adopting a horse is not an ideal solution, either for the horses or the adoptive owners. A mustang's body chemistry is so delicate that it sometimes can't live when taken off the open range.

And federal officials say many adoptive owners find out the hard way just how wild a wild horse is.

"About 80-90 per cent of the horses are extremely wild, and as a result they are quite dangerous," said Milton Frei, range conservationist with the federal Bureau of Land Management in Denver.

"I've seen some that would almost eat you alive.

"Many people who don't realize how wild and extremely dangerous they are have a quick lesson when they put the horses in vehicles to haul them away."

The 1971 Wild Horse and Burro Act was designed to prevent the wild horses from being slaughtered and sold for dog food. There are about 50,000 wild horses and 10,000 wild burros in the American West protected under the law.

The adoption program was proposed as a means of reducing the wild horse population in range areas where there is insufficient food to support them.

The federal agencies are exploring other ways to control the population, but they say the lack of natural predators is one reason for the growth spurt in mustang herds. Frei said that only the mountain lion attacks the horses, but it's not believed to kill many.

Frei said some starvation among animal populations is normal in winter. More widespread horse deaths from hunger are "definitely a possibility," however, if better controls aren't found for mustang populations, he said.

Some conservationists say the horses will not continue to multiply at a high rate indefinitely. They prefer to let the animals control their populations through natural means, even starvation.

Joyce Brothers

Time for mourning

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My 80-year-old father died more than a year ago. He and my mother used to fight a good deal and were never what I'd have called the ideal couple. In spite of this, my wife and I expected my mother to grieve his death, but we didn't expect her to mourn and carry on this long. It's getting ridiculous and although she's perfectly healthy, she refused to do anything by herself. This gets complicated since both my wife and I work and don't have that much time to take her places or sit with her. — M.R.

Dear M.R.: Everyone needs a certain amount of time to grieve and to express feelings of sorrow to someone. If a person doesn't feel free to mourn, all the anguish and sorrow are turned inward and can be very destructive. Abnormal grieving over the death of a spouse, however, is often a sign of dependency. Many marriages are built more on the dependency needs of one or both partners than on love.

You can help your mother, and yourselves, by doing everything in your power to encourage her to become independent. Help her to find friends. Introduce her to the parents of some of your friends, or take her to a senior citizens center. If there is a problem of transportation, it might help if you'd give her a gift of money to be used only on taxis.

Loneliness is a major problem for older people. Most have to be helped to find and make new friends. One of the healthiest ways to overcome grief is to find others who have experienced a similar loss and who are able to share and compare the feelings of loneliness. Since your mother is in good physical health, you might also encourage her to attend some courses in adult education. This is a way to meet people and to develop new interests at the same time.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I've been living with a woman for a year and I had planned to marry her, but we recently found we have very different ideas about what we want for the future. I'm willing to go ahead with marriage anyway because I think she'll change, but she's backing out. I knew she wanted a career but I don't think this necessarily eliminates or stands in the way of marriage. I see success as meaning personal fulfillment but I think she equates it with money. — F.C.

Dear F.C.: I feel that couples don't have to agree on everything, or even on most things to be happy, but that it is important for them to have harmonious views on basic life philosophies. How one defines success seems to me to fall into this area.

If you feel success is doing your own thing and discovering who you are, and if she feels that success is doing primarily what society expects of you, that money and winning are a necessary part of success, then there are bound to be problems that could well destroy your marriage.

Attitudes regarding success have been changing over the past decade. While young men are often in rebellion against the sacrifices made by their fathers who searched for success in the business world, young women are often eager to enter into a world from which they've been excluded in the past. Women seem to want more autonomy and, in our society, money is often an essential ingredient for any kind of real freedom. Money still means power and can insure independence.

It would not be wise to marry with the expectation that she will change. Better think it over.

Hadassah supper scheduled

Sharon Chapter of Hadassah will present a traditional supper, "I Remember Mama," Saturday at 7 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Farkas, 797 Occidental Drive, Claremont.

Rabbi Ben Beliak, Jewish chaplain of the Claremont Colleges, will perform the Havdallah service at sundown before the outdoor supper.

Folk singer Clabe Hangan will entertain with music of Europe, Africa and Spanish countries. Hangan has played concerts to over one million students and has worked with young people as a probation officer and music teacher. He is now teaching in the music department at Cal State San Bernardino.

Proceeds from the evening will go to Hadassah-supported community colleges and vocational schools in Israel. These schools are open to all citizens of Israel — Jews, Christians and Moslems.

Friends and families of Sharon chapter members are invited to the Saturday dinner and may make reservations by calling Rose Watkins, 985-0163, or Toby Schulman, 624-7273.

DEBRA CHAMBERS

August nuptials slated

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Chambers of Pomona announce the engagement of their daughter, Debra, to Wayne Carey of San Dimas.

The bride-to-be is attending Mt. San Antonio College in the registered nursing program. She is a 1975 graduate of Pomona High School.

Mr. Carey is the son of Mrs. Sara Morrison of La Verne and Jack Carey of Whittier. He is employed as a carpenter. He is a 1973 graduate of Bonita High School.

The couple will be married Aug. 21 in the United Methodist Church of La Verne.

Dance Club to observe anniversary

The Swinging Stars Square Dance Club will celebrate its 25th anniversary with a Silver Anniversary Hoedown Saturday at 8 p.m.

The festivities will be held at the Colony Park Community Center, 1240 W. Fourth St., Ontario.

Callers will be Garland and Carrie Freeman.

All square dancers are invited, with a special invitation extended to those who have danced with the club in past years.

Scouts to camp in canyon

Thirty-three campers will attend the Spanish Trails Girl Scout Council's mini camp this weekend at Hideout Canyon Camp above Glendora.

Under the direction of Mrs. Robert Jensen of Diamond Bar, the camp presented an opportunity for young campers to be away from home in a small close-to-home setting.

First established by the council three years ago as a transition program before campers ventured off to a resident camp, the demand has grown so that five mini camps are planned this summer.

Junior-age campers this weekend will focus their program on the Indian lore badge while varied camp program will be offered for Brownies.

The camp is staffed by adult and program aides.

Sidewalk sale set by league

The Assistance League of Pomona Valley will sponsor its first summer sidewalk sale on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The sale will be held outside of the Bargain Basket Thrift Shop operated by the league at 693 N. Palomares Ave., Pomona.

A wide variety of articles will be featured in the sale, including household goods and clothing.

Proceeds will benefit the philantropies of the league, which include the Learning Center Tutoring Program and the Neighborhood Senior Citizens Center.

Occupational nurses

Roles have expanded

NEW YORK (AP) — The President of the United States announces a trip out of the country. Result: Ruby Gordon, staff nurse, CBS Broadcast Center, New York, can expect the network staff assigned to the official party to appear in her department for necessary immunizations.

Job performance of an employe of a Flint, Mich., automotive plant starts to deteriorate because of drinking. Result: he seeks help from the alcoholism program headed by Mary Abernathy, medical supervisor.

A piece of equipment falls and strikes a workman erecting an Egyptian column in New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art. Result: the workman consults Donna Goerg Hansen, charge nurse to both museum employes and museum visitors.

These incidents, according to Dorothy M. Saller, executive director of the American Association of Industrial Nurses (AAIN), are a small measure of the way occupational health nursing has expanded in scope since its early days when it focused primarily on emergency care for industrial workers.

"No other profession in the health care field has exapnded more dramatically than occupational health nursing," Miss Saller maintains. Currently, the more than 9,000 association members — all registered nurses — are employed in locations as diverse as banks and military bases, oil fields and government installations, construction sites and retail stores, hospitals and entertainment centers, as well as the traditional plant and office, she points out.

In their day-to-day guardianship of employe health and safety, occupational health nurses are dealing more and more with newer areas such as behavior attitudes, environment, rehabilitation, human relations, weight control, nutrition, vision and sexual mores.

Hypertension and smoking are among other contemporary concerns. For example, at Anaheim Convention Center and Stadium (home of the California Angels), Jessie W. Bonkosky, chief nurse, and her staff emphasize the importance of employes' having a blood check and not smoking.

Because hearing impairment has been found widespread, association members like Doris Jean Porter, staff nurse for Miami-based airline employes, consider audiometric testing an important part of their work.

For Mary Anne Ciavatta, staff nurse at Walt Disney World, Lake Buena Vista, Fla., helping employes stay in condition means services as specialized as toxicity testing for gardeners and periodic exams for skin divers. Many services are also provided in the main treatment area for guests — to prevent a minor illness or accident from marring a vacation.

Through their association, members are able to exchange information and keep up to date on latest developments in the health and medical fields to help them meet the varied demands of their multiple roles, Miss Saller points out.

The AAIN has members in all 50 of the United States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Australia, Canada, Nigeria, Singapore and the West Indies. A number of the members in foreign countries work for U.S.based companies.

A coelacanth (pronounced SEE luh kanth) is a large, rare fish from deep in the oceans around Africa.

What makes the coelacanth so unusual is that it is perhaps the world's most primitive bony fish: It was once thought to have been extinct. But in 1938, a living coelacanth was caught by a fisherman off the east coast of Africa.

Almost unchanged since its origin, this strange-looking fish was bright blue in color. It was five feet long and weighed 125 pounds. It had leglike fins, probably used for crawling about in the sea, and its head was covered with thick scales.

If the fisherman had found a living dinosaur, he would not have attracted more attention in the scientific world.

Scientists knew the coelacanth only from fossils and had assumed that the prehistoric fish had died out 60 million years ago!

Since the discovery of a live coalacanth, several more of these "living fossils" have been found.

Police bare revolutionary gun safety device

FOSTER CITY (AP) — A magnetic device to prevent crooks from shooting policemen with their own guns is being installed in all revolvers used by the Foster City police department.

"We are the first police agency in the world to equip our men with this device," Police Chief John Norton told a news conference Wednesday.

The mechanism works by means of a metal insert in the grip of the pistol. It has a moving part that blocks trigger operation unless the shooter wears a special magnetic ring on his finger. When the ring comes within an inch of the trigger-block, the gun can fire.

Norton quoted Los Angeles Police Chief Ed Davis as saying that "half the Los Angeles officers who have been killed were shot with their own guns."

The invention is the work of Sunnyvale man Joseph E. Smith. He calls it the "Magna-Trigger Safety."

Smith said he expects the device will save lives unrelated to police work.

"A child living in a house where a gun is kept could not shoot himself or a playmate," he said, noting also that gun owners cleaning "unloaded" guns could not shoot themselves.

Installation of the device costs $75 and Norton is having all 35 department-owned .38 caliber specials so fitted.

Smith said the magnetic safety would also work on rifles, shotguns "and all other guns."

Congress overrides Ford veto, OKs public jobs bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, with an attack on unemployment as a major goal this election year, today overrode President Ford's veto of a $3.95-billion public works jobs bill, enacting it into law.

Final action came in the House, which overrode Ford's veto by a vote of 310 to 96, or 39 more than the required two thirds.

It was the ninth time Congress has overridden Ford. The President has been sustained 14 times.

The Democratic-controlled Congress and the Democratic candidates for president and vice president have made an assault on joblessness a major election-year issue.

The Senate voted 73 to 24 Wednesday to override Ford's veto of the public works bill.

House Majority Leader Thomas O'Neill and other Democratic leaders had predicted they would have no difficulty winning the jobs bill override.

But O'Neill was not so confident about overriding Ford's veto of another bill: a $3.3-billion military construction authorization. A vote was expected later in the day.

In today's debate, Speaker Carl Albert cited a 1932 message by President Herbert Hoover vetoing an emergency relief and construction bill during the great depression.

"These words are very familiar," Albert told the House, "exactly the thoughts of President Ford in vetoing the Public Works Employment Act."

"I could only wonder at how totally the conservative Republican leadership has failed to learn the lessons of the last 50 years ..." Albert said.

Sons of wealthy families may be link to busnaping

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — A heavily armed force of deputies swooped down on a lavish 100-acre estate near here early today, searching for evidence in the Chowchilla school bus hijacking.

The estate, six miles south of here, is owned by Frederick N. Woods III, who also owns the rock quarry in Livermore where 26 schoolchildren and their bus driver were buried in a makeshift, underground prison for 18 hours before digging their way out.

Alameda County Sheriff Tom Houchins said officials also wanted to talk to Woods's son, 24-year-old Frederick N. Woods IV.

The elder Woods had told one interviewer on Wednesday that he didn't know the whereabouts of his son.

"I was told by the sheriff's office not to say whether I have one son or 10 sons," Woods said.

Houchins said he also was interested in talking to two of young Woods' friends — Richard Schoenfeld, 22, and James Schoenfeld, 24, sons of J. B. Schoenfeld, a podiatrist in nearby Atherton.

A highly placed source in the Alameda County sheriff's office told The Associated Press Wednesday that one young man being sought in connection with the kidnaping was connected to the rock quarry. The source said the other two were sons of a prominent San Francisco area physician.

Houchins emphasized at a news conference late Wednesday night that the younger Woods and the Schoenfeld brothers had not been named in any arrest warrant.

Officials also emphasized early today that no arrest warrants had been issued in the case.

"The three are subjects of the investigation" into the kidnaping, Houchins said. "I would be interested in talking to them. I would not arrest them."

Alameda County sheriff's officials had said earlier Wednesday that Woods "and his boy are being investigated routinely."

Houchins said more than 100 vehicles were found on the estate, including one which he said authorities were interested in, a tractor usually used to pull trailer trucks. The children and the driver were imprisoned in a moving van.

Under the command of sheriffs from Alameda, San Mateo and Madera counties, the caravan of sheriff's deputies, left the San Mateo sheriff's office Wednesday night and was accompanied to the Woods estate by Charles Bates, FBI agent in charge of the San Francisco office.

The elder Woods was served with a search warrant signed by a San Mateo County judge.

His house was searched and he and his wife were the only people at home, Houchins said.

Some 60 law enforcement officers then scattered about the property on a fine-comb search of 15 buildings on the estate in Portola Valley on the San Francisco Peninsula.

Standing by as backup team was a Special Weapons and Tactics team from San Mateo County.

Published reports said Wednesday that the kidnaping last Thursday, which authorities said was carried out by three armed, masked men, may have been the work of a "drug and gun cult" involving members of wealthy families.

"It is a cult situation, a thrill thing involving drugs," said a source quoted in the Oakland Tribune.

A source told The AP that the families of all three men sought in the case have residences on the San Francisco Peninsula, of which San Mateo County is a part.

Meanwhile, the Sacramento Bee reported Wednesday, "The arrests of at least seven sons of wealthy San Francisco Peninsula families are imminent."

The investigation shifted here after clothing and other articles taken from the bus driver by the kidnapers were found alongside a Saratoga area road, about 20 miles south of Redwood City.

Investigators also learned that the buried moving van used as a prison was purchased from the Palo Alto Transfer and Storage Co. and that two vans used in the abduction were registered with the state Department of Motor Vehicles office in Los Gatos.

All three areas are on the San Francisco Peninsula, ranging from 35 to 55 miles south of San Francisco.

The Fresno and Modesto Bees quoted a source as saying:

"We are looking very closely to an individual named Fred because the moving van was sold ... to him personally." The source contended that only someone with easy access to the quarry could have buried the van, six feet underground. The van was purchased last Nov. 20.

New Pomona police chief under attack; mayor to probe reports

By ED PRATHER
PB Staff Writer

The appointment of Jim Richards as the new police chief in Pomona has come under attack by members of the Pomona Police Department, prompting Pomona Mayor Ray Lepire to fly to Arvada, Colo. today to investigate allegations against Richards.

Although no one has publicly made a charge against Richards or even criticized his professional record, the allegations made against the new chief by three Pomona officers in executive session with the City Council Monday apparently involve a controversy within the Arvada Police Department last year.

Pomona Police Officer Richard Tefank, president of the Pomona Police Officers Association and one of the three officers to meet with the council in the closed door session, would not comment Wednesday on the substance of the information delivered to the council.

"At this time I would like to make no comment," said Tefank when asked about the inquiry into Richard's record.

He did acknowledge that the information contained no hint of legal improprieties against Richards.

Councilman Adrian Wright, the only member of the council to vote against Richards' appointment, said Wednesday that he had no information and had no knowledge of any black marks on Richards' personal record as police chief in Arvada or as a member of the Ventura County Sheriff's Department for 14 years.

The allegations presented by Tefank and Officers Larry Kidney and John Miller apparently stem from a controversy within the Arvada Police Department late last year.

Arvada City Manager Capp Shanks told the Progress Bulletin today he was at a loss to explain why that controversy, which he said was settled months ago, would spark charges against Richards.

"Jim Richards is leaving Arvada under the best of circumstances. We're extremely sorry to see him leave," said Shanks.

When asked if Richards was under any type of pressure to resign in Arvada or under threat of any type of investigation or other type of duress, Shanks said:

"Absolutely not. He's as honest as the day is long. He has never been asked by me or the City Council to resign. In fact, it's just the opposite. I wish he were staying to accomplish some of the goals we set for the remainder of the year."

Shanks said the controversy last year in the Arvada Police Department was due, in part, to his strong position as city manager.

"I consider the police chief to be one of my department heads and I have the right to tell him what to do. A lot of officers didn't like that," said Shanks.

He said that other charges raised during the controversy included lack of communication within the department and lack of equipment, such as shotguns, desired by the officers.

"There was some truth to some of the charges," admitted Shanks.

"There were some organization weaknesses, but I blame myself for those, not Jim Richards."

Shanks said that an independent consulting firm was brought in to Arvada to study the problems in the department and recommend changes.

He said the changes recommended by the consultant, the Menninger Foundation of Topeka, Kan., had been implemented by Richards, including Richards' assumption of a more independent role as chief and an upgrading of the officer corps beneath Richards.

"Since the report was put into practice, there has been a good cooperative attitude in the department," he said.

In addition to Shanks, Richards; record in Arvada was praised by Harold L. Rust, a resident of the city who served on a special citizens' committee during the height of last year's controversy.

"He was above reproach, cooperating to the fullest, standing firm when he needed to be firm. In talking with the police personnel since then I have confirmed that the morale of the Police Department has increased tremendously," said Rust in a letter to Pomona officials.

Richards was appointed the new police chief by the Pomona City Council earlier this month, replacing F. P. Wallick, who retired in March.

The Pomona Police Officers Association took an official position endorsing Pomona Police Lt. Denver L. Liming for the position before Richards' appointment.

Man arrested after three wounded in shooting at store

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Police have arrested a 19-year-old man in connection with the shooting of three persons at an all-night grocery store.

Police said Ronald Mitchell allegedly drove into the store's parking lot about late Wednesday and began firing wildly with a shotgun.

All three persons hit by gunfire were listed in stable condition this morning at Sacramento Medical Center. Police identified the victims as Joseph Toro, George Thompson and Mary Zinkin.

Handicapped biker realizes a dream

Crosses country in 39 days

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Bruce Jennings made a dream come true here Wednesday when he pushed his bicycle into the Atlantic Ocean after pedaling across the continent.

Jennings lost his right leg five years ago.

"Oh, this feels good," he said as the surf rushed up around his ankle. "You don't know how good."

Jennings, 24, a college student from Fullerton, Calif., lost his leg in a motorcycle accident in 1971. Two years ago a truck hit him while he was bicycling and broke his remaining ankle. Then, when he had just recovered, a car hit him and broke his thigh bone.

It was then he decided he wanted to pedal across the nation.

"I said to myself 'What am I going to do? Am I going to quit or am I going to come back strong?' I had to come back," he said.

Leaving Newport Beach, Calif., with his rear tire in the Pacific Ocean, Jennings took only 39 days to bring his front tire to the Atlantic.

His journey was not without trouble. The Rocky Mountains were easy on his leg, he said, but he almost gave up trying to cross the Appalachians. "I was really hurting," he said.

A pickup truck in Indiana almost ended it all. The truck knocked him over, Jennings said, but didn't hurt him. "That shook me up pretty bad," he recalled. "I'm a little gun shy you know."

Jennings stayed in motels and with Rotary Clubs during his trek. He also camped out.

Jennings refused help as he hopped and pushed his 75-pound bicycle across the fine sand here. "I've made it this far by myself. I can't take help now," he said. "This is the hardest part of this trip."

But he soon made it to the water and accepted congratulations from a curious lifeguard.

Jennings said he would junk his bicycle and fly home this weekend.

HE JUST WOULDN'T QUIT

Mars weather report: 122 below, pink skies

PASADENA (AP) — The first Martian weather report has revealed nippy morning temperatures of 122 degrees below zero on the Red Planet, under skies not blue but pink.

Dust particles floating in the thin atmosphere scatter sunlight to paint the sky pink, scientists explained Wednesday, even though it looked an earthly blue in Viking 1's first color picture.

"It is red, but not as red as the surface," said Dr. Carl Sagan.

The false color in the first picture was due to the fact that Viking's cameras have not yet been adjusted to reproduce colors on Mars with perfect accuracy, said project officials.

A more serious problem was also revealed late Wednesday. The seismometer designed to detect marsquakes did not turn on properly after Tuesday's landing.

Unless it can be fixed by radio commands from earth, said Deputy Mission Director Lou Kingsland, the instrument will not be able to carry out its work of recording quakes and probing the interior of the planet.

Scientists had hoped to have the use of seismometers aboard both Viking 1 and its twin, Viking 2, due for a landing later this summer, in order to determine the location of any Marsquakes. If only one seismometer works properly, only the number, not the direction of the quakes can be registered.

Dr. Seymour Hess, meteorology investigation team leader, said the weather station aboard the robot lander recorded temperatures ranging from 122 below zero Farenheit to 22 below, although the latter was not the highest temperature of the day.

He said there were light winds shifting from the east to the southwest during Viking's first Martian night. The highest wind speed was 15 miles per hour, far gentler than the winds of several hundred miles per hour known to blow on the planet.

Sagan, a member of Viking's lander photography team, said another scientist, Dr. James Pollack, had determined the pinkish hue of the Martian sky. It had appeared much brighter than expected in Viking's first black-and-white photos, and had appeared blue in the color picture until further analysis revealed the sky's true color.

Sagan said that Pollack believes the dust particles, swept aloft from the planet's surface, would be too small to see or feel.

Meanwhile, with one Viking experiment station on Mars working well, officials have decided to be bolder with the second Viking and aim it for a northerly site riskier but more likely to harbor Martian life.

The northern site, on a vast rolling plain called Cydonia after a town on the Greek island Crete, is of great interest to scientists.

For one thing, there is believed to be at least five times more water vapor in the air than there is near the equator.

And because it is not far from where the north polar icecap extends in the winter, some residual water or flush might remain at times to nurture life on the otherwise dry planet.

Scientists studying Martian weather were also enthusiastic about the northern territory because the changes in weather conditions from summer to winter could be observed.

But the catch was that a landing in Cydonia is almost certain to be more fraught with possible dangers. Because of the relationship between Earth and Mars as they are oriented in space, Earth-bound radar cannot be used to detect rough terrain in the north.

Chino allows church to erect fence

A six-foot-high chain link fence to enclose the yard of a Chino church where a man and woman were gunned down on May 17 has been approved by the city's Planning Commission.

The planners approved a variance to allow construction of the fence, requested by Nick Medina on behalf of Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church.

Church parish council members asked for approval of the variance "to protect and provide security for the church and its members."

Manuela Cortez and Ignacio Padilla, both church leaders, were slain on the church doorstep while participating in an anti-vandalism patrol.

The six-foot fence would be built in the side yard at the northeast corner of Third and D streets. A variance was needed because the city prohibits solid fences exceeding three feet in height in required side yards.

City officials noted that to allow a variance for security reasons is "justifiable. In addition, the recent violence and security problems in the area have created a unique situation."

Commissioners approved the variance on a 6-1 vote, with Michael Brightman dissenting. Brightman, an architect, objected for aesthetic reasons. He felt the fence would be inconsistent with other uses in the area.

Hearst heirs lose plea to keep estate information secret

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Attorneys for the Hearst family have 60 days to appeal a ruling by a Superior Court probate judge who refused to block public access to court documents relating to the William Randolph Hearst estate.

The ruling Wednesday by Superior Court Neil A. Lake denied a request by several Hearst heirs to have the records sealed because of threats made against family members and bombings at a family retreat in Northern California and at San Simeon.

The ruling, however, was hailed by a lawyer for the American Civil Liberties Union.

Attorney Fred Okrand of the ACLU said, "We are, of course, pleased with the court's decision. It protects the right of freedom of speech, in which is incumbent the public right to know.

"The significance of the case goes beyond merely the particular issue that was before the court," he added. "The decision extends and furthers what to us is a very important concept, and that is the public right to know what is in all probate files and other matters of public record."

In denying the motion, Lake said, "The denial of public access to probate files would be tantamount to denying the public the right to know what is done in their probate court, as the vast majority of probate matters are decided on the basis of what is contained in the verified pleadings found in the court file and not upon the testimony of witnesses or oral argument in open court."

Papers relating to the estate of the newspaper magnate could not be sealed without statutory authority, and no such authority presently exists, Lake said.

Attorney Philip H. Battaglia had sought to have the file sealed, telling the court that the court records, which name several Hearst heirs and lists their addresses, was "a punch list for terrorists."

Lake not only refused to seal the Hearst file, but also dissolved a June 5, 1975 order of Superior Court Judge David N. Eagleson that partially restricted access to the file. That order, which was issued after the kidnaping of Patricia Hearst, granddaughter of William Randolph Hearst, but before her arrest, required persons other than case attorneys to obtain court permission to view the documents.

Miss Hearst is undergoing psychiatric testing in San Diego pending final sentencing for her conviction on bank robbery charges.

Lake ordered Acting Clerk John J. Corcoran to draw up a plan for public viewing of the Hearst probate files.

Eagleson's order, however, will remain in effect for 60 days during which time Hearst attorneys will decide whether to appeal Lake's decision.

Drug traffic along the border: more smuggling, more arrests

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In airplanes, on horseback, by car and on foot, drugs are being smuggled across the Mexican border into the United States in ever-growing numbers, but more smugglers are being caught, U. S. Customs agents say.

Heroin especially is pouring across the frontier. Los Angeles Region Customs Commissioner Albert G. Bergesen said that nationwide heroin seizures during fiscal 1975-76 soared 220 per cent and in the region, which encompasses California and Arizona, the amount of confiscated heroin nearly doubled from 45.5 pounds seized last year to 86.8 pounds this year.

Most of the incoming drugs arrive by car, Bergesen said, although the use of planes and other transportation is also becoming more common.

There were 2,530 cars seized at border points from San Ysidro, Calif., to Nogales, Ariz., compared with 1,503 last year, he added.

"They put 100 or 200 kilos in the trunk and they take a chance they won't be asked to open the back end," said Customs spokesman Jerome Hollander, adding sometimes smuggling operators use whole "task forces" of automobiles, "calculating what percentage may get caught."

Bergesen said 35 aircraft were seized during the year ending June 30, compared with 28 that flew drugs in from Mexico the year before and there were 19 boats taken last year compared to 13 the year before.

"Whatever method you can think of they use for smuggling dope," Hollander said, noting that in Arizona, Customs agents even have a mounted posse patroling rugged areas where narcotics have been moving on horseback, on mules or in the backpacks of hiking groups.

"These are reformed marijuana horses," he said. The horses once had been used for smuggling but they were confiscated and now are employed on the other side of the law, he explained.

The wide range of interdiction methods helps account for the fact that the Los Angeles regional drug flow has actually decreased in all categories except heroin, while the rest of the nation saw increases in all categories, Bergesen said.

Even dogs get into the act. In one case last year, he said, a dog sniffed out 6,000 pounds of marijuana buried beneath a truckload of onions.

"The dog views it as a game," he said. "He finds it and gets a pat on the back." But he stressed the dogs never are addicted, despite the popular rumor.

"Our dogs abstain from all alcohol and narcotics," he grinned.

Nationwide, the amount of cocaine seized increased 41 per cent, hashish 295 per cent and marijuana 62 per cent, he said.

But in the Los Angeles Region, he said, only 75.5 pounds of cocaine was seized, compared with 101 the previous year; and marijuana weighed in at 282,229 pounds compared with 323,131 the year before.

Bergesen said the street value of all drugs seized during the fiscal year in the region amounted to nearly $95 million. Nationwide the figure was $685.5 million, he said.

Reagan, Rocky top choice for No. 2 spot

If Ford delegates called the shot...

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's delegates to the Republican National Convention who are expressing their preference name Ronald Reagan and Nelson Rockefeller most often for the No. 2 spot on the GOP ticket.

But both men have said — with varying degrees of firmness — that they would not take the vice presidential nomination at the convention opening in Kansas City in three and half weeks.

Reagan is going all out for the right to recommend the party's vice presidential candidate himself. He lags slightly behind Ford in the tight delegate race for the GOP presidential nomination.

The first choice for vice president of the Reagan delegates with a preference was former Texas governor and Nixon adminstration official John Connally. On the strength of this Reagan support alone, Connally was the most often named contender for the second spot.

Ford meets today with Rockefeller, and later with the New York GOP convention delegation, which includes a large number of uncommitted delegates who may be a key to Ford's chances to beat Reagan.

The Associated Press delegate survey found only about 40 per cent of the 1,982 delegates interviewed gave a preference for the No. 2 spot.

Of those Ford delegates who said they had a choice, Reagan was at the top of the list. Of the 97 delegates naming the former California governor for the second spot, 78 were Ford backers. Most of the rest were uncommitted delegates.

Just about a week ago, however, Reagan made as strong a statement as anyone could want about the vice presidency.

"Under no circumstances whatsoever will I accept the vice presidential nomination," Reagan said in response to a question in Newark, N.J.

Ford has said he has not ruled anyone out of the vice presidential race if he is nominated, including Reagan and Rockefeller.

Continuing the current line-up with Rockefeller as vice president was the next ranking choice of the Ford delegates with a preference. Rockefeller was named by 66 Ford delegates for vice president, most of the 75 delegates who named him.

But Rockefeller took himself out of consideration for the vice presidency last year, after some Ford supporters said he was a liability in Ford's race with Reagan.

Reagan has ruled Rockefeller out of any position in his administation because of "philosophical differences."

Traditionally, the convention has approved the choice of the presidential candidate for his running mate.

Ford, after refusing for weeks to say he would not throw the choice of a running mate open to the convention, said at a news conference Monday that he would make the choice.

"I would certainly expect the convention to follow my recommendation," he told reporters.

Reagan has indicated a willingness to allow the convention to pick the vice presidential nominee if he is nominated.

Connally was ranked No. 1 among the delegates, the vice presidential choice of 224 delegates. Most of Connally's support — 71 per cent — came from delegates committed to support Reagan for president.

Only 29 of Ford's delegates said they would like to see Connally as vice president, putting him in fifth place among the President's backers, in contrast to the first place he ranked with Reagan backers.

A Reagan-Ford ticket has far less support than a Ford-Reagan team that is supported by some Ford backers.

Only 25 delegates — all Reagan supporters — named Ford for vice president. That is about a third of the delegates who said they would like to see a Ford-Reagan ticket.

Reagan has not included Ford on his list of possible vice presidential contenders. Ford has not given any indication he would even consider the second spot.

Following Connally and Reagan in the AP survey results were Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee with 93 delegate mentions and Rockefeller with 75. Secretary of Commerce Elliot Richardson was named by 60 delegates. Ford and Sen. William Brock III of Tennessee were each named by 25 delegates.

Sen. Charles Percy and Rep. Philip Crane, both of Illinois, were picked by 23 delegates apiece for the second spot. Rounding out the top 10 of delegate choices was James Buckley, the Republican-Conservative senator from New York, who was named by 16 delegates.

Forty-three politicians and other public figures were mentioned at least once by the GOP delegates for the second spot.

The only woman to receive any mention was Anne Armstrong, currently ambassador to Great Britain. She was picked by eight delegates.

Other prominent figures who received several mentions included:

Sen. Edward Brooke, Massachusetts, 13 delegates; Sen. Jesse Helms, North Carolina, 12; Treasury Secretary William Simon, 11; Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld, 7.

At various times this year, both Ford and Reagan have named people who would be acceptable to them as running mates.

Ford's list included Richardson, Brooke, Baker, Brock, Percy and Govs. Dan Evans of Washington, Robert Ray of Iowa and Chistopher Bond of Missouri. Connally's name has also been mentioned.

On Monday, Ford would not name any possible running mates.

"I'm not going to get into a numbers game. We have a fine, fine array of talent in the Republicn party and maybe elsewhere," he said.

Reagan has emphasized that his running mate must be of a conservative philosphy that is close to his own. His list included Connally, Baker, Simon and "any of a number of fine, well-qualified congressmen and other party leaders."

13 jailed in killing of envoy

Irish officials say killers got wrong man

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Irish police said today they have arrested 13 suspected Irish Republican Army men in the biggest manhunt in Irish history, mounted for the killers of British Ambassador Christopher Ewart-Biggs.

The ambassador was killed by a bomb detonated under his car just after it left his home on the southern outskirts of Dublin Wednesday. The blast seriously injured British diplomat Brian Cubbon, killed Cubbon's secretary, 26-year-old Judith Cooke, and wounded the ambassador's Irish chauffeur, Brian O'Driscoll.

At Londonderry in Northern Ireland, the British army arrested Rory O'Brady, president of Sinn Fein, the IRA's political wing, and Sean Keenan, a battalion commander of IRA Provisionals. Police said the army had handed the pair over and the men were being questioned.

Dozens of IRA sympathisers dropped out of sight.

The assassination was expected to prompt British pressure on the Dublin government for a major crackdown on the Provisionals, who use the republic as a base for their operations in Northern Ireland. British Prime Minister James Callaghan told the House of Commons the killers were the "common enemy" of both the British and Irish governments and must be destroyed.

Police arrested David O'Connell, 39, reputedly a past commander of the IRA Provisional wing, and Joe O'Neill, a political organizer, in a Dublin suburb a few hours after the ambush.

Nobody has claimed responsibility for the bombing, but police blamed the IRA's Provisional wing or a splinter group linked to it. The Provisionals are waging a guerrilla war to end British rule in Northern Ireland.

The IRA Provisional wing attacked the homes of a number of British civil officials in Northern Ireland earlier this year. It said they "share as much responsibility for the oppression in our country as the warlords of the British army."

Several thousand Irish troops and police searched for the assassins. Police manned roadblocks outside Dublin 24 hours after the bombing. A reward of $36,000 was offered for the killers.

A police spokesman said they were hunting for three men seen running from the ambush scene. It was not known if any of the men were among the 13 arrested.

Police said the bomb was planted in a drain under the road and was detonated by remote control by at least three men hidden in a thicket about 200 yards away.

Police officials said they suspected the terrorists were after Cubbon and not the ambassador. Cubbon, permanent undersecretary of state in Northern Ireland and the top British civil servant there, was on a visit to the Irish republic from his post in Belfast.

A senior police officer said, "The ambassador had been here for less than two weeks. It's entirely likely the people responsible for his death were after someone else in the car."

"We feel there was no real reason for the IRA to murder the ambassador, even though he was Britain's representative here," another police official said. "We believe there are strong grounds for suspecting he was not the real target of this outrage."

AIRING GRIEVANCES

Prisoners free 14 hostages

WAUPUN, Wis. (AP) — Inmates at Wisconsin State Prison held 14 hostages for more than 12 hours, then released them when they won permission to voice their grievances at a news conference.

Except for a prison employe who inmates said struck his head when he fainted, there were no reports of injury in the Wednesday incident. The man was hospitalized in fair condition.

Sheriff Edwin Nehls of Dodge County said 89 of the 1,700 inmates held the hostages in the prison's three-story industrial building they had seized shortly before lunch.

Shortly before midnight, the inmates were granted immunity from prosecution in exchange for the release of hostages.

Authorities said the building contained paint, print-shop ink and other chemicals which posed a fire threat to the hostages as well as their captors.

Demonstrators, using chemicals from the building's paint shop, had spilled flaming materials from the building's windows onto a concrete courtyard, and flames damaged some auxiliary structures.

After the release, spokesmen for the inmates voiced their grievances to newsmen in a visitors' lounge.

Clayton Cook, 33, of Milwaukee, serving a term for armed robbery, said a chief gripe is crowding.

The prison, which has a rated capacity of about 786, has 848 beds, excluding dormitory facilities outside the main walls.

Cook said prisons are "warehouses for human beings." He accused penal bureaucrats of encourging crowding so that legislators would be more willing to approve funds for expansion.

A State Building Commission subcommittee had approved funds Wednesday for developing a 150-bed dormitory in the building occupied by the protesters.

Officials said conditions elsewhere in the prison were normal.

Authorities said none of the inmates had conventional weapons. Cook said two 22-caliber zipguns were used to herd hostages into a room.

They included two construction workers who happened to be in the building.

No leaking of secrets with Captain Kidd in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Captain Kidd kept the whereabouts of his treasure a secret by killing everybody who helped him bury it. So the only leaks he had to worry about were the ones in the bottom of his ship.

The ways of keeping secrets in the House of Representatives are somewhat more civilized, but certainly not so effective. After all, Captain Kidd's map didn't appear in the Village Voice.

Great chunks of the House intelligence committee report did. And the report contained secrets about sometimes shady operations by trenchcoat types such as the CIA.

Who leaked these secrets to Daniel Schorr so he could put them in the New York weekly has become a $150,000 question.

For months, investigators have been trying to identify the leaker. Four hundred interviews and $150,000 later, they've concluded:

1. It was somebody in the government.

2. They don't know who.

Actually, there are those who say Schorr, a CBS newsman, could have picked up a copy almost anywhere.

There are those who swear one copy was found lining the bottom of a parrot cage at the National Zoo. Others say a downtown restaurant was handing out fish and chips wrapped in pages marked "Top Secret."

There are those who say if the legendary Captain Kidd were running things he'd have to bury half the government to keep its secrets.

He'd have no help from Rep. Les Aspin, of course. Aspin loaned his copy of the intelligence committee report to, of all people, the CIA.

And to Reuters News Agency.

In testimony before the House ethics committee this week, it became clear that the secret report had attracted only slightly fewer viewers than "Gone with the Wind."

Aspin's copy, which brought the CIA in from the cold, became a mother, spawning 40 more copies fathered by a CIA duplicating machine.

The Wisconsin Democrat shrugged off the news that his copy had a family. "Well, I guess I'm not surprised," he said.

Other congressmen, some of them adamant about finding out how Schorr got his copy, weren't too concerned about the one that went to the CIA or the "several pages" Aspin aides supplied to Reuters.

But the House ethics committee is asking each of the 16 members of the intelligence panel to say under oath whether he was the leaker.

So far, nobody is taking responsibility.

Meanwhile, former FBI investigators hired by the committee to find the culprit have spared no effort to round up the copies of the report, to trace their paths through the marbled hallways of the Capitol, to examine the owner of each set of hands that touched them.

The investigators found plenty of hands and plenty of copies — but some of the copies weren't where they were supposed to be.

For example, Rep. William Lehman, D-Fla., said he wasn't even on Capitol Hill during final deliberations on the report back in February. So his copy kept shuttling back and forth between his office and the intelligence committee.

He said it finally got lost.

Man held in stolen credit card purchases

A 44-year-old Banning man was arrested by West End sheriff's deputies in connection with the theft of a bank credit card used to purchase more than $2,000 in liquor and other items from liquor stores Wednesday.

Paul Lawrence Jordon of Banning was arrested by deputies at the Red Hill Liquor Store at Vineyard Avenue and Foothill Boulevard in Cucamonga after allegedly purchasing several bottles of liquor on a credit card made out to an Avis Bagley of Banning. Jordon was booked on charges of five counts of forgery and burglary.

Deputies said the suspect had been stopping at various liquor stores in the area, including one in Montclair, and purchasing liquor on the credit card. Meanwhile deputies learned that a credit card sent to Avis Bagley, Jordon's neighbor, by the Bank of America had not been received by Bagley. The card had been used in Palm Springs to rent a car for 24 hours, unknown to Bagley. When the car was not returned after 24 hours Bagley was called.

Bagley called the sheriff's department. Deputies said Jordon had allegedly taken the credit card from Bagley's mailbox several days ago.

A circular was issued to all West End liquor stores describing the stolen card and Jordon as a possible suspect in the theft. Several liquor stores in the area Wednesday called police and sheriff's deputies to report selling liquor to a man using the card. A clerk at the Red Hill liquor store rang a silent robbery alarm to tip deputies when the suspect entered his store and attempted to purchase a bottle of liquor.

Found innocent in picket slaying

BAKERSFIELD (AP) — A Delano man has been found innocent of murder in the shooting death of a United Farm Workers picket during the 1973 grape strike.

Farm worker Bayani Advincula, 23, was acquitted Wednesday by a Kern County Superior Court jury following a two-week trial.

Advincula was charged with murder in the shooting death of Juan De La Cruz, 60, while riding in a pickup past a UFW picket line near Arvin on Aug. 16, 1973.

That shooting and the death of a union member in a tavern incident the same week caused UFW President Cesar Chavez to end the 1973 strike against growers who had switched to the Teamsters Union after their UFW pacts expired.

The trial was delayed almost three years because of an appeal followed by the illness of a defense attorney.

Ford's forces apply pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's campaign forces are stepping up the political presssure on Mississippi's uncommitted Republican convention delegation, state politicians say. Ford strategists say the delegation may swing to Ford this week, delivering a psychological shock to challenger Ronald Reagan.

Made her bed, now she can lie in it

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nancy Donnelly, who left the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy after allegedly being caught in bed with her fiance, is being reinstated, and her lawyer says the 20-year-old cadet is "anxious to go back and be a regular midshipperson."

A spokesman for Maritime Administration, which runs the Kings Point, N.Y., academy, said Wednesday the Oxon Hill, Md., woman still must face normal disciplinary action for the incident that took place last March.

The decision to reinstate her came after prodding from Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., and the American Civil Liberties Union, which was preparing a sex discrimination suit in her behalf.

Miss Donnelly, one of 25 female cadets at the 1,000-student academy, said last month that she resigned quietly on May 17 so that her fiance would be allowed to graduate, as he later did. She called herself the "scapegoat" for the incident.

The academy said last month that the man was not disciplined because he was not positively identified after allegedly being spotted by another cadet in Miss Donnelly's room.

Miss Donnelly, whose father is an academy graduate, was on vacation and unavailable for comment Wednesday.

But her lawyer, Kathleen Peratis of the ACLU's women's rights project, said, "She's delighted."

"The academy behaved very badly in this. They ought to be ashamed of themselves. She's a very sweet girl, and a good cadet," she added.

Ms. Peratis, who prefers that designation, said she had been ready to file a suit Friday charging coercion and sex discrimination. She noted that Miss Donnelly "never has admitted the incident, and it has never been proven."

Beall commented, "The original decision, I feel, was a poor one. It indicated a degree of sex discrimination on the part of the academy."

He said the case "must serve as a guideline for the necessity for fair and equal discipline ... in all instances without regard to a student's sex."

The academy admitted its first women two years ago. Miss Donnelly was a plebe with a high B average. She is due to report to the academy Sunday and will resume classes Aug.

Pat Nixon may go home soon

LONG BEACH (AP) — Doctors should know late today when former First Lady Pat Nixon can leave the hospital and take up her stroke rehabilitation at home, according to a spokesman at Long Beach Memorial Hospital.

Her release could come this week, officials added.

Spokesman Jeff Gerew said Wednesday doctors treating Mrs. Nixon had met to review her progress and found it satisfactory. Her doctors were developing a long range rehabilitation program that she can practice at home, he said.

The wife of former President Richard Nixon was admitted to the hospital July 8 after she suffered a stroke at the Nixon home in San Clemente the day before. Her left leg, arm and side of face were partially paralized.

Her doctors have said they believe she can recover fully with three to four months of therapy.

L.A. denies claims over gas blast

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The city attorney's office says it has denied 14 claims asking for more than $17 million in damages stemming from a gasoline pipeline explosion June 16.

Asst. City Atty. Lorenz Lechner said Wednesday the claims were referred to the owner of the pipeline, Standard Oil Co.; CalTrans and two contractors involved in street work at the explosion site. The city attorney's office said the city was not liable because the city doesn't own or maintain the pipeline or right of way.

Six persons were killed and 16 others injures in the explosion.

Sen. Cranston will attend valley rally for Baldonado

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., will appear July 31 in Claremont at a fundraiser for SANDY BALDONADO, Democratic nominee for the 62nd Assembly District seat.

The event will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wiener, 508 W. 11th St. A donation of $25 per couple is being requested.

"Alan Cranston's support is very important to us. He is a popular public official in this area and his presence on my behalf is a boost for my efforts," said Mrs. Baldonado.

Reservations for the event may be made by phoning the Baldonado campaign office at 599-7760.

REP. JIM LLOYD, D-35th Dist., has opened his main campaign headquarters at 219 S. Citrus St., Covina, and appointed Kay Strevell of Covina as office manager.

The office will be open daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The telphone number is (213) 332-1976.

Lloyd also appointed Kathy Kinley, a teacher in the Ontario-Montclair School District, as honorary chairman of his re-election campaign. She was recently elected to her first full term on the San Bernardino County Democratic State Central Committee and is vice president of the West End Democratic Club.

LOUIS BRUTOCAO, Republican nominee in the 35th Congressional District, has criticized Lloyd for spending tax dollars in postage for postcards sent to valley residents announcing that Lloyd would be at the Pomona City Hall to get constituent reactions to his work in Congress.

"While I recognize that it is a congressman's duty to make himself accessible to the public, I am certain there are cheaper and more effective ways to service the people of the 35th district," he added.

"Surely as long as Lloyd was sending a card into thousands of households, Lloyd could at least have expressed his position on a critical national issue rather than announcing his name in capital letters in nearly every sentence on the card."

Legislation introduced by ASSEMBLYMAN BILL McVITTIE, D-65th Dist., which could lead to the revision of laws regarding property located in the paths of proposed freeways has passed the state Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee.

The measure calls for the state Board of Equalization to review county assessor procedures used to set the value of property earmarked for future freeway development.

"Many of the people who own land along the proposed Foothill Freeway extension through Upland have had to suffer unnecessary agony," he said.

"The planning stage has lasted 20 years but the state still has not acquired all the designated property. As a result, residents have their land tied up because of future condemnation proceedings and until some final decisions are made, the actual land can be used for little else but agriculture."

McVittie believes this is unfair and said a look into assessment procedures would produce tax equity to these property owners and others in California who may find themselves in the same unnecessary situation.

Richard Mason, president of the National Association of Professional Educators, will be speaker at the Gen. George S. Patton REPUBLICAN ASSEMBLY CLUB program Monday in West Covina.

He will discuss "The Critical National Crisis in Education." A potluck dinner will be served at 6:45 p.m., followed by the program at 8. The meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Emerson, 2045 E. Rio Verde Drive, West Covina.

For more information, persons may phone Doris Emerson, (213) 966-7624 or Marlene Calvert, (213) 966-2475.

Demonstration of speed reading set

A demonstration of a speed reading program that is reputed to at least triple most person's reading speed will be offered Tuesday at the Pomona Valley YMCA.

The free demonstration will be given at 7 p.m. by Dan Rosenwasser, reading specialist for E.I.R. System.

The demonstration will serve as an introduction to a full course in the system, although the dates of the course have not been announced.

"The E.I.R. courses will be open to adults as well as students because increases in reading speed, comprehension and study habits can benefit everyone," said Rosenwasser.

The course includes a special study-habits kit, which covers such areas as writing term papers, taking exams and notes, and other valuable information for increases study skills and comprehension.

More than 15,000 persons have taken the course in Southern California.

For information or reservations for the demonstration, persons may call 623-6433.

Czech shoplifters

PRAGUE (AP) — Within the span of one year, 700 shoplifters were caught in the act in Prague's largest department store, Kotva.

The majority of the shoplifters were 30 or younger and each took an average of three items. Most of the people caught were carrying relatively large sums of money.

Hurt Fullerton man quits Chino hospital

A 21-year-old Fullerton man, injured in a two-car traffic collision at Pipeline and Schaefer avenues in Chino Monday night, was released from Chino General Hospital Wednesday following treatment.

Douglas William Norfolk was admitted to the hospital shortly after the accident. Dennis Lee Whitlock, 20, of 1052 Mission Blvd., Pomona also was treated for injuries at the Chino hospital and released.

Police said the Fullerton man's westbound car collided broadside with Norfolk's northbound vehicle.

JOHN A. WESSELY

Retiring police chief to be feted

Retiring Upland Police Chief John A. Wessely will be honored at a dinner July 30 at 7 p.m. at the Ontario Elks Lodge.

Coy Estes, who officially replaces Wessely as police chief on Aug. 1, is chairman of the retirement party. The dinner is open to the public and reservations are to be made with Estes at 982-1331 by Monday.

Wessely joined the Upland Police Department on Aug. 1, 1946 and served as head of the department since April 1, 1957.

In a resolution passed Monday by the Upland City Council, Wessely was cited for his leadership. The resolution said:

"Under his leadership the Police Department of the City of Upland coped in an admirable fashion with all the pressures of rapid growth and changes in attitudes towards authority by segments of society.

"Under his supervision the Police Department of Upland maintained and enhanced its reputation for fine and fair protection of citizens."

Bill Hill, San Bernardino County coroner, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Kaiser expects strong steel sales in West

The 1976 market for steel in the western United States is expected to show solid recovery from the low level of 1975, according to a report issued by Kaiser Steel Corp., Oakland.

The business recession and accompanying drop in steel consumption reduced 1975 western steel receipts to 7,412,000 tons. This level was in contrast with the record high in 1974 of 11,021,000 tons.

Lines of activity promising good gains include residential-related steel products, automotive parts, tubing, pails and drums, cold finished bars, appliances and metal furniture. Large gains are expected for sheet products and hot rolled bars.

The report expects homebuilding to be up substantially in 1976. New dwelling-unit authorizations in the West are forecast to total 300,000 this year, an increase of 31 per cent over 1975. This increased activity will stimulate a number of residential-related steel consuming areas.

Much other economic data is included in the annual Western Steel Market report, published by Kaiser Steel's Commercial Research Department. It is the only regional report of its kind in the steel industry.

The report details the components of the 1975 market in the seven western states. That market dropped as steel consumers worked off the unusually large inventories they had built up in 1974. The end of these inventory reductions will be the major factor in the western steel market's recovery this year.

In 1975, western suppliers regained dominance as the steel source for the western market, according to the report. Western steel producers supplied 53 per cent of the market, up six percentage points from 1974. The gain was taken from the reduced imported steel share for the year. Eastern U.S. steel producers supplied 16 per cent of the market, the same share as in 1974.

Murder charge dropped

The murder charge against a young Chino man accused of running down and killing Simeon Lee on a Pomona parking lot more than a year ago was dismissed in Pomona Municipal Court but he still faces manslaughter and felonious hit-run charges.

The defendant, Robert Charles Stone, 19, won dismissal of the charge by Judge Thomas F. Nuss after Stone's attorney, Raymond Youngquist, argued at the preliminary hearing that there was no evidence to sustain it.

But Nuss bound Stone over to Pomona Superior Court on the other charges and scheduled his arraingment Aug. 3. The young man has been free without having had to post bail.

The incident occurred April 21, 1975, on the Pep Boys parking lot at 336 E. Holt Ave. Investigators charged that Stone was the driver who pursued and eventually ran down the victim shortly after midnight.

Ontario mayor urges study

Future housing: a noisy issue

Ontario Mayor Paul Treadway has given notice he will frown on any single family residential development in a southwest study area until the noise of airplanes departing from Ontario International Airport can be measured.

He discussed his concern Tuesday night when the City Council was asked to accept a memorandum regarding a study made by the planning staff of an area bounded by Mission Boulevard, Phillips Street and San Antonio and Mountain avenues.

The council had earlier requested the study after it overruled a Planning Commission decision and approved a residential development in that area.

Treadway identified the study area as being on the fringe of a noise contour line and urged no single family development be approved until the noise level could be checked.

In a separate item, members approved the purchse of noise monitoring equipment at a cost of $29,961. Treadway said the equipment may be available within 60 days and urged the study area be the first location checked.

"Before any development takes place, I want to be sure this area falls within the safe noise level," he stressed.

Similar opinions had earlier been expressed by councilmen Homer Briggs and Robert Abel.

In its report to the council, the planning staff recommended the study area's general plan designation remain; no new single family homes be permitted north of the Ralston Street alignment or inside the 65 decibel line; the area north of Ralston Street be developed only with soundproofed multiple uses and existing commercial zoning along Mission Boulevard remain; and existing agricultural pursuits remain.

The report noted that "no matter what is planned for the future not much will happen with the existing inadequate water and sewer lines for the study area."

The council accepted the report as part of its consent calendar but did not adopt the recommendations.

Should any proposals for residential development be submitted for the area, the City Council would look at them as individual applications, said Treadway.

Van used in kidnapping a mystery

LIVERMORE (AP) — One of the biggest question marks in the bizarre Chowchilla busnaping is how the abductors managed to secretly bury the truck trailer where the 26 children and their bus driver were entombed for 18 hours.

Investigators have learned:

—The trailer had been buried less than a year. That was determined by analysis of soil samples from the scene.

—It would have taken heavy equipment to bury the 25-foot-long moving van. It took authorities a full day of digging with heavy equipment Tuesday to pull the well-entrenched moving van out of the ground.

—Careful preparations were made when it was buried, including the installation of battery-operated ventilators and the placing of extra camouflage.

What investigators are trying to figure out is how all the work could have been done without the kidnapers being detected, and what equipment they used.

The trailer was purchased from a Palo Alto moving firm Nov. 20, four days prior to the purchase of the three Navy surplus Dodge vans, of which two were believed used to haul the children to the hide-out.

The Fresno Bee reported Tuesday that a source close to the investigation said the man who purchased the moving trailer has a "close connection" with the gravel company where it was hidden.

"One of the abdutors was someone who had access to the quarry and who could use the equipment to dig the hole without his presence being questioned," the newspaper quoted the unnamed source as saying. "It was someone who could carry out the operation with impunity."

Alameda County Lt. Gene Saper conceded that it would have been difficult for heavy equipment necessary to dig the large hole to be brought in without being detected.

David A. Rezendes of the Secruity Eye Patrol, the firm which provides protection for the quarry on weekend nights only, said the quarry is usually vacant on week nights.

"If they worked between 10 p.m. and 5 a.m., they probably would have had free hand," Rezendes said. "They easily could have done their work during these hours."

CHOWCHILLA VAN

Workman prepare the van in which Chowchilla school children were held captive in a Livermore, Calif. quarry, so it could be moved from the place where it was buried in the quarry. A sheriff's department cab was hooked onto the van and a tractor pulled the cab and van free, so the van could be hauled to Santa Rita Rehabilitation center for study.

First tuxedo shocks crowd

NEW YORK (AP) — When Griswold Lorillard, a New York socialite of the late 19th century, appeared at a formal dance in a suit of his own design, he startled the crowd because the coat had no tails.

According to the American Formalwear Association, "the garment was immediately nicknamed after the town of its first appearance—which was exclusive Tuxedo, N.Y."

Ethics committee investigating leak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Les Aspin says he loaned his copy of the secret House intelligence committee report to the CIA and his staff gave several pages to Reuters News Agency, but the identity of the person who leaked the report to CBS reporter Daniel Schorr remains unknown.

The Wisconsin Democrat said he cooperated with the CIA in an effort to win a compromise on material the agency wanted kept from the public. He said the intelligence committee staff refused to provide the CIA with a copy so he loaned his to the spy agency.

The House ethics committee, which is investigating the leak to Schorr, has heard testimony from five of the 13 members of the now-disbanded committee. Aspin told the ethics panel what he did with his copy of the report, and Rep. William Lehman, D-Fla., said he lost his copy.

Other intelligence committee members will be questioned today.

Schorr arranged for the suppressed report to be published in a New York City weekly, the Village Voice. He has declined to say who gave him his copy, and ethics committee investigators say they have been unable to find out, despite hundreds of interviews.

During testimony Monday and Tuesday, five members of the intelligence panel denied being Schorr's source or knowing who was.

Testifying Monday or Tuesday were Aspin, Lehman, Chairman Otis Pike, D-N.Y., and Reps. Dale Milford, D-Tex., and Philip Hayes, D-Ind.

Aspin said Tuesday his staff gave two pages of the report to Reuters after an excerpt from the report was published alleging the CIA used the news agency and other news sources in its intelligence work.

The CIA later said it had mentioned Reuters hypothetically, and never intended to claim manipulation of the London-based news service.

Reuters officials were unavailable for comment Tuesday night.

Aspin confirmed that he gave his copy of the final report to CIA counsel Mitchell Rogovin after Rogovin was refused a copy by the committee's staff director, A. Searle Field.

Aspin said he didn't think he violated committee procedures in giving Rogovin the report. Aspin said he had no reason to think Rogovin, the Ford administration's liaison with the intelligence committee, would not be in line to get the final report.

Asked why Field turned Rogovin down, Aspin said, "By that time relations had been so completely strained between the staff of the committee and Mr. Rogovin, it could have been any number of things ... the whole atmosphere was very bitter."

He said he had worked closely with Rogovin for weeks to try and get more information declassified for the final report and the CIA had dropped many of its reservations.

In giving Rogovin the final report, he said, he hoped the CIA would agree to let the committee majority publish even more secret information contained in the report.

"Substantively, there was no reason why this couldn't have been done," Aspin said. "Politically, it couldn't have been done.

ALONG THE RIVER — Capt. Harry Louden guides the new Mississippi Queen, the first everynight riverboat to be built in 50 years, is on its shakedown cruise near Louisville this week on the Ohio before it heads to home port in Cincinnati.

Mississippi Queen excites old-timers

ABOARD THE MISSISSIPPI QUEEN (AP) — It has a paddle wheel and a calliope, but gone are the branch water and bourbon-drinking gamblers of riverboats of old.

The Mississippi Queen, the first overnight steamboat built in America in 50 years, is gliding through its first passenger cruise along the Ohio River.

"She's like a Holiday Inn on a raft," smiled 75-year-old Fred Way, who began his career cleaning cuspidors on a towboat in 1919. "I never imagined there would be such a thing on the river. Who would have dreamed it?"

The Mississippi Queen, 379 feet long, is nearly twice the length of the Betsie Ann, which Way piloted from 1925 to 1930.

Built entirely of steel, the Mississippi Queen lacks the classic look of her predecessors, but she has been seen as a new found friend by the rivermen, many of whom admit they never thought they would see her like again.

"I'm just happy to be alive and able to sail on her," said Capt. Art Zimmer, who at 71 is helping to pilot the boat on its first trip with a full compliment of nearly 400 passengers. "Until four years ago, I thought we'd seen the end of the steamboat.

"I guess that shows that if you can live long enough, every idea will come back."

3,000 male prostitutes booked

VAN NUYS (AP) — City statistics show Los Angeles police have arrested more than 3,000 men on prostitution charges over a 30-month period.

The statistics were filed in Van Nuys Municipal Court Tuesday in response to sex discrimination charges. A defense attorney representing a woman arrested on prostitution charges claimed the law was being discriminatorily applied against women.

California's prostitution law has been interpreted to apply equally to men and women, whether they are buying or selling sexual favors.

The statistics showed Los Angeles police arrested 5,541 women and 3,630 men from January, 1974, through this June.

However, it was not clear how many of those arrested were prostitutes and how many were customers. One police official estimated that most of the men arrested were homosexual prostitutes.

Valley cyclist starting out on 9,000-mile trip

Jaw surgery effects linger on but he can't wait

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

A firm determination which has sustained him through 19 major surgeries may help David Harwich, 20, to the successful completion of the major challenge he starts today.

David, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Harwich, 1714 N. Vallejo Way, Upland, is starting alone on a 9,000-mile bicycle trip across the United States although he is still recovering from surgery to reconstruct his jaw last year.

"I think I can make the trip on about $600 for the 100 days I plan to be gone," said David. "I don't eat too much and plan to survive on orange juice and hamburgers."

The youth, who studied filmmaking at Chaffey College last year, plans to photograph his trip in detail. He is flying to Portland, ore., today, taking along his 10-speed bike and a minimum of gear.

From Oregon, the trip will follow northern routes across the country to Washington, D.C., then on to Massachusetts where he will visit three towns bearing his family name.

"There's a North Harwich, a South Harwich and a Port Harwich, which is named for an ancestor," David said. "The name is not that common in this country and we have very few relatives."

David says becoming lonely has never been a problem with him.

"My bike is really a part of me. I've already traveled alone in British Columbia and the northwestern states. Even just a few days after a recent surgery, I was outside on my bike, it's where I feel most comfortable.

"Others don't understand why I do this. But I don't understand how people can stay cooped up in a house or at a dull job.

"My only regret is that I'll miss my 21st birthday at home."

David will be 21 on Sept. 21.

He plans to send his family frequent postcards along the way but will call home only in an emergency. He explained that during a previous trip, the family tried to set up prearranged phone calls and it was difficult.

Mrs. Harwich admits that she "says a lot of special rosaries" while her son is traveling, but adds "David has already proved that he's capable of doing anything to which he sets his mind."

San Dimas preparing to launch hearings on extensive rezonings

Progress Bulletin

Pomona, California ■ Thursday, July 22, 1976

By MAE TATE
PB Staff Writer

San Dimas officials will undertake a massive city-wide mailing in September to begin the lengthy — possibly controversial — process of making the zoning map conform with the General Plan.

The progrlam was among the decisions at a joint meeting Wednesday night of the City Council and the Planning Commision.

Planning Director Mark Goldberg detailed the long report on the process required by state law to make the zoning map and General Plan consistent. He divided the city into four areas "to give it some logic before proceeding."

The sections included Gladstone Street north; Gladstone south and east of the 210 Freeway; west of the 210 Freeway and north of Walnut Creek; and Via Verde.

Goldberg pointed out that the zone changes range from "mundane to drastic" and the "staff anticipates the most controversial areas to be those zones that are being changed from commercial to residential and industrial to residential."

He suggested that in order to make the procedure easier to handle, the staff should meet with the residents of each area. Queried by Councilman Philip Wax about the time involved in accomplishing this, the planner said "staff time depends upon the effects of the drastic changes. It could take from several months to several years."

Goldberg offered councilmen and commissioners the options of taking the controversial changes — many of which dealt with changes from light manufacturing and commercial to multiple residential — in separate, single hearings; holding the controversial ones until a later date; or considering all the zone changes within an area at the same time.

Councilman Jim Lough felt that to separate the hearings would "confuse the people and get mix-ups on dates. How do we reallly know what things will be tough?"

Councilman James McLean said "the more time you take, the more trouble you cause."

Commissioner Dave Brode commented that the "controversial issues could act as a catalyst to get the input we need from the public."

Commission chairman Don Haefer suggested that public hearings be held on consecutive nights for each area in order to reach the largest possible number of residents. Brode emphasized the need to saturate the community with specific information on what the city is attempting to do with the hearings on General Plan-zoning map consistency.

Mayor Marvin Ersher said that flyers explaining this purpose be mailed to each property owner, starting in mid-September and ending Nov. 15. This should be followed by meetings between staff and the community to further explain the procedure, he added. No hearings would be held between Nov. 15 and Jan 1 in order for each area to have time to meet with staff.

Goldberg could not tie down any definite time to be spent in each area, saying that the "time within each area is difficult to assess."

The council and commission agreed to complete each individual area before proceeding with the next.

McVittie opposed to milk-pricing proposal

Assemblyman Bill McVittie, D-65th Dist., told members of the Montclair business community Wednesday he opposes a milk pricing bill and favors a measure to save time adjudicating traffic violations.

He spoke to some 40 persons at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the Islander Restaurant under the topic "Pending Legislation and How It Affects You."

As a member of the Assembly agricultural committee, McVittie is opposing a bill by Central Valley legislators to change the basis of pricing on milk throughout the state.

McVittie, whose district includes the Chino Valley that is highly concentrated with dairymen opposing the bill, said he "will fight against it because it hurts my district. It would cause economic chaos in that prices go up and the consumer gets it in the neck."

On the other hand, he supports a bill that calls for the immediate adjudication of traffic violations in one hearing. This is initially designed to save both the working public and courts time and money.

McVittie eventually hopes to take traffic violations out of the courts completely and put them in the hands of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

"Traffic violations could be handled administratively and give the judges and court more time for trials. This could stimulate less plea bargaining and better justice," he said.

Besides saving thousands of dollars for the salaries of judges, bailiffs, court reporters and testifying police officers, it would "get the smaller cases out of the courts and improve the standards of justices so we can get more for our bucks," McVittie said.

The bill is presently in the Senate judicial committee.

McVittie also spoke of his recent appointment to the National Conference of Uniform State Laws and said he hopes to introduce all or portions of a bill for this within the next session of the state legislation.

He reported that an attempt in the last session to get lay persons and nonpoliticans appointed to the state judicial committee had failed. He said there was a need to "get noninstitutionalized thinking with lay persons on the judicial council," and he will reintroduce the bill in the upcoming session.

The assemblyman voiced concern about Assembly Bill 15, authored by Charles Warren, which would allow the state to control agricultural land and freeze land for agricultural purposes.

He questioned this "idealistic" bill and said that the "greatest resource in terms of capitalism is our land. This bill would restrict private development. It is taking away potential development rights which amounts to condemnation by the state."

This sets a possibly bad precedent, he added. Land use controls should be implemented at the local level, he said, because local cities and planning commissioners are "closer to and more responsive to the people."

Valley news in brief

Three in hospital after collision

An automobile traveling south on the Corona Freeway in Pomona struck a parked car near Holt Avenue Wednesday night, sending three persons to the hospital.

Marcos Berrera, 18, 9830 Camulos St., Montclair, was driving on the freeway when another car cut in front of him, causing Berrera to swerve to the right and hit the parked vehicle, said highway patrolmen.

Berrera and his two passengers, Crucita Alires, 21, 977 W. 17th St., Pomona and Rosemarie Rangel, 23, 1330 W. 11th St., Pomona, were taken to San Dimas Community Hospital for treatment, said officers.

Woman injured when car is hit

An Alta Loma woman was injured Wednesday when her car was struck as she slowed on Riverside Drive near Ontario to turn into a parking lot.

Sharon Jensen, 22, 5590 Vin Mar St., was admitted to Chino General Hospital where her condition today is reported as stable.

The woman had been driving west on Riverside Drive and was starting to make a turn west of Campus Avenue when her car was struck from behind by an auto operated by Morris Bean, 24, Mira Loma, said highway patrolmen.

Bean said he was behind the other car and glanced to the side of the roadway. When he looked back, he observed the car slowing in front of him.

Child, 7, hurt in collision

A 7-year-old child was injured slightly Wednesday afternoon when the car she was in was involved in a collision with another car at Towne and Bonita avenues in Pomona.

The child, Shelly Darlene Smith, was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital where she was treated for a head injury and released.

The little girl was a passenger within a car driven by Patty Lou Smith, 29, of Pomona. The other driver involved was Steven A. Sutra, 19, of Pasadena.

A traffic signal at the southwest corner of the intersection was knocked down in the accident. Neither driver was hurt.

Juveniles may have set fire

Juveniles may have set a fire that caused $500 damage to a car owned by Bobby Williams, 2260 Gambier Drive, Pomona, early Wednesdy said Fire Chief John M. Fowlkes.

Angela Seymour of the same address and a neighbor put out the fire with a garden hose, but firemen found a two-quart bottle which smelled of gasoline and a match book near the right rear tire of the car which was parked on the driveway.

Williams told firemen and the police he had been harrassed by some 11 male juveniles as he drove home at 3:30 a.m. who called, "There he is. Let's get him."

Desegregation action ordered against Pomona School District

Saying federal officials have "failed in their duties" to monitor desegregation, U.S. District Court Judge John Sirica Wednesday ordered the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to take action against 46 school districts, including the Pomona Unified School District.

Sirica told HEW officials to move against the school districts in the next 60 to 120 days, saying there had been enough delays. The order could lead to withholding of federal funds from school districts that are not in compliance with federal desegregation laws.

Pomona's Acting Schools Supt. Sidney G. Moses said the district had received no orders from the court or from HEW, "nothing at all." Funding on the 1976-77 Emergency School Aid Act (ESAA) $1.8 million application was held up by HEW, "but all charges, we think have been cleared up.

"Two years ago we were ordered to balance our teaching staff to qualify for our ESAA grant, which we did , but we have not been ordered to start busing or change our boundaries to balance enrollment."

Enrollment in the district in 1975-76 was 20,560 of which 55.95 per cent represented ethnic minorities. The district follows the neighborhood school concept and has one elementary school that is 87.63 per cent white, another that is 95.40 per cent black and another that is 63.69 per cent Spanish surnamed.

Pomona is one of the 46 districts for which HEW was given 60 days to conclude investigations and issue conclusions and 120 days to begin compliance hearings in cases where violations are found.

Plaintiffs in the case had argued that HEW officials failed to enforce the desegregation regulations throughout the country with as much enthusiasm as in the South.

None of the school districts listed by Sirica was in the South. A similar court order involving schools only in the South was directed at HEW officials several years ago, and a government study released last month said fewer students attend "intensely segregated" schools in the South than in any other section of the country.

In response to Sirica's order, Martin H. Gerry, director of HEW's Office of Civil Rights, said the government has already taken proper actions against the 46 school districts. He contended the districts are voluntarily desegregating "in virtually all instances."

Sirica cited "substantial delays of from 1½ to 8 years" in completion of HEW investigations of compliance by the 46 school districts, "during which time the school districts involved have continued to receive federal financial assistance."

But Gerry said Sirica was ruling on the basis of old information.

"I regret that the judge felt it appropriate to take this action, particularly in light of his open acknowledgement that the record in the case before him was stale," Gerry said. "The record before the judge was indeed stale."

Gerry said 21 of the school districts cited by Sirica have voluntarily agreed to compliance plans, four others are involved in enforcement procedings, one is before a federal court and HEW is preparing to take formal enforcement action against 10 others.

He said three other districts "have submitted or will soon submit voluntary compliance plans which most likely will be accepted." The investigation of New York City schools is incomplete and the "voluntary compliance process" has not been completed in the remaining districts, Gerry said.

In his order, Sirica broke the 46 districts into three categories. He ordered HEW to begin investigations of 14 districts within 60 days and initiate compliance hearings against them within 120 days if they are found to be in violation of civil rights laws. Sirica ordered hearings to be scheduled in another 26 cases.

How silly can HEW get?

That ruling by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), which would have banned father-son and mother-daughter events in public schools as violations of sex discrimination laws had it not been squelched by President Ford, is not the only — or worst — example of bureaucratic silliness emanating from this particular bureau. At least two others have come to our attention lately.

In the Perry school system near Massilon, Ohio, girls who grow moustaches or beards are henceforth barred from classrooms. The school board took this drastic action in an attempt to bring its dress code into compliance with an HEW directive. The department had said that the code discriminated against boys by limiting the length of hair and prohibiting moustaches or beards without applying similar restrictions to girls.

"To be equal, we'll have to do something about the length of boys' skirts," said school board member George Anderson during debate on the code. That step was not taken, however, so the school may still be in trouble when the HEW watchdogs find out about it.

Meanwhile, down in Shreveport, La., the Caddo Parish school system has been threatened by HEW with a cut-off of almost $700,000 in federal aid because there are more black children than white children in special education classes. The fact that there are 1,300 black children and only 900 white children enrolled in the parish's programs for the mentally retarded amounts to racial discrimination, the department alleges.

"That's the most preposterous thing I've ever heard of," says school board president Joe Garner. "What are we supposed to do, recruit? What will the federal government think of next?"

That's a question whose answer we tremble to speculate upon.

Ultimate TV lawyer

Human nature being what it is, not much can probably be done about "the law's delay" of which Shakespeare complained. Thanks to the computer, however, lawyers are being relieved of the delay and tedium involved in preparing cases.

An outstanding example of computerized legal research is a system called LEXIS, developed and marketed by Mead Data Central, Inc. Law firms, law schools, government agencies and others subscribing to the system have central computer.

In a typical example, a lawyer, using a typewriterlike keyboard, asks the computer what cases it has in its memory on a broad subject, such as civil disobedience in opposition to school busing. There are, say, 15 of these.

On command from the lawyer, the computer next displays the titles of each of the 15 references and if one looks promising, the lawyer asks it to display part of the text. If that seems appropriate for his case, he directs the computer to display the full text. Finally, he can press a key and a high-speed printer will type out the complete text for his use.

LEXIS contains every decision of the U.S. Supreme Court since 1938, all federal courts of appeals since 1959 and all district courts since 1970. It also has comprehensive collections of tax, securities and trade regulation law, as well as corporate annual reports. In addition, it currently has the state court decisions of California, Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas.

Just to keep the service up to date, 850 new decisions are added to the memory bank every week, and the job of adding earlier federal cases and the law of additional states is proceeding as fast as possible.

"No longer must legal research consume hours of a lawyer's time," says Mead president Jerome S. Rubin. The computer, he says, may even result in smaller fees for lawyers' services by making them more efficient.

If so, that would be the most startling development of all.

Writer's Day gunned down

Dear Editor:

Penny-wise and pound-foolish might sum up MSAC's decision to withdraw funding from its innovative, well-attended and inspirational Writers' Day program. This annual activity has provided community writers — high schoolers, MSAC students and other local participants — with an outlet for literary aspirations. The contests held for each of these groups covered a wide range — poetry, criticism, articles, sci fi, articles, etc. — and the recognition (and cash prizes) served as a heartening opportunity for would-be pros to be encouraged, read and rewarded.

The lectures, given by working writers of all genres (Bradbury, Jack Smith, Joseph Wambaugh, for example) sparkled with enthusiasm, making roomsful of eager listeners feel like "members of the club," hopeful of contributing somehow to our literary heritage. Even the box lunch has been a successful undertaking, featuring a decent pastrami sandwich, pastry and a fruit drink. (If the modest fee covers the cost of food and the Writers' Day magazine, I'm sure participants wouldn't mind shelling out another dollar toward other costs.)

However immodest it might seem, I myself may be one of the best reasons for the continuance of MSAC's program. In 1973, I was a student at MSAC (one of the not-unusual housewife types), delighted to win first prize in the poetry competition. Because my poems were printed in that premiere year's magazine and read by one of the guest speakers, Marian Barnett of the Center Theatre Group, I was contacted a few months later by one of the Music Center's stage directors and asked to write a play. The resulting work was well received and praised (though it hasn't yet been produced) and a television play was requested as a result of this beginning effort. I am now working on a stage musical (again, I was recruited) and have every expectation of eventual production. The exposure I received as a Writers' Day winner led to an opportunity I would not have otherwise encountered.

Not all contest winners, of course, can expect such a parlay. However, the existence of Writers' Day means the continuance of such exciting possibilities. Writers' Day has generated enthusiasm, know-how (Sterling Siliphant's advice on how to peddle a script, for example), a feeling of community and the opportunity for two-way exposure between professionals and those not yet professionals.

It's a shame that the Writers' Day "Godfathers" (as President Eldon Pearce and the Board of Trustees were gratefully designated in this year's magazine) have gunned down a successful enterprise that served the community so brilliantly. Effective, positive, service-oriented programs that are overwhelmingly well-attended are hard to come by and should be nurtured.

I hope the reports of the death of Writers' Day are highly exaggerated. If the program remains unfunded, however, the dedicated faculty members responsible for Writers' Day and its lively success over the past four years should be given thanks and credit. I recognize hard work and integrity. The community recognizes hard work and integrity. It remains to be seen if the MSAC Board of Trustees intends to encourage and sustain such qualities in the MSAC faculty.

The Not-So-White Knight

WASHINGTON — Commerce Secretary Elliot Richardson, the White Knight of the Republican Party, has fallen off his charger.

Richardson is the former attorney general who assumed heroic status two years ago when he refused a White House order to dismiss Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox and got himself fired for his courage.

This earned Richardson a reputation for integrity that has now made him a vice presidential prospect. His presence on the ticket, his supporters contend, would help to defuse the Watergate issue.

But his shining reputation has now lost some of its luster. He heads a White House task force which is reviewing U.S. corporate bribery of foreign officials. The bribes were uncovered by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The scandal has rocked the world, embarrassing governments from Italy to Japan. It has also produced some red faces in corporate board rooms.

The Commerce Dept., which Richardson now heads, usually has shown great sympathy and understanding for the corporate moguls with whom it deals. Swayed perhaps by his new environment, Richardson has written a letter to Sen. William Proxmire, D.-Wis., attacking the SEC.

The SEC was operating on "tenuous legal grounds," he charged during the bribery investigation. Therefore, he opposed legislation that would give the SEC a major role in probing corporate payoffs.

The original drafts of Richardson's letter, we have learned, contained even stronger criticism of the SEC. But cooler heads on the task force staff persuaded him to edit out the harsher language.

Richardson's attack upon the SEC appalled his task force colleagues. Another Cabinet member, who serves with Richardson on the task force, lambasted the letter as "disgraceful" and "dangerous." Other colleagues whom we polled called it a "mistake" and "ill-advised." Not a single member of the task force defended Richardson.

In the backrooms of the SEC, meanwhile, the Richardson letter has had a demoralizing effect. The SEC happens to be one of the few federal agencies that has resisted political pressure and has investigated powerful corporations fearlessly. Over 100 corporations have been investigated on bribery charges.

SEC Chairman Roderick Hills returned Richardson's fire with a sizzling letter calling Richardson's remarks "unfounded, inappropriate and ill-timed." This carried extra impact because the two men have been close frineds. Indeed, Richardson was responsible for bringing Hills and his wife, Carla, to Washington.

When Richardson was attorney general, he offered Carla a job at the Justice Dept. When he was defense secretary, he offered a Pentagon position to Roderick. Richardson also supported Carla Hills for the Cabinet. She is now secretary of housing and urban development.

Richardson has apologized for the strong language he used against the SEC. But he still wants to exclude the SEC from a major role in curbing foreign bribery.

Footnote: Richardson told us his criticism of the SEC was intended strictly as a legal argument. As for the criticism by his colleagues, he said: "I wish they would tell me those things to my face."

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Senate Democratic leaders are quietly preparing to block President Ford's key appointments until next January, hoping Jimmy Carter will then become President and will fill the vacancies with deserving Democrats . . . California's charismatic Gov. Jerry Brown has quietly prepared a master list of key Democrats, coast to coast, who have shown an interest in him for President.

We need good followers

This is going to sound dreadfully old-fashioned — because it is. I still address any superior officer, military or civil, as "sir." When we began to call our governors and legislators "Billy" and "Johnny" the leaders who used to try to measure up — started measuring down.

One of the Democrat presidential hopefuls who got left at the post this race is one of D.C.'s most articulate senators, always the epitome of sartorial propriety. It was embarrassing to see him stumping his home state tieless and in shirt-sleeves and trying so hard to sound cornball.

"We've known him from a boy," some constituents say, "of course we call him 'Frank.' "

Granted, some politicians have encouraged first name, even nickname, familiarity. Yet when our leaders are nothing above or beyond what we are, what claim have they to leadership?

Even on the golf course I address the pastor of our church as pastor because I want and expect him to be somebody special. His position as a leader imposes an obligation to be a proper example and that obligation works both ways.

I'm convinced that the secular and religious people we put on a pedestal deserve to be looked up to. And if we don't they'll climb down to our level and that is not really what we want.

Billy Graham is an exception but then he is one of a kind. Of course we called President Eisenhower "Ike" as a term of endearment — but face to face he was never anything less than "General Ike" to those who really respected him.

And whether Gerry Ford or Ronnie Reagan or Jimmy Carter is the next President, I would hope that we of the media might set an example, might seek to redignify the office with a more formal salutation.

It can be argued that to address a jurist as "Judge" or "Your Honor" does not endow him with honor he does not otherwise have, but I'm not so sure.

Common men can be motivated to conduct themselves uncommonly. And yes that goes also for doctors, professors and policemen.

Whichever is the chicken or the egg — Whether our giants shrank before or after we withdrew our deference does not really matter. Our nation was never intended to be a political democracy. Ours is a representative republic — wherein it was intended that we would elect our "best men" to make decisions in our behalf.

Instead what we have tended to do in recent years is to elect men our own size, treat them like peers, yet expect them to behave like something more than that. In a government of the people it takes good followers to make good leaders!

It might be a most appropriate Bicentennial resolution for us Indians to re-endow our Chiefs with their formal titles, then to demand that they measure up.

Just in jest

Pope was right when he wrote, "A little learning is a dangerous thing." Take a college graduate as a classic example of that statement. He has a little learning — not enough, of course, to get him too far down the road to the academic heights, but a little way. And that's where the danger starts with a little learning. From that point on out, year after year for the rest of his natural life, that graduate is going to be dunned for an Alumni Fund contribution.

Veteran groups in a turmoil

By EARL G. WATERS

Two statewide veteran groups have called for the firing of both the director and deputy director of the State Veterans Department. The demands were presented by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the association of Veteran Program Administrators for California colleges.

The board, already embroiled in a "shooting war" with Department Director Virginia Mae Days, held a special meeting in Sacramento to bare its grievances. It was so ired at the department management that it held its meeting in the borrowed supervisors' chambers rather than use its own meeting room at the Veterans Building.

Its furor stems from the elimination of funds to pay the board's executive secretary, an exempt position authorized by the constitution for all boards appointed by the governor.

According to board members the issue arose when its present aide resigned. Before the board got around to selecting a replacement, pressure was brought by Days to name a non-veteran woman. When the board balked she engineered the deletion of the funds from the budget via the governor's blue pencil.

Pointing out its legal responsibility to establish policy for the operation of the department, the board charged the elimination of the positions was an "emasculation of its powers because this responsibility cannot be accomplished without the complete and independent assistance of a full time executive".

The board is reluctant to being made completely dependent upon department personnel for decision making information. And it wants its own staff to see that its policies are carried out.

While the differences might have been worked out at the meeting neither Days nor her deputy Willie S. Ellingson, attended. This unprecedented snub of the board by the department head was further aggravated by the information that Days had banned all department personnel from the meeting. So provoked was the board that it amended its prepared statement. Initially it had called only for reinstatement of the funds. As altered it added a request for a full board meeting with the governor "to discuss the serious problems in the department" including the conveying of demands for the firing of Mays and Ellingson and the failure "of the department to carry out the policies" of the board.

The veteran groups have been unhappy with the department for many months complaining that "hard earned veteran benefits are being eroded" and "the department has not acted in the best interests of veterans."

The VFW, which adopted a resolution at its convention for the firing of Days and Ellingson, also charged the governor "has failed to meet the critical needs" of the nearly 4.0 million veterans in California.

The delay by Governor Brown in making major appointments after taking office was unusual but apparently the Veteran's Department had such low priority with him he did not fill the position for almost a year. When he did make the appointments he chose persons with little experience with veteran groups and apparently no great interest in them. Days stated at the time of her appointment that her major interest was in the reform of criminal justice. Ellingson formerly worked for the Office of Criminal Justice and Planning.

Even before their appointments the department had come under fire from legislative committees and had been the subject of critical reports issued by both the Legislative Analyst and the Auditor General.

So dissatisfied are the VFW members that they adopted a resolution calling for the establishment of standing committees in both houses of the Legislature to watchdog veteran interests and have employed a former department director, Joseph Farber, to lobby for them.

Domestic just mad at herself

Dear Ann: I read with great interest and mounting blood pressure the letter from the person who employs a "dumbbell" to do her ironing, although she did say that she was a nice person. Wasn't that sweet of her?

I have worked as a domestic in a household for several years, and if asked what qualifications you need to be able to do this type of work, I would say — a degree in practically everything from psychology to nursing. Also you should have your own teeth, because you will be grinding them a lot.

You will be working for women and men who don't have one ounce of common sense, but are authorities on absolutely everything. They consider themselves BPs (Beautiful People). But the abbreviation really stands for Bitchy Phonies because that's what most of them are. P.S. If you think this letter is rough, you should see the ones I tore up. — Another Dumbbell

Dear Friend: Willie Washington is a wonderful woman who has done housework for me for 20 years. I read her your letter and asked for a comment. Willie said, "That woman is not going to like anybody she works for because she is mad at the whole world, including herself."

Dear Ann Landers: Please reassure "Newcomer From the Old Country" that not all Americans are as crude and inquisitive about funerals as her friends and relatives. Questions asked: "Was it big?" "Did anyone faint?"

My husband and I agreed six years ago that our funerals would be simple, and even a little joyous.

When he died unexpectedly three months ago, I kept my word. I asked the funeral director to bury my darling in the red golf shirt he loved so much. Friends and relatives on both sides thought it was just lovely. These days, when the funeral industry is under attack, my advice is to find a funeral director who will let you do exactly as you please. — A Recent Widow

Dear Widow: I second the motion. And may I add, most funeral directors are extremely cooperative. If you encounter one who is not, go elsewhere.

Dear Ann Landers: I am an 18-year-old girl who knows from reading your column that you believe nothing is so destructive to a woman's skin as the sun. But I have a very white complexion and am embarrassed when I'm around girls who have gorgeous tans.

I've tried getting a little color by sunning just a little. It doesn't work. I get splotchy and look like a freak.

Is there anything I can do to get a tan so I won't feel ashamed and look so sickly? — Snow White.

Dear Snow: Use sun-tan makeup. Skillfully applied, it looks like the real thing. When summer is over take some makeup lessons and learn how to enhance your fair complexion — which many women would give their eye teeth for.

Dear Ann Landers: As a person who must diet for the rest of my life, I'd like to comment on the hostess who was mad because most of her guests ate very little and passed up her dessert.

Dieters should explain the situation to the hostess and ask her to keep their problem in mind when she cooks. Or they should bring their own food. I do the latter and no one is ever offended. Pass it along, will you, Ann? — Former Fatty

Dear F.F.: Suggestion number two is O.K. if you tell the hostess in advance. But to expect her to prepare a seaparte meal is, in my opinion, inconsiderate.

A no-nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage — What to Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Parakeet with a sweet tooth

DEAR DR. MILLER: Beagle, our parakeet, has a sweet tooth. Isn't this (a) unusual, (b) bad? — O.F.

DEAR O.F.: Beagle's sweet beak isn't as uncommon as you think. Many caged birds are partial to sweet flavors. Bad? Not really. In fact, it can be a big advantage in getting your bird to consume desirables which otherwise it wouldn't. Beagle might belt down a slightly sweetened Tiger's milk cocktail (or some similarly beneficial high-protein beverage) or sip a vitamin syrup in his water, or even, when necessary take medications spiked with sweets. Conversely, his craving could work to his disadvantage if you indulged him in non-nutritious, hard-to-digest (but delicious) desserts and candy.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Prancer, my miniature Pinscher, has a bald spot in front of her ear. I hadn't worried much about it because she doesn't fuss with it and the skin looks OK. Do you think I should put something on it to make the hair grow anyway? — J.A.

DEAR J.A.: If you can find something that makes hair grow, don't bother putting it on your Pinscher. Package it and make a million. Prancer probably doesn't need it, anyway. Probably she doesn't need anything. You might even find that she has a similar area of comparatively thin hair in front of the other ear. The miniature Pinscher and other breeds (small shorthaired ones in particular) have this thin-haired area from just in front of the ear base extending out in a narrowing band toward the eye. (Some shorthaired cats show similar semi-hairless areas.) Should Prancer actually show a definite bald (not merely sparse) area on one side of her head and not the other, then it may indeed be a skin problem which would warrant something more substantial than a hair restorer, say, instead, her doctor's determination as to cause and treatment required, if any.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Do cats get poison ivy? Can they give it to humans? — F.B.

DEAR F.B.: Cats can come down with poison ivy (or poison oak), though less frequently than dogs. But it's far from common in either species. Even if they don't get it themselves, cats can carry the poisonous resin (from oak or ivy) and transmit it to their owners. Again, dogs do this more often since they're more likely than cats to be bounding through brush and, in the process, be picking up the poison on their hair.

Jeans breach Iron Curtain

Of all the styles the United States has to offer, it seems incongruous that "jeans" would capture the imagination of young Russians.

It has been rumored jeans are capitalistic decadence, moralistically hostile to the socialist way of life and make men and women sartorially equal.

If any of that means you can't cough in them, they're right.

A pair of jeans aren't what I would recommend as a friendly hand across the sea. You can't build a relationship for lasting peace on something that shrinks three inches around the waist, two inches in one leg, three inches in the other, fades all over the towels, and has to be washed 287 times before you can sit in them.

It's the only thing in the last 200 years the Russians don't lay claim to having invented. That should tell you something.

Frankly, my sympathy goes out to the Russian mother whose child brings home his first pair of American jeans.

"What are they?" she asks.

"They're dzhinsys, Mama."

"How much did you pay for them?"

"Fifty rubles."

"FIFTY RUBLES! That's 65 American dollars. For a pair of work overalls your father changes out of before he comes into the house!"

"But Mama, all the comrades are wearing them."

"What else do they do besides stand in the corner by themselves?"

"I'll get you a pair, Mama, and you'll see how comfortable they are."

The next afternoon, Mama is so comfortable she can barely breathe. From the crotch to the waistband, the jeans measure six inches. Mama measures twelve inches. Her blouse pops out of the jeans every time she clears her throat. When she walks, her legs sound like the German army marching into Poland.

"Sit down, Mama," suggests her son.

"I am sitting," she says. "And you say everyone in America is wearing them?"

"Yes, it makes them feel independent and free."

As her gripper pops open, Mama frowns. "Maybe we underestimate the Americans. Maybe they're tougher than we think."

Dr. Lamb

Gout: the disease of kings

DEAR DR. LAMB — A couple of weeks ago my husband awakend during the night with severe pain in his big toe. He started to get up but could hardly stand, his toe was so badly swoolen. He stayed home from work on the next day thinking it would go away but it didn't.

He went to the doctor who X-rayed it and gave him a prescription, and told him he had gout and to come back the following week.

I have heard that people with gout have to give up or at least cut down on certain foods and liquids. The prescription he was given did help and he was ok'd for work in about a week.

This doctor asked my husband if any member of his family had gout. I had never heard of it being an hereditary ailment. I have heard it was either too much of something in the system or lack of something. Hope you can enlighten me.

DEAR READER — The popular image of the person with gout is a middle-aged, overweight man sitting in his overstuffed chair with his painful foot on a soft pillow on a stool, while he is eating a leg of lamb with one hand and holding a glass of wine in the other hand. That is a concept of antiquity and deserves to be relegated to the archives of medical folklore.

Gout is caused by an excess production of uric acid. The uric acid is a byproduct of the cell regeneration that goes on constantly in your body. It is literally spun off from nucleic acids that are in the nucleus of the cells. This aberration in formation of excess uric acid does tend to occur in families. The women in the family tend to have high uric acid but less often get gout.

Interestingly, the gout and high uric acid levels are commmon in active, intelligent people. Its tendency to occur in such people led to it being called the king of diseases and the disease of kings.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-3, Gout, Uric Acid, which will give you a more complete resume of what the disease is and how it is treated. Others who want this information can send a long stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Before we had the effective medicines we have today the only thing the doctors could offer the gout patient was a diet and medcine to abort the acute attack. the diets were low purine diets — literally low in those foods with lots of muclei in them. This meant giving up the organ meats in particular and limiting the meats. However, even the strictest diet will only lower the uric acid level a little bit because the excess does not come from the food but from the excess production by the person's own body cells.

The newer medicines can block the production of excess uric acid by the body cells. That way the blood level or uric acid never gets elevated and the harm caused by the excess uric acid never occurs.

It is important for people with gout to be followed regularly. Most will have to take medicine for life to avoid gouty arthritis, acute attacks as your husband had and more serious problems. The medicines available today, through, make it possible for a person to lead a normal life otherwise.

Suicide uses two bullets

What kept this old boy from committing suicide was the knowledge that, if he were to do so, the insurance company wouldn't pay his wife's claim on his life policy. He thought about if for quite a spell, then came up with what he was certain would be a winner. He took the lead from a .32 calibre bullet and put it into the middle of the barrel of his loaded .38 revolver. Then he shot himself in the chest. The autopsy showed two bullets of different calibre and police noted one gun was missing. Murder, obviously. How did the detectives find out what really happened? They didn't. The insurance company was ready to pay, until the lawmen convicted the wife. The foregoing is her story.

Client asks if it were a common expression in Shakespeare's day, this "red tape." Could have been, don't know. It doesn't turn up in his writing. First record of it was in 1696, just 80 years after Shakespeare's death. Later, Washington Irving wrote it. So did Charles Dickens.

Opening lead — K ♠

Here is another hand from the ABTA quarterly. According to Betty Lind, her daughter sitting East opened with a psychic bid of one spade.

Betty bid two spades and West got into the act by trying four spades. For some reason or other North didn't double, but when Betty bid five hearts North raised her to six.

Betty ruffed the spade lead high and counted 11 easy tricks. She decided to try for the 12th by means of a trump coup.

At trick two Betty led a low trump to dummy's eight to guard against a 4-0 trump break which would spoil the potential dummy reversal. Once both opponents followed the rest was easy. She ruffed a second spade high, entered dummy with the king of clubs, ruffed a third spade high, entered dummy with the queen of diamonds, ruffed the last spade, led her last trump to overtake in dummy, discarded one club on dummy's last trump and was held to six when East kept a diamond stopper.

A nice hand but to forestall some of our scientific readers, we will mention that the hand can also be made by letting the defense hold one spade trick and developing a squeeze.

Ask the Jacobys

A Maine reader wants to know what a "Free" double means.

It is a term misapplied to a double of a game bid. The idea is that it doesn't cost you anything if your opponent makes his contract and this is entirely correct. Although it doesn't cost you as much as does an unsuccessful double of a part-score contract of two hearts or higher.

Oil nations' U.N. dues may be upped

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Experts have recommended an increase averaging more than 50 per cent in the United Nations dues paid by the oil-exporting countries that raised their prices more than two years ago.

The 13-member U.N. Committee on Contributions recommended that the 13 nations of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries together pay 2.01 per cent of the total assessed U.N. costs, which this year run to $332,587,378.

The 13 now pay only 1.28 per cent of the total U.N. budget, or about $4.25 million this year. If the budget is not increased, the OPEC nations would be assessed about $6.7 million in 1977.

The United States pays 25 per cent of the budget, or $83.2 million this year. This is the maximum for any country fixed by the 1972 General Assembly, and the committee recommended that it remain unchanged.

It recommended that the assessment of the three Soviet members — the Soviet Union, Byelorussia and the Ukraine — be reduced from 15.14 per cent to 13.33 per cent.

U.N. assessments are based on each country's ability to pay as determined by national income. The Committee on Contributions made public Tuesday a new scale of assessments for 1977-79 and said it tried to take into account the oil exporters' improved income since the current scale was set three years ago.

The new rates will take effect next Jan. 1 if approved by the General Assembly at its fall session.

Iran's dues, now 0.21 per cent, or about $698,000, would more than double to 0.43 per cent. Saudi Arabia's would quadruple from 0.06 per cent ($200,000 this year) to 0.24 per cent.

Dispatcher saves woman's life

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Eunice R. Rigg, 64, collapsed from internal bleeding shortly after picking up a phone and dialing the operator.

Wyandotte County sheriff's dispatcher, listening to the volume of sirens coming through the open phone line, was able to direct the ambulance to her apartment. The action probably saved the woman's life.

The operator had switched the call to the sheriff's office.

"The woman's voice was faint and unsteady, but I thought she said 6815 Parallel," said John G. Holt, 29, the dispatcher. He did not hear any more.

Holt sent an ambulance out Parallel Avenue and listened as the siren became louder and louder, then faded. Holt told rescue workers to turn the ambulance around and when the siren reached full pitch again, he told them to stop.

The only likely place nearby was an apartment house, so the ambulance crew, policemen and firemen started knocking on doors. Holt could hear them on the telephone. He suddenly heard seven or eight loud knocks.

"That's it, that's it," he shouted.

The apartment manager was standing by with a pass key. The ambulance crew found Mrs. Rigg on the floor, semiconscious and unable to talk.

Mrs. Riggs was hospitalized and was reported in fair condition today.

Canada buys 18 planes from Lockheed

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — The Canadian government signed a $1 billion contract today to buy 18 Orion patrol planes from Lockheed Aircraft Corp. It will be the largest single peacetime military purchase in Canadian history.

The contract results from a year of searching for a long-range patrol plane to replace the aging Argus planes that have been patrolling Canadian skies since the 1960s.

Lockheed, which will get $697 million of the $1 billion, says it is the largest international contract ever signed by the corporation. The rest of the contract price will go for ground support and training.

Robert Haack, Lockheed board chairman, said after the signing ceremony that the contract will augment the company's world prestige, show that Lockheed is a firm with technical competence, be a vote of confidence from a major world government and show that the company's reputation is not "completely tarnished."

Lockheed was chosen to supply the planes last November, despite its financial problems and the scandal stemming from millions of dollars in payoffs to promote plane sales in other countries. Haack was named chairman of Lockheed in February after the payoff scandals had broken and made it one of his first jobs to assure Canada of the firm's financial viability.

He said the Canadian military is satisfied that the Orion, with a custom antisubmarine electronics system, will do the job.

New York's tax base threatened

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York City's tax base is threatened by cuts in city services mandated under the austerity budget the city has drawn to meet federal aid requirements, according to a congressional report.

An analysis prepared for a subcommittee of the House Banking Committee says New York is meeting its immediate financial obligations, but that its future is in doubt because its tax base is being jeopardized.

Staff analyst Ruth M. Wallick assured the panel that for the short term "it appears that they (New York city officials) will have the cash to keep operating barring some unforseen occurrence."

She said state and city officials believe three years is too short a period in which to correct New York City's problems. However, "there was no consensus on how much time would do it," she said Tuesday.

After reviewing the city's performance since federal and state aid became available last fall to avert bankruptcy, the subcommittee staff said New York is meeting its responsibilities "under the tight rein of the Treasury Department.

"However, the question remains whether the city can become a viable fiscal entity when many of its essential services are being cut in such a short period of time.

"The required budget cuts, while reducing expenses, are also reducing many of the services which businesses require not only for the servicing of their corporate endeavors, but in their ability to employ and keep their labor supply."

It is imperative, it added, that while the city reduces its deficit it does not curtail essential services so as to eliminate the possibility of maintaining a decent quality of life for New Yorkers.

Citizens with dual nationality causing problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans with dual nationality lately have been giving the State Department a kingsize headache because they have been caught up in the turmoil in Lebanon and other Mediterranean troublespots.

"Our law governing rights of naturalized Americans is extremely complex," a State Department official said Tuesday. "Problems become more tangled still because each country decides who are its own citizens and who are not."

The U.S. government, according to the Immigration and Naturalization Service, does not acknowledge the right of naturalized citizens to possess dual nationality.

"When someone becomes a U.S. citizen he renounces all other nationalities," an INS official explained. "But we also take the view that, in general, such a person returning to the land of his origin may find himself innocently involved in difficult situations over which he has no control. He may, for instance, find himself drafted because authorities in the land of his birth still regard him as one of their own citizens."

This does not mean that the U.S. government would decline to help the person concerned. Laszlo Toth, for instance, is a Yugoslav-born American jailed in Yugoslavia a year ago on charges of spying. The U.S. government sought through diplomatic channels to win his release and announced Tuesday that Toth will be freed Friday.

But snarls have been piling up over an estimated 1,000 naturalized Americans of Lebanese extraction in Lebanon. Some find it hard to quit that torn land because of a variety of local pressures.

There is an uncounted number of American dual nationals and American-born citizens throughout the Mediterranean region — in Israel, in Greece, in Cyprus.

They sometimes seem to have defied, or ignored, or been compelled to overlook rules of conduct expected of them under the 1952 Immigration and Naturalization Act. Among these rules:

—Native-born and naturalized Americans must not by their own actions acquire the nationality of or swear allegiance to a foreign state;

—They cannot serve in the armed forces of a foreign power unless so authorized by the secretary of state or the defense secretary;

—They are barred from voting in foreign elections;

—And they are warned against committing any act of treason or force against the United States and against draftdodging by absenting themselves from American territory in times of war or emergency.

Any or all of these acts would be grounds under the law for the person to be stripped of his citizenship.

That, at least, was the position until 1966 when a Polishborn naturalized American citizen challenged then-secretary of State Dean Rusk. Administration officials identified the man only as Afroyim, who had voted in a 1951 Israeli election.

Because of this, the State Department sought to withhold his passport from him. In the Supreme Court hearing that followed, the judges ruled that grounds for stripping Afroyim of his citizenship did not apply because there was no evidence to show his intention to give up his American nationality.

Authors on blackjack challenged to game with stakes of $200,000

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Mathematics may meet the house in a not-so-simple blackjack game where the stakes are $200,000 and the international gaming prestige of five men.

All five have either written or contributed to books on how to play the elusive game. One of the five makes his living from the cards that fall around the magic number of "21" as well as from his writing.

"I haven't played "21" in Nevada since 1968," said Lawrence Revere, the Nevada blackjack king. "When I go into a casino, they know me. They meet me and say they're glad to see me, would I like to shoot some craps. Then they politely tell me they won't play blackjack with me."

So, he travels around the world playing the game outside the state where he lives.

Revere is one of four men who have verbally accepted a challenge from John Scarne, author, gambling consultant to hotel chains and the man who told Stars and Stripes readers in World War II how to keep from being cheated at gambling.

Scarne issued the challenge to Revere; Dr. Allan Wilson, a mathematician from La Jolla, Calif.; Dr. Edward O. Thorp, a mathematician from the University of California at Irvine and Julian Braun, a computer scientist from Chicago. That is the mathematics team, the systems team, the experts who believe it is possible to beat the house in a friendly game of "21".

Scarne has referred to all four as "windbags". He said last month in the fifth issue of the John Scarne Newsletter, a publication for gaming men in the know, that the four should prove their point for the system in a winner-take-all blackjack game.

Scarne believes that there is no system that works and no way in which to beat the house consistently. Revere, Wilson, Thorp and Braun disagree.

"The way I understand it," said Revere. "Is that Scarne puts up $100,000 and we put up $100,000. At the end of the playing time, those who are ahead take the $200,000."

Revere already has sent a notarized letter of acceptance to the challenge to John Luckman of the Gambler's Book Club here. He said that he had sent copies of that letter to Wilson, Thorp and Braun. He expected to have similar letters from them in Luckman's hands as soon as possible.

No exact date for the blackjack challenge game has been set. But it will be sometime in November at the Caribe Hilton in San Juan, P. R.

By the end of 56 hours of playing time—Luckman believes it will take about a week—the side that is ahead takes the $200,000.

What a contrast—Smith and Baker

Reggie Smith and Dusty Baker, who figured in one of the biggest plays of Wednesday's matinee at Dodger Stadium, are a contrast in performance at the plate.

Smith had four hits including two home runs, batted in two runs and scored three as the Dodgers edged the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-6 in 10 exciting innings.

Baker went hitless in five at-bats, struck out once, and failed in a sacrifice attempt with the winning run at second base in the tenth.

Smith's performance jumped his average 11 points from .230 to .241. Baker lost four points to .253. The muscular Smith has raised his average 23 points, cracked five home runs and batted in 17 runs in 26 games since joining the Dodgers. He has sparkled afield.

Baker, who has batted 54 times more than Smith (320 to 266) has only two home runs and 32 runs batted in for the season (83 games) with the Dodgers.

Baker made a game-saving catch in the ninth when he and Smith collided in right-center field with two out. The Cardinals had the go-ahead run at third base.

Former Dodger Joe Ferguson, who had tripled in the tying run in the seventh, slammed a shot that appeared headed for the gap in right center.

The 6-2, 190-pound Baker and the 6-0, 195-pound Smith got on a collision course as they raced for the ball. It appeared they both started to dive for it, tangled in mid air, then tumbled free.

Somehow Baker miraculously hung on to the baseball for the inning-ending out. Equally miraculously, neither appeared to be seriously hurt.

Down but not out

Baker, face down, held the ball up so the umpire could see it had been caught. Then he got quickly to his feet.

Smith was stretched out flat on his back, arms outstretched for nearly a minute. Then, slowly and laboriously, he got up and stood, head bowed, hands on knees for another minute or two.

"We hit pretty hard," Smith told writers after the game. "Both of us weigh nearly 200 pounds and maybe that's how we were able to come through it okay

"When we hit, it jammed my left shoulder against my head and I was stunned. I was afraid my shoulder was hurt again. But when I realized I was all right, I got up.

Baker complained of a headache, but seemed unhurt otherwise.

Both were obtained for the power and hitting. Both were said to be fine defensive players. Both got off to very slow starts this season.

But Smith seems to be everything he was supposed to be. Meanwhile the jury remains out on Baker. Dusty hit a home run his first time up this season then batted 298 times before he hit another.

And while the switch-hitting Smith looks like a fine defensive outfielder. Baker has displayed a strong but inaccurate arm and has shown an annoying habit to throw to the wrong base.

In the last 10 games, Smith has averaged a scorching .390 (16-for-41) while batting in 11 runs and scoring 10. But it was a hard pull before that.

Smith knew he'd hit

"I never gave up," he said quietly. "I knew I could hit well and now I'm doing it. As for the home runs, I have the power to hit them and when I hit the ball well, it goes."

"I studied the St. Louis pitchers while I played for them," he admitted. "There had been rumors I would be traded and I wanted to be able to hit well against their pitchers.

And so the Dodgers continue their pursuit of the powerful Cincinnati Reds. San Diego comes in for games tonight and tomorrow to close out the home stand.

If the Dodgers are to gain any ground on the Reds, three things must happen. (1) There has to be better run production, (2) Baker has to hit, and (3) Don Sutton and Burt Hooton have to pitch better than they have so far.

The Dodgers leave an awful lot of runners in scoring position, runners that reach second or third base with less than two out.

The total left on base Wednesday was 10. Tuesday night it was seven, Monday night nine. In the seven games played so far on this homestand, the Dodgers have left a total of 52 men on base!

Sutton walked seven in six innings Wednesday and gave up three earned runs. For the season he is lucky to be 10-8 because he has a 4.56 earned run average.

Hooton, after winning 18 and losing only seven with a 2.81 ERA with the Dodgers after being obtained from the Chicago Cubs last year, has been a major disappointment so far.

The husky Texan has a 6-10 record and a 4.00 ERA.

Nadia gets gold, turns 'human'

MONTREAL (AP) — She was the closest thing to perfection the Olympics have ever seen. She was cool and poised beyond her meager 14 years at a massive, jostling international news conference.

But Nadia Comaneci was just a little girl, subject to all the human faults, at the presentation ceremonies.

The gold medal as the Games' all-around gymnast was around her neck, some incredible marks were in the books and some vanquished Russians were at her sides when Nadia turned to watch the Romanian flag being raised.

Just as the first strains of the Romanian national anthem sounded—while a worldwide television audience of a billion people watched, while thousands of newsmen were proclaiming her the queen of the Games—Nadia turned human.

Just once, and just for a moment, this petite package of perfection turned human. At that poignant moment, one for which she had trained through most of her life, she screwed up her face in a grimace—a typical teenage effort to stifle an itching nose.

And America's all-conquering male swimmers turned human, too. But not much. They won all the medals they could in Wednesday's events—they still haven't been beaten—but, for the first time in the Games, they failed to break a world record.

Like Nadia's, it wasn't much of a lapse. It came in the men's 100-meter butterfly. To make up for the failure to break Mark Spitz' 4-year-old record, the Americans turned it into another 1-2-3 sweep, their third of the Games.

The sweep by Matt Vogel, Fort Wayne, Ind., Joe Bottom, Santa Clara, Calif., and Gary Hall, Fayetteville, N.C., along with a winning, world-record time of 7 minutes, 23.22 seconds in the men's 800 freestyle relay, pushed the male swimmers medal accumulation so far to all seven gold medals awarded, five silver and three bronze in four days.

In all, the American team now has 10 gold, eight silver and four bronze. East Germany is second with seven gold, five silver and four bronze while Russia, also the beneficiary of a women's swimming sweep, is third with six, six and one. No other nation has more than one gold medal.

In addition to the swimmers, the United States also got a gold and a silver from its shooting team. Included was the first Olympic medal ever acquired by a woman in that sport.

Margaret Murdock, 33, who's in nursing training at Topeka, Kan., took the silver in a controversy with officials. It may yet turn out to be a gold, or a piece of a gold.

U.S. team manager Joe Berry said he was asking officials to reconsider and award two golds. Miss Murdock was originally named the winner with 1,162 out of a possible 1,200 in the small bore rifle, three positions, with Army Capt. Larry Bassham, Bedford, Tex., one point behind.

After a 3½-hour check, officials discovered a clerical error had been made, giving the two Americans the same score. Under international rules, the last 10 shots from the kneeling position are used to break the tie. And the reluctant Bassham was named the winner.

"This is arbitrary rubbish about ties," Capt. Bassham said. "There should be two Olympic champions this time." At the least, he said, he plans to have Miss Murdock hold the gold medal jointly with him at the presentation ceremony today.

The Americans also survived another scare in basketball, saw one of their boxers move into prime position for a medal after a decisive victory over his chief opponent, a Russian, and had the first and second qualifiers, Capt. Phil Boggs of the U.S. Air Force Academy and Bob Cragg, Maple Glen, Pa., going into tonight's finals in the men's three-meter platform diving.

The basketball team, now 3-0 in the round-robin tournament, trailed tough Yugoslavia by four points at halftime and had all three centers in foul trouble before pulling out a 112-93 decision behind Scott May, with 26 points, and Adrian Dantley, with 27.

Russia also remained unbeaten with a 108-85 rout of Canada. The Americans automatically go to 4-0 tonight when they pick up a forfeit against Egypt, which has withdrawn its team from the Games.

Davey Armstrong, Puyallup, Wash., gave a classic performance of boxing and punching in a unanimous decision over Anatoly Volkov, the Russian who stopped him in two rounds in a bout in Moscow early this year.

The attention of the Games, however, was riveted on little Nadia and her flying exhibitions in the finals of the women's all-around gymnastics. And she didn't disappoint anyone—unless it was her Russian challengers, Nellie Kim and Ludmila Tourischev, for years the queen of the world's gymnasts. Miss Kim eventually finished second, Miss Tourischev third.

Nadia, cool and almost forbidding out of the gymnasium, scored her fourth and fifth perfect 10 scores, this time on the balance beam and uneven parallel bars. Before these Games, no score of 10 had been awarded in Olympic competition. She finished with a total score of 79.275 of a possible 80.

And the sober-faced little girl took it all in stride.

"I feel good, nothing special," she said through an interpreter. "I feel quite normal today, as on other days."

She plans a vacation on the Black Sea, swimming and riding her bike. And she's taking with her a huge doll given by her trainer "because I did so well."

Gary Hall, a medical student at Cincinnati, says he's taking a lifetime vacation from competition after his bronze medal finish in the 100 butterfly.

"I'm delighted with the sweep," he said, "and I'm not disappointed to finish third. But that's it. I won't compete again."

Vogel's winning time was 54.35.

The relay team of Mike Bruner, Stockton, Calif., Bruce Furniss, Santa Clara, Calif., John Naber, Menlo Park, Calif., and Jim Montgomery, Madison, Wis., chopped more than seven seconds off its own record. Russia was second and Great Britian third.

East Germany's domination of the women's swimming events ended when the Russians swept the 200 breaststroke.

Sizemore beats Cardinals

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ted Sizemore is a believer in pyramid power.

He has a pyramid hanging in his locker at Dodger Stadium and he reads constantly about the subject.

Still, he is kidded by his Los Angeles Dodger teammates, Or, at least, he used to be kidded.

Sizemore drove in the winning run in the 10th inning Wednesday, giving the Dodgers a 7-6 victory over St. Louis, and afterward said, "Now maybe some of these guys will believe me."

"Pyramid power" has to do with stored-up energy, something Sizemore has plenty of. He had not appeared since before the All-Star break and still he walked up to the plate, the 33rd player to get into the game, and promptly ended it with a base hit.

The victory was the Dodgers' 10th in 12 meetings with St. Louis and it was two former Cardinals, Sizemore and Reggie Smith, who gave their former team the most trouble.

Smith slugged two homers Wednesday and also singled twice. In five games against the his former teammates Smith has five homers, eight runs batted in and is hitting .476 (10-for-21), Sizemore is 10-for-20 against St. Louis.

"I'd be lying if I said it wasn't more satisfaction coming out of my slump against the Cardinals," Smith admitted, "But the main satisfaction is that we won the game."

It was a wild one, with the Cardinals jumping out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning against Don Sutton, then the Dodgers coming right back with three in the bottom of the first against John Denny, one of Dave Lopes' second homer in as many days.

But it was an error by Lopes that led to three St. Louis runs in the sixth inning that momentarily got the Cardinals even at 5-5.

Pinch hitter Lee Lacy doubled home a run in the Dodgers' half of the sixth for a 6-5 lead but Joe Ferguson's triple, that followed a walk to Ted Simmons, got St. Louis even again in the seventh.

It remained tied until the 10th when Simmons' throwing error enabled Bill Russell to reach second with nobody out. He eventually scored on Sizemore's pinch single.

The Dodgers came up with two game-saving plays, one by Ron Cey who made a diving stab of Lou Brock's liner in the eighth with a runner at second, and Dusty Baker's sprawling catch of Joe Ferguson's fly in the ninth with a runner at third. Baker and Smith plowed into one another trying for the catch but Baker came out of it with the ball — and a headache.

"I don't know if it's the best catch I've ever made," Baker said, "but it's the best I've made running into somebody."

DODGER DATA — Tonight will be Pomona Night. Nancy Wahl of Chino will be the honorary "batgirl." Members of the Pomona Junior Chamber of Commerce will throw out the first ball.

Rick Rhoden (9-0) will try to make it 10 in a row tonight. The San Diego Padres are in for the last two games of the homestand and will start Dan Spillner (2-9).

Ted Simmons, whose error set up the winning run Wed., was making his 1976 debut at third base. With former Dodger Joe Ferguson doing most of the catching for St. Louis, Simmons has been moved to the infield playing mostly first base.

The Dodgers wound up season play against the Cardinals with a 10-2 mark, their best against any club.

Sizemore has now hit in the last eight games in which he has appeared.

Stones doesn't like facilities

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Dwight Stones, the United States' outspoken high jumper, is particularly outspoken about what he calls the "unfinished" living quarters for athletes at the Olympic Games in Montreal.

"I think the situation stinks," Stones said Wednesday after returning to Long Beach State to await his event in Montreal Friday of next week.

"I think it's total rudeness to the athletes. I had a single in Munich and I thought it was bad, but I hadn't seen anything yet," he continued.

"I would have thought they would want to be proud of the facilities, do a good job."

Stones, the world record holder in the high jump and considered the United States' best bet for a gold medal in the field events in Montreal, said he roomed with 11 others and was usually last in line for the only bathroom in the Olympic village flat.

"It causes a problem too, because everybody keeps different hours," said Stones. "Some go to bed early, some come in late, and some don't come in at all."

He said, though, there was no problem between late and early risers in the morning.

"There's so little to do, everybody's sleeping really late. That's bad, because it has a tendency to make you sluggish."

Stones, who won a bronze medal in the Munich Olympics, said he plans to fly back to Montreal Monday. The high jump qualifying is scheduled Friday, and rules dictate that a competitor must be on hand 72 hours prior to the competition.

He said his decision to return to California met no opposition from Olympic officials.

"I talked about it, and some of the officials said okay. They told me I was lucky to have the money to do it. But it really didn't matter whether I could afford it or not, I was going to leave.

"I'm an extreme person. I react to things that aren't right violently, particularly when they have an effect on my event."

Stones said another U.S. high jumper, Bill Jankunis, also left the Olympic village, returning to New York to work out and wait.

"I think it will give me a huge advantage," Stones said of his return to Long Beach. "After one workout here, I feel 10 times better."

He said he was aware Montreal had problems with labor strikes while the Olympic facilities were being built, but added, "A little more planning and few less strikes and things could have been okay."

Cards drop Dennis Shaw

ST. LOUIS — Quarterback Dennis Shaw, former Mt. San Antonio College star, cleared waivers Wednesday and became a free agent after being reinstated by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Shaw, whose parents live in Claremont, was stunned when the Cardinals announced his "retirement" two weeks ago. He plans to continue playing and hopes to hook on with another club.

Shaw was a high school star at Pomona Catholic (now Damien) and finished his college career at San Diego State. He was Associated Press Rookie of the Year for Buffalo in 1970.

Romania's Nadia Comaneci waves to crowd Wednesday in Montreal after receiving gold medal in women's all-around gymnastics. Thus far, the 14-year-old has earned an unprecedented five perfect scores in competition.

Russia quits water polo

MONTREAL (AP) — The Soviet Union, defending Olympic champion in water polo, announced today it was pulling out of that competition. The president of the sport's governing body said the action was "unsportsmanlike" and recommended disciplinary measures.

The Russians, upset earlier in the week by Holland, forfeited their match scheduled for today against Cuba.

Waves hire Patti Meyers

MALIBU — Patti Meyers, a member of the talented Meyers basketball family, has been named head coach of the Pepperdine women's basketball team, it has been announced by Women's Athletic Director Laurie Billes.

Meyers replaces the departing Marcia Cantrell, who recently was named women's head coach at the University of Southern California.

Meyers, who has been somewhat overshadowed in basketball by brother Dave (Milwaukee Bucks) and sister Ann (UCLA), owns very impressive cage credentials in her own right.

Her college playing career began at Fullerton Junior College in 1965. She soon became the Most Valuable Player on a Fullerton JC team that captured three straight California state championships.

Patti then transferred to Cal State Fullerton, where she engineered another state title in 1969.

Harris wants job

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — James Harris' statistics include a 17-4 regular season record as the Los Angeles Rams quarterback, and a pass completion average of around 55 per cent for 3,692 yards and 25 touchdowns over the past two years.

Yet he's drawn more boos than any Rams player in memory.

And at Los Angeles' training camp here, Harris is fighting for his job, despite some assurance from Coach Chuck Knox that he's still the starting quarterback.

Had it not been for a shoulder injury he suffered late last season, things might be different for Harris.

He watched Ron Jaworski lead the Rams to victory in the final two games of the regular season, then was still sidelined when Jaworski guided Los Angeles to a playoff-opening triumph over St. Louis.

Harris started the next playoff game, but played only briefly and Jaworski finished up in the Rams' 37-7 loss to Dallas.

Harris, a normally quiet individual, is more silent than usual during training camp. He avoids questions about the competition with Jaworski — and newcomer Pat Haden — for the quarterback job, and answers hesitantly when questioned about the booing last season.

Asked about the boos, Harris, the only black starting quarterback in the league, lowered his eyes and said guardly, "I got bad vibes. I don't see any other quarterbacks with comparable statistics having the problems I have."

The reserved Harris appears conservative in contrast with the flamboyant, talkative Jaworski, but he said he doesn't believe that has anything to do with his "problem."

"There are plenty of other quarterbacks in the league who are quiet types and who aren't booed," he said. "Everyone has his own style."

Harris admitted the boos, particularly loud at the Los Angeles-Dallas playoff game, got to him a little.

"Since I've been with Los Angeles," he said, "I think I've played consistent football and have done the job I was expected to do. When the fans boo me, I think maybe they forget that. But I do my best not to let it get me down.

"It's not the first time. I've been through rough times before," said Harris, who started just three games in as many years with the Buffalo Bills before being released and picked up by the Rams in 1972.

Some of the Ram followers' disenchantment with Harris apparently stems from the fact that, despite fine records in the last two seasons, the team did not make it to the Super Bowl.

He said not making it to the Super Bowl last season was very disappointing, adding that it was nice to have another good shot at it this year.

"But," he said, "sooner or later your next years run out."

All-Stars play Steelers Friday

CHICAGO (AP) — Great running, a strong defensive but a questionable quarterbacking corps is what the College All-Stars will unveil Friday night when they meet the two-time Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers Friday night in Soldier Field.

The midsummer football classic in which the pros hold a 30-9-2 edge will be nationally televised (ABC, 6:30 p.m., PDT).

Down through the years the All-Stars have had the talents of such great name quarterbacks as Sammy Baugh, Cecil Isbell and Otto Graham and recent standouts like Roger Staubach, Steve Bartkowski and Bert Jones.

The No. 1 pro draft pick this year was Richard Todd of Alabama but Todd did not report to camp, leaving the quarterbacking duties to Mike Kruczek of Boston College, Craig Penrose of San Diego State and Jeb Blount of Tulsa.

One of them will get the starting job and all three might get to play because of their various abilities and Coach Ara Parseghian is hoping one of them will get the hot hand which will enable the All-Stars to end an 11-game losing streak to the pros.

The All-Stars have not won a game in the series since 1963 when they upset the late Vince Lombardi's Green Bay Packers 20-17.

"Each excels at a particular type of skill and each maybe has a little shortcoming," said Parseghian, "But there's no perfect football player.

"Significantly, all appear to have tremendous competitive instincts, which is a super asset. Kruczek probably is a little faster, but Penrose and Blount probably can throw the ball better. I think all three are excellent leaders in the huddle and they have the respect of their teammates," said Parseghian.

Kruczek set an all-time pass completion percentage record of .673, hitting on 225 of 337 attempts in three years at Boston College to erase the record of .631 held by Staubach, now one of the National Football League's top passers with Dallas.

Penrose led the nation in passing last season with 198 completions in 349 attempts for a .567 percentage. He threw for 15 touchdowns and 2,660 yards.

Blount completed 356 of 654 passes for 5,123 yards in his career at Tulsa. He threw for 13 touchdowns last season.

Although the Stars have a great array of running backs this time around, it will be impossible for them to even hope for a victory if they are unable to mount a passing attack.

Basketball merger looks good again

NEW YORK (AP) — Two more obstacles to the pro basketball merger of the National Basketball Association and four former American Basketball Association teams were eliminated when tentative settlements were reached Wednesday on problems involving the Oscar Robertson antitrust suit and the St. Louis-Utah franchise.

The NBA and its Players Association apparently removed one roadblock when they tentatively settled their differences in the Robertson suit during a meeting with U.S. Dist. Judge Robert Carter, who is in charge of overseeing the suit and the merger between the two leagues.

However, approval of the agreement is still required by the NBA Board of Governors, composed of the 18 NBA team owners. NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien said the Board would be notified of the agreement by telex Thursday. He expected results of the vote by Monday with a three-fourths majority, or 14 yes votes, needed for approval.

No details of the agreement were released, but O'Brien said "I have changed from pessimistic to reasonably optimistic" of approval. He added that the NBA's Advisory Board favored the agreement.

"If it is approved we would expect court approval of the Robertson settlement and the signing of documents with the ABA expansion teams to occur in a matter of days," O'Brien said.

On another front, ABA counsel Bob Carlson said the four ABA teams included in the merger agreement had settled their differences with the St. Louis-Utah franchise relating to the amount of money the franchise will receive for its players in a dispersal draft. Carlson said he expects final papers on the agreement will be signed shortly.

The St. Louis-Utah franchise, along with Kentucky, had not been included in the recent merger agreement and earlier this week tried to get a temporary restraining order to prevent a merger until it had worked out a financial settlement with the other ABA teams.

The NBA and its Players Association had reached a tentative settlement on the Robertson suit last February, but in the past few weeks the players had claimed the spirit of the agreement in respect to the contracts being offered top rookies was being violated by the NBA.

The players claimed they were being forced into unfair multi-year contracts. The owners were saying the agreement said nothing about the length of contracts, only that they offer rookies minimum salaries.

Earlier this week, both sides expressed doubt that the differences could be resolved, particularly before Judge Carter leaves on vacation July 30. In such a case, the Robertson class-action suit, which claims the NBA's common draft and option clause violate antitrust laws, might have been brought to trial in the fall.

Any trial no doubt would have shelved at least for the coming season the merger agreement reached in June.

Kicking around

With Adrian Mercado and Willie Keo

LAST FRIDAY NIGHT we traveled from the Pomona Valley to the San Fernando Valley to join the other 6,123 fans gathered together at Birmingham Stadium to see the match between the L.A. Skyhawks and the Sacramento Spirits. At game time the Skyhawks led the Western Division of the ASL while the Spirits brought up the rear. At games' end the Skyhawks walked away richer by seven points and the visitors had nothing to show for their efforts.

The "yellow birds" tallied for their only goal of the half at the 17th minute when Tony Whelan crossed the ball, from right to left, to Alty McKenzie who quickly put it in the net.

The Skyhawks outshot the Spirits thirteen to one by the time the whistle blew to close the first half, but by that time the contest had deteriorated into sloppy play which ultimately gave way to a fouling contest.

The second goal materialized when Tony Whelan dribbled down the left alley . . . the ball took a bad bounce skipping past fullback Robert Steinberg . . . Whelan recovered the ball and crossed it to Moshe Hoftman who in turn took a running shot that exploded into the net for the final score of the game.

You can see the Skyhawks at home again on Saturday, July 31, when they give the Spirits an opportunity to get even.

WITH SEVEN GAMES remaining in the season the L.A. Aztecs are hot . . . so hot in fact that they bombed the Boston Minutemen 8-0 last Sunday afternoon at El Camino College and have set their sights on first place in the NASL's Southern Division.

The stakes will be high at El Camino College this coming Sunday when the Aztecs host San Jose in a 2:30 kickoff. San Jose currently leads the division with 96 points with L.A. trailing behind by a single point.

Three of the top five scorers in the NASL, as well as the all-time leading scorer of the NASL, Ilija Mitic, will see action on Sunday. Paul Child stands third and Mark Liveric fifth on the scoring chart of the NASL.

George Best led the scoring in the last two victories over San Jose and against Boston and moved to within one point of Pele in the league scoring race.

Both San Jose and Los Angeles play just prior to Sunday's confrontation as the Earthquakes take their five-game winning streak to San Diego Friday nite, and the Aztecs travel to Vancouver seeking a fifth straight victory and their first victory ever in Canada.

Charlie Cooke, completely controlling the Aztecs' midfield, scored two goals and added three assists in the Boston Victory. American midfielder John Mason also tallied twice in the Boston win giving him five goals on the year. George Sorgic scored his first goal as an Aztec.

Goalie Bill Mishalow recorded his first shutout in winning his fourth game in as many starts. Mishalow, an American walk-on, showed no effects of the injury which forced him to leave the San Diego game.

THE OLYMPIC GAMES have taken an unusual turn as three of the soccer finalists have withdrawn from play. Ghana, Nigeria, and Zambia have forfeited all their games.

BRAZIL 0, EAST GERMANY 0: Both teams apparently were overcautious and obviously played for a draw. Neither team showed much interest in scoring with the only save of the first half occurring when Germany's goalie Croy stopped a shot taken by Chico Fraga.

In the second half the South Americans showed more enthusiasm in their offensive plays but made the error of playing the ball high making it easy for the German defense to head the ball away.

The 21,643 fans that saw the game whistled, and booed as both teams constantly played the ball back to their defensemen and finally to their goalie in what seemed a determined effort not to run any risks and play for the tie.

At the post game press conference Claudio Coutinho, the Brazilian coach, said "It turned out just like we wanted. We played to get a tie. In the second half we had to use our fullbacks as forwards because our forwards were being guarded extremely close. The final result was just great and we expect a victory against Spain."

BRAZIL 3, SPAIN 1: Brazil's plan of getting to the quarter-finals by tieing East Germany and defeating Spain obviously worked as the South Americans played a completely different game than against the Germans. Their mission was to score goals which they did and become one of the two teams from their Group A to go on to the next round. Now, East Germany and Spain must do battle today, Thursday, for the remaining slot in this group. Germany need only tie Spain to qualify. Zambia forfeited all games in this group.

FRANCE 4, MEXICO 1: France took the lead in Group B by soundly defeating Mexico in Lansdowne Park. The loss to the Mexicans may be explained by their very poor first half and the unquestionable superiority of the French team. The Mexican's midfield was unable to organize attacks and defensively allowed the French to control the midfield at will.

GUATEMALA 0, ISRAEL 0: From the opening whistle Israel went on the attack but their efforts were equaled by a very strong Guatemalan defense that effectively neutralized every thrust. In the second half, the Central Americans opened up a bit to counter attack but their efforts also produced no goals. The next contest will pit France against Guatemala and Israel against Mexico (the results will become available today). Should France qualify, Guatemala, Israel, and Mexico will have to scramble for the other coveted slot.

IRAN 1, CUBA 0: Iran surprised everyone by becoming the first team in Group C to qualify for the quarter finals. The Iranians earned the right to represent the Asia/Oceania Area by edging out Kuwait, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, and Bahrain, but everyone expected Poland to be the team to qualify first.

POLAND 0, CUBA 0: Uruguay withdrew from their earned slot in these Olympics because they felt their amateur team had no chance to win against the communist "pros" playing as amateurs; Poland's olympic team came out third in the 1974 World Cup competition. Argentina, Colombia, and Bolivia also passed up the offer to take Uruguay's slot. Cuba, who had been eliminated by Mexico and Guatemala, in the CONCACAF area grabbed at the offer and surprised everyone and even more the Poles by playing most of their team on defense to gain a scoreless tie. Today, Iran and Poland vie for the points. All Poland needs is a tie to move to the next round. Nigeria withdrew from this group forfeiting all their games.

RUSSIA 2, CANADA 1: With goals at the eighth and 11th minutes of play the Russians had the game in the bag and began to toy with the Canadiens who refused to roll over and play dead. The cat and mouse game, however, almost turned into Russian roulette for the Soviets when, with two minutes remaining to play, Jim Douglas put the ball in the net for the home team. The Canadiens with the crowd behind them poured it on and one minute later Russia's defenseman Stefan Resko saved his team from disaster when he cleared away a shot by Carl Rose right from the goal mouth. Russia thus qualified for the next round with the winners of the match between North Korea and Canada in a game played yesterday. Ghana withdrew from this group and forfeited all points.

STEVE NERKOWSKI

Chaffey honors go to swimmer

Steve Nerkowski, a record-breaking freshman swimmer from Fontana, has won Chaffey College's Harry D. Wiser trophy as Athlete of the Year for 1975-76.

Named as Outstanding Woman Athlete of the Year in the annual awards ceremonies was Upland's Connie Wilcox.

Nerkowski shattered a ten-year-old school record in the 200 yard breaststroke by nearly three seconds last season, notching a 2:19.3 clocking at the California State (Junior College) Championships in May. The previous mark of 2:22.0 had been established in 1966 by another Fontanan, Tom Smith.

At the same meet Nerkowski was joined by three other Chaffey swimmers to form a record-setting 400 medley relay team that cut four seconds off the old school mark with a time of 3:51.3.

Nerkowski's work last fall led the Panther water polo squad to a fourth-place finish in the conference, as he scored 45 goals and was tabbed as "Most Valuable Player" by the polo group.

According to CC swimming coach Randy Grimm, Steve "Has done more than his share to make aquatics at Chaffey College successful. It was Steve's skill and motivation that made him a unanimous choice for an All Mission Conference team position."

"Last year," added Grimm, "We talked about some end-of-the-season goals that he should shoot for, and he succeeded in realizing every one of them. And the best part of this whole thing is, that Steve will be back with us again next year."

Ms. Wilcox, an Upland High graduate, participated as an outstanding catcher and shortstop in the women's softball program for two seasons.

The physical education major was a guard on the Chaffey women's basketball team last fall, and distinguished herself academically as well as on the playing field.

Miller may not be hungry yet

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Johnny Miller, only two weeks away from his British Open championship, just might not be hungry enough to win his first Canadian Open.

But, perhaps for inspiration, he brought his British Open trophy for display at the Essex Golf and Country club while joining 149 other professional golfers for the 67th Canadian Open which began today.

The 72-hole, $200,000 tourney—which has drawn nearly all the game's top names—runs through Sunday at the par-70, 6,696-yard course located about 10 miles south of Detroit.

"Ideally, I win after a layoff," Miller said, after a practice round Wednesday. "...I'd like to break that pattern. Usually I have to go home and get hungry before I can win again."

Last week, following his British Open triumph, he tied for 17th in the $300,000 Westchester Classic at Harrison, N.Y.

Miller said the Essex course "is so perfect" that "you can play for fun."

"I could see myself shooting a very low round," he said. "But I can see having a mediocre driving round and getting a lot of bogies. It's not too short or easy. It's very representative of a championship course."

"There are not probably 10 courses in the world with greens this good," he added.

Miller said Essex is the best course he's ever played in the Canadian Open and the best this season "since Pebble Beach."

"This guy Ross must have been a genius. The greens are big like they should be on long holes and small like they should be on the shorter ones."

Skyhawks blank Utah

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Skyhawks shut out the Utah Golden Spikers 1-0 Wednesday night on a shot that bounced into the goal off of a Utah player.

Los Angeles got its only goal 40 minutes into the game when Jimmy Rolland took a pass from midfielder Ane Mihailovich. He shot from 15 yards out. The shot hit the cross bar, but it then hit a Utah player and bounced back into the goal.

The Skyhawks had to win to maintain their lead in the American Soccer League. More than 5,400 fans saw Skyhawk goalie Marine Cano record his second straight pro shutout in Birmingham Stadium.

Colt playoff ducats offered

'A's not same'—Hunter

By The Associated Press

The Oakland A's haven't been the same since Catfish Hunter left—and no one knows it better than Catfish Hunter.

"Oakland doesn't have the defense now," says the New York Yankee pitcher.

On Wednesday night, they didn't have the offense, either— losing a 10-1 decision to their former teammate.

"There are only four guys playing regularly on the A's now," said Hunter. "And there are only 10 players at the most who are still there that I played with in 1974."

Hunter, who came to the Yankees after escaping from Oakland through a legal loophole in his contract, has treated the onetime world champions with utter disdain since 1974. Hunter holds a 5-1 edge over the team he once led to three world titles.

It is only the shell of a team that was once the scourge of the American League, however. Hunter's departure triggered an exodus of good players including outfielder Reggie Jackson and pitcher Ken Holtzman.

Hunter, 12-8, scattered nine hits and got ample batting support from Thurman Munson. The Yankee catcher drove in five runs with a three-run homer and two singles.

Orioles 6, Rangers 4

Paul Blair, hitting only .206 at game time, socked a two-run homer off Joe Hoerner in the top of the 12th inning to lead Baltimore over Texas. Blair's blast, his second of the season, followed a walk to Bobby Grich and gave the victory to reliever Tippy Martinez, 3-0.

Reggie Jackson hit his 14th home run in the first off Texas starter Bert Blyleven and Ken Singleton added a two-run single in the seventh to account for Baltimore's other runs.

Twins 5, Red Sox 1

Bob Randall drove in two runs with a third-inning double to help Dave Goltz and Minnesota defeat Boston.

Goltz, 8-8, stopped a personal five-game losing streak as he pitched the first seven innings. Rick Wise, 7-8, started for the Red Sox, but was lifted after three innings.

White Sox 4-3, Tigers 1-0

Lamar Johnson drove in two runs and pitcher Chris Knapp won his first major league game with a four-hitter as Chicago beat Detroit in the first game of a doubleheader.

Bucky Dent drilled a two-run triple in the fourth inning and Bart Johnson scattered six hits to carry Chicago to a sweep in the second game.

Brewers 5, Royals 0

Von Joshua and Tim Johnson collected two hits apiece as Milwaukee beat Kansas City with the help of six errors by the Royals.

The victory went to Bill Travers, 11-7, who gave up four hits in 6 2-3 innings, walked six, threw two wild pitches and hit two batters. Al Fitzmorris, 11-6, who made one of the Royals' errors, was victimized by the faulty support.

Phillies 5, Padres 1

Jim Kaat won his 10th game with ninth-inning help from Gene Garber while Tommy Hutton hit a three-run homer, his first of the season. Kaat is baseball's winningest active pitcher with a 245-191 mark. Jay Johnstone led the Phils' 11-hit attack with a double and two singles.

Pirates 5-4, Astros 1-1

Spot starter Larry Demery allowed two hits after flirting with a no-hitter for 6 2-3 innings in the nightcap. In the opener, Jerry Reuss scattered nine hits and Bill Robinson socked a two-run homer. Pittsburgh's Frank Taveras stole three bases in the twin bill to take over the NL lead with 32.

Demery, making only his fourth start of the season, had a no-hitter until Jose Cruz singled with two out in the seventh.

Expos 4, Braves 3

Montreal erased a three-run deficit in the sixth on Jose Morales' two-run pinch single and a game-tying hit by pinch hitter Tim Foli. The Expos then pushed across the winner in the seventh on a walk, Mike Jorgensen's third hit, another walk and Larry Parrish's grounder. Reliever Dale Murray notched his first victory of the season after eight losses.

Giants 2, Cubs 1

The Cubs took a 1-0 lead in the top of the ninth on Joe Wallis' homer off John Montefusco, who hurled a three-hitter, but the Giants came back with two in the bottom of the ninth. Marty Perez and Gary Matthews opened the rally with singles and Bobby Murcer punched a bunt into left field for a run-scoring double. Chris Speier's sacrifice fly produced the winning run.

Reds 4, Mets 0

Fred Norman retired 21 of the first 22 batters and extended his career record at Riverfront Stadium to 30-7 with a four-hitter. The 32-year-old lefthander, senior member of the Reds' staff, allowed only a fourth-inning triple by John Milner until the eighth.

The Reds got the only run Norman needed against Jon Matlack in the fourth inning when Ken Griffey singled, stole second and scored on a single by Joe Morgan. Pete Rose delivered a sacrifice fly in the fifth and Morgan led off the sixth with a double, stole his third base of the game and scored on a wild pitch.

National wins Senior outing

By BRENT SHYER
PB Correspondent

Okay Pomona National fans, all in unison now, 1-2-3, "Thank you, Ted Greene!" At Ralph Welch Park Wednesday night it wasn't a question of who would win the game, but only how long it would take to complete the contest.

National finally finished the rout in 2½ hours by overwhelming Ted Greene, 18-7, in District 20 Senior Division tournament play.

With the win, National will now face Diamond Bar in tonight's 6:30 p.m. game. The winner of that contest will play Pomona American on Friday for the championship.

National was all but handed the game in a wild second inning when it scored five runs without the benefit of a hit, but had six walks.

Southpaw pitcher Robert Weinberger walked four straight men for one run. Wes Wisham picked up an RBI with a walk. After a pop out, a free pass to Don Millner brought in another tally. Tim Hiner came in to pitch for Ted Greene and gave up a base on balls to Rene Escobar.

An error on T.G.'s shortstop on a hit by Ken Meastas allowed two more runs to score. It took a double play on a double steal attempt to end the frame.

In the first inning, National scored three unearned runs, as Ted Greene was guilty of committing two errors, and seven total in the game.

National's starting pitcher Randy Copenhaver pitched three innings and did not give up a hit

Spikes sparks Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Suddenly Charlie Spikes and Rick Waits are beginning to look like the players the Cleveland Indians were counting on to help lead them out of the doldrums this year.

Spikes went three for three and drove in three runs and Waits yielded just seven hits Wednesday night in Cleveland's 6-2 victory over the California Angels.

"Charlie is swinging the bat better," said smiling Cleveland Manager Frank Robinson. "But he's still not the Charlie Spikes he used to be, although he is swinging the bat much better than early in the season."

The burly rightfielder singled with one out in the third—the first hit off California starter Nolan Ryan, 6-12—and went on to score Cleveland's first run.

He put the Indians ahead with a two-run, two-out single in the fourth and drove in yet another run with a single in Cleveland's two-run ninth.

Spikes, who now has 20 runs batted in, has gone 12 for 27 (.444) in the eight games since the All-Star break, raising his season average from .226 to .252.

Waits, 4-4, gave up both California runs in the third when the Angels came up with four consecutive singles. The first run was hotly disputed by the Indians, who felt the throw from leftfielder George Hendrick had arrived in plenty of time for catcher Alan Ashby to tag out the runner.

Ashby, enraged over the call by umpire Terry Cooney, was tossed from the game and replacement Ray Fosse wound up with two hits and an RBI.

"I thought the umpire missed the call," Waits said. "I know Alan tagged him, because the runner almost knocked the ball out of the mitt.

"Anyway, after Alan was thrown out, Fosse came in and said 'relax and throw it where I want it and we'll get a double play.' I did," Waits added, "and we got the double play."

Waits, who now has pitched two straight complete victories, didn't allow a hit after Tommy Davis singled with one out in the sixth.

"I had good velocity," Waits said. "I was throwing everything hard and things worked out—I gave the bullpen a little rest."

Angel Manager Dick Williams removed Ryan after the first inning, explaining the fireballing righthander was suffering from "a little muscle strain in his throwing arm. I don't think he'll have to miss a turn. It started to tighten up on him and that's why I took him out."

Ryan, who now has lost three straight decisions and five of his last six, gave up six hits and four runs in six innings, while striking out only three Cleveland batters.

Although Williams said he wasn't concerned about how Waits looked, he said, "He pitched well enough to win. He got some groundball doubleplays (three) when he had to. We had him on the ropes in that third inning and didn't get him."

The same teams meet here tonight, with Frank Tanana, 11-6, slated to go for California against Stan Thomas, 2-1. Thomas started for the first time this season on Sunday at Minnesota and beat the Twins

First golfer to tee off in the 1976 U.S. Open golf championship was amateur Ronald Milanovich of Pinecrest Country Club in Brookville, Pa. His starting time was 7 a.m. (EDT).

Marty Feldman

Never thought of himself as the 'leading man' type

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I never thought of myself as a leading man. When I went to the movies as a boy, I identified with Peter Lorre, not Humphrey Bogart. I saw myself as Harpo, not Groucho or Chico."

But now Marty Feldman, the British comic with the large, wandering eyes, finds himself the star of a $4-million movie for Universal Pictures, "The Last Remake of Beau Geste." He also cowrote the script (with C.J. Allen) and will direct it on locations in Ireland and Spain.

Feldman is the latest recruit in Hollywood's return to comedy. As he himself admits, he is an unlikely candidate for a leading man. But he will be up there on the screen as the identical twin (?) of the dashing Beau, played by Ronald Coleman and Gary Cooper in the 1926 and 1939 versions, and Michael York in 1976.

The rest of the cast: Ann-Margret as the twins' oversexed stepmother; James Earl Jones as Oxford-educated sheik who complains that war is dusty; Peter Ustinov as a cruel one-legged sergeant with a phony scar and a sword in his prosthesis; Henry Gibson as a foppish Foreign Legion general.

"The script is funny, but the actors will play it straight," explained Feldman. "That's the best way to go. If a script is bad, then the actors need to give it shtick. But it's much better to have them do crazy things just as though it were the most natural thing in the world. Gene Wilder knows how to do that better than anyone I know. He plays it straight down the middle."

That doesn't mean that the Feldman players might not improvise a comical turn here and there. As he explained: "I view a good script like a Duke Ellington arrangement. If one of the soloists wants to take off with an inspired riff, fine. But the arrangement itself is good enough to stand without it."

Feldman, 42, is a latecomer to acting, though not to comedy. Born in London's East End to Polish-Russian parents, he dropped out of school at 15, played jazz, wrote poetry, found his field as comedy writer in British television, notably for David Frost.

He was 32 when he started delivering his own comedy, scoring with his "Marty" series as well as "The Marty Feldman Comedy Machine." H wild style attracted the ar tic eye of Mel Brooks, who cast him as Igor in "Young Frankenstein" and Marty Eggs in "Silent Movie." For another Brooksian, Gene Wilder, Feldman played a Scotland Yard man in "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes' Smarter Brother."

If Feldman's comedy seems decidedly American, that's natural. As a youth he fell under the influence of such humorists as Thurber, Benchley, Perelman, Lardner, Donald Ogden Stewart and Frank Sullivan. He also became a student of American movie comics.

HARRY CHAPIN, singer and songwriter, will appear Saturday and Sunday at the Greek Theater at 8:30 p.m. Chapin, whose hit singles include "Cats in the Cradle," "Taxi" and "W-O-L-D," has just released his sixth album.

State 'spy club' attacked by ACLU

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union is accusing a state agency of coordinating a nationwide "spy club" that it says may be keeping secret dossiers on politicial activities.

The ACLU filed suit in Superior Court Tuesday seeking to force state Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger to disclose a detailed budget and some of the files of the Organized Crime and Criminal Intelligence Branch (OCCIB) of the state Department of Justice. A hearing was set for Aug. 16.

But the OCCIB's chief of field operations, Herb Hoover, defended the secrecy of some operations and denied keeping political files.

"We're in the criminal intelligence business, a highly sensitive business in which we don't deal with the public at all," Hoover said in an interview.

The director of the OCCIB is Charles Casey, Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s brother-in-law.

A lobbyist for the ACLU, Brent Barnhart, said the OCCIB's 1972 report, the last to be made public, mentioned the Students for a Democratic Society, the Brown Berets and Yippie leader Jerry Rubin as being in its files.

But Hoover, asked about them, said, "I wouldn't think any of them are still there."

He said files are kept on persons "only if they are involved in criminal activities."

The OCCIB has a budget of more than $2 million.

Hoover wouldn't say how many files are kept, but the last state budget said 4,200 names were added last year.

The OCCIB is also the national administrative headquarters for the Law Enforcement Intelligence Unit (LEIU), a private organization that maintains files for police departments.

Barnhart called the LEIU a "country club of spies" who engage in the "trading of gossip about people."

But Barnhart said he had no proof that the LEIU or OCCIB keep political files, although predecessor organizations to the LEIU kept files on political dissidents — and even the ACLU.

Hoover said the files also include persons who, in the judgement of the OCCIB's sources, "may be involved in a crime" without proof that they've committed one.

The ACLU based its suit on what it called its failure to get OCCIB to detail its activities at public legislative budget hearings. The only information provided legislators was at a closed-door briefing, the ACLU said.

Hoover said the briefings are secret "because we name names."

One official who has attended several briefings defended both the process and the agency. He is Kenneth Carter, an aide to Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post.

Carter said Post's office has full access to OCCIB's budget. "I'm in full accord with the need of the public to know, but there are certain kinds of investigations which need security.... I think they (OCCIB) are engaging in legitimate activity," he said.

Trish Van Devere: Fiji and Me—And George C. Makes 3

How Do You Rate In Accepting A Compliment?

People Quiz: The Unseen Ways People Judge You

"Today you missed the fruit bats! They reside deep in a now-dead volcano. At the rim sat my own dear "General Patton", somewhat precariously, with his camera."

Trish Van Devere: Fiji and Me (And George C. Makes Three)

You've seen the view at most beaches—people lying all over the place like broken potato chips. But when one-of-a-kind-actor George C. Scott and his wife, actress Trish Van Devere, decided to take a vacation, they opted for the real thing in a world filled with plastic paradises — the remote Fiji Islands. Trish insisted you come along. We just hope you're in shape for waking up with the shoreline roosters, jogging on the world's whitest sands and snorkeling deep in crystal-clear waters. Trish tells us George C. proved to be a real salty-dog at heart, and FAMILY WEEKLY thinks all our landlubber readers will discover a few secret yearnings of their own. This week's cover story is a breathless, real-life fairy tale written especially for you. We think it will make you want to rush to the sea like a lemming, and never come home.

Mondale to continue to speak out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic vice presidential nominee Walter Mondale says he'll continue to speak out against President Ford's pardon of Richard Nixon, even though both he and Jimmy Carter say they don't plan to make the pardon a campaign issue.

Carter said at a news conference Tuesday that he will not make the Nixon pardon an issue, although he said he personally believes the pardon was "improper and ill-advised."

Mondale said he will not use the pardon as a tactic, but "I plan to answer questions and speak out on it.

"This is not something new to me in this presidential campaign. "I've felt deeply about it from the start."

The Minnesotan said he will speak out on the Nixon pardon because he feels equality before the law "is one of the most fundamental principles of American life.

"It has to be restored, and we intend to restore it."

Mondale made the comment after being told of Carter's statement during a brief airport news conference Tuesday night.

He was arriving back in Washington after a long weekend of fishing and relaxing in northern Minnesota.

He said he will meet with Carter next Saturday and is scheduled to make some campaign appearances in the South, although he said that schedule is tentative.

Meanwhile, Mondale said, he will resume his duties in the Senate and will be on hand to vote on overriding President Ford's veto of a public works jobs bill.

Like Mondale, Carter said Tuesday that he would answer questions on the Nixon pardon if asked.

But Carter said the voters know the circumstance of the pardon and "they don't need to have it raised for political advantage by a candidate. I think they would resent it if it were."

Carter said he honors Ford's right to make the decision he did. But Carter said he would not have pardoned Nixon until after a trial where "all the facts relating to his crimes could be known."

Mondale said his concern was that Nixon was excused from responsibility, without any legal process, for his alleged role in "clearly the worst and most profound political and criminal scandal in American history.

"And it does create this notion which is so subversive to the trust and faith we need in American life, that if you're poor or friendless you pay the full price for violating the law but if you're rich and powerful you don't."

In Plains, Ga., Hamilton Jordan, Carter's campaign manager, said Tuesday that Mondale and Carter will merge their campaigns and that both will operate from Atlanta.

The integration of the staffs is designed to avoid "traditional frictions and problems between presidential and vice presidential candidates," Jordan said.

He told reporters that "we're glad that Sen. Mondale has agreed to run his campaign with ours in Atlanta."

Dick Moe, Mondale's administrative assistant, who met with Jordan and others in the Carter group, said the senator had been given the option to conduct a separate campaign but decided to work with the Carter organization.

"Ham (Jordan) and the rest of the staff have obviously been doing a lot of things right," Moe said. "We're very new at this. We're going to follow their leadership."

The terms "lynch law" and "lynching" were coined in the Revolutionary War as a result of the harsh punishment dealt to Tory "conspirators" in an extralegal court presided over by Charles Lynch, a Virginia justice of the peace. Actually, Lynch's court did not hand down sentences any more severe than whippings. The World Almanac notes that during the 19th century's period, "Lynch Law" came to mean capital punishment.

Immigration

Immigration to the U.S. soared after the Irish potato famine of 1845-1846 and the German revolution of 1848. In two decades, four million people came to this country.

Wild horses multiply, now face starvation

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — A law designed to protect wild horses has been so effective that the federal government is promoting an "Adopt-a-Horse" program to keep wild mustangs from starving.

Overpopulation of the horses is so severe that the Department of the Interior has begun buying television advertisements to encourage people to adopt one.

However, adopting a horse is not an ideal solution, either for the horses or the adoptive owners. A mustang's body chemistry is so delicate that it sometimes can't live when taken off the open range.

And federal officials say many adoptive owners find out the hard way just how wild a wild horse is.

"About 80-90 per cent of the horses are extremely wild, and as a result they are quite dangerous," said Milton Frei, range conservationist with the federal Bureau of Land Management in Denver.

"I've seen some that would almost eat you alive.

"Many people who don't realize how wild and extremely dangerous they are have a quick lesson when they put the horses in vehicles to haul them away."

The 1971 Wild Horse and Burro Act was designed to prevent the wild horses from being slaughtered and sold for dog food. There are about 50,000 wild horses and 10,000 wild burros in the American West protected under the law.

The adoption program was proposed as a means of reducing the wild horse population in range areas where there is insufficient food to support them.

The federal agencies are exploring other ways to control the population, but they say the lack of natural predators is one reason for the growth spurt in mustang herds. Frei said that only the mountain lion attacks the horses, but it's not believed to kill many.

Frei said some starvation among animal populations is normal in winter. More widespread horse deaths from hunger are "definitely a possibility," however, if better controls aren't found for mustang populations, he said.

Some conservationists say the horses will not continue to multiply at a high rate indefinitely. They prefer to let the animals control their populations through natural means, even starvation.

Joyce Brothers

Time for mourning

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My 80-year-old father died more than a year ago. He and my mother used to fight a good deal and were never what I'd have called the ideal couple. In spite of this, my wife and I expected my mother to grieve his death, but we didn't expect her to mourn and carry on this long. It's getting ridiculous and although she's perfectly healthy, she refused to do anything by herself. This gets complicated since both my wife and I work and don't have that much time to take her places or sit with her. — M.R.

Dear M.R.: Everyone needs a certain amount of time to grieve and to express feelings of sorrow to someone. If a person doesn't feel free to mourn, all the anguish and sorrow are turned inward and can be very destructive. Abnormal grieving over the death of a spouse, however, is often a sign of dependency. Many marriages are built more on the dependency needs of one or both partners than on love.

You can help your mother, and yourselves, by doing everything in your power to encourage her to become independent. Help her to find friends. Introduce her to the parents of some of your friends, or take her to a senior citizens center. If there is a problem of transportation, it might help if you'd give her a gift of money to be used only on taxis.

Loneliness is a major problem for older people. Most have to be helped to find and make new friends. One of the healthiest ways to overcome grief is to find others who have experienced a similar loss and who are able to share and compare the feelings of loneliness. Since your mother is in good physical health, you might also encourage her to attend some courses in adult education. This is a way to meet people and to develop new interests at the same time.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I've been living with a woman for a year and I had planned to marry her, but we recently found we have very different ideas about what we want for the future. I'm willing to go ahead with marriage anyway because I think she'll change, but she's backing out. I knew she wanted a career but I don't think this necessarily eliminates or stands in the way of marriage. I see success as meaning personal fulfillment but I think she equates it with money. — F.C.

Dear F.C.: I feel that couples don't have to agree on everything, or even on most things to be happy, but that it is important for them to have harmonious views on basic life philosophies. How one defines success seems to me to fall into this area.

If you feel success is doing your own thing and discovering who you are, and if she feels that success is doing primarily what society expects of you, that money and winning are a necessary part of success, then there are bound to be problems that could well destroy your marriage.

Attitudes regarding success have been changing over the past decade. While young men are often in rebellion against the sacrifices made by their fathers who searched for success in the business world, young women are often eager to enter into a world from which they've been excluded in the past. Women seem to want more autonomy and, in our society, money is often an essential ingredient for any kind of real freedom. Money still means power and can insure independence.

It would not be wise to marry with the expectation that she will change. Better think it over.

Occupational nurses

Roles have expanded

NEW YORK (AP) — The President of the United States announces a trip out of the country. Result: Ruby Gordon, staff nurse, CBS Broadcast Center, New York, can expect the network staff assigned to the official party to appear in her department for necessary immunizations.

Job performance of an employe of a Flint, Mich., automotive plant starts to deteriorate because of drinking. Result: he seeks help from the alcoholism program headed by Mary Abernathy, medical supervisor.

A piece of equipment falls and strikes a workman erecting an Egyptian column in New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art. Result: the workman consults Donna Goerg Hansen, charge nurse to both museum employes and museum visitors.

These incidents, according to Dorothy M. Saller, executive director of the American Association of Industrial Nurses (AAIN), are a small measure of the way occupational health nursing has expanded in scope since its early days when it focused primarily on emergency care for industrial workers.

"No other profession in the health care field has exapnded more dramatically than occupational health nursing," Miss Saller maintains. Currently, the more than 9,000 association members — all registered nurses — are employed in locations as diverse as banks and military bases, oil fields and government installations, construction sites and retail stores, hospitals and entertainment centers, as well as the traditional plant and office, she points out.

In their day-to-day guardianship of employe health and safety, occupational health nurses are dealing more and more with newer areas such as behavior attitudes, environment, rehabilitation, human relations, weight control, nutrition, vision and sexual mores.

Hypertension and smoking are among other contemporary concerns. For example, at Anaheim Convention Center and Stadium (home of the California Angels), Jessie W. Bonkosky, chief nurse, and her staff emphasize the importance of employes' having a blood check and not smoking.

Because hearing impairment has been found widespread, association members like Doris Jean Porter, staff nurse for Miami-based airline employes, consider audiometric testing an important part of their work.

For Mary Anne Ciavatta, staff nurse at Walt Disney World, Lake Buena Vista, Fla., helping employes stay in condition means services as specialized as toxicity testing for gardeners and periodic exams for skin divers. Many services are also provided in the main treatment area for guests — to prevent a minor illness or accident from marring a vacation.

Through their association, members are able to exchange information and keep up to date on latest developments in the health and medical fields to help them meet the varied demands of their multiple roles, Miss Saller points out.

The AAIN has members in all 50 of the United States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Australia, Canada, Nigeria, Singapore and the West Indies. A number of the members in foreign countries work for U.S.based companies.

Under the direction of Mrs. Robert Jensen of Diamond Bar, the camp presented an opportunity for young campers to be away from home in a small close-to-home setting.

First established by the council three years ago as a transition program before campers ventured off to a resident camp, the demand has grown so that five mini camps are planned this summer.

Junior-age campers this weekend will focus their program on the Indian lore badge while varied camp program will be offered for Brownies.

The camp is staffed by adult and program aides.

Sidewalk sale set by league

The Assistance League of Pomona Valley will sponsor its first summer sidewalk sale on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A wide variety of articles will be featured in the sale, including household goods and clothing.

Proceeds will benefit the philantropies of the league, which include the Learning Center Tutoring Program and the Neighborhood Senior Citizens Center.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

MARK FAILOR
APTOS, CA

A. A COELACANTH IS A LARGE, PRIMITIVE FISH. ONCE THOUGHT TO HAVE BECOME EXTINCT FOR MILLIONS OF YEARS, SEVERAL HAVE BEEN FOUND LIVING TODAY.

DICK ROSSO 7/22

A coelacanth (pronounced SEE luh kanth) is a large, rare fish from deep in the oceans around Africa.

What makes the coelacanth so unusual is that it is perhaps the world's most primitive bony fish. It was once thought to have been extinct. But in 1938, a living coelacanth was caught by a fisherman off the east coast of Africa.

Almost unchanged since its origin, this strange-looking fish was bright blue in color. It was five feet long and weighed 125 pounds. It had leglike fins, probably used for crawling about in the sea, and its head was covered with thick scales.

If the fisherman had found a living dinosaur, the world could not have attracted more attention in the scientific world.

Scientists knew the coelacanth only from fossils and had assumed that the prehistoric fish had died out 60 million years ago!

Since the discovery of a live coelacanth, several more of these "living fossils" have been found.
